GOP Conference Turns Into Rally For President Ford

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — The Midwest Republican Leadership Conference turned into a mammoth rally for President Ford on Friday with Vice President Nelson Rockefeller asserting that Ford is overtaking Ronald Reagan. The President was scheduled to put in a personal appearance today before 1,000 GOP faithful.

Rockefeller denounced Reagan's proposal to reduce federal aid to the states as "one of the seven wonders of the world." The vice president said Ford is "gaining and is going to carry the New Hampshire primary."

The only major representative of Reagan's camp, campaign manager John Sears, changed his plans and decided not to attend, leaving a lesser representative to appear on a panel discussing the presidential race.

Arrivals at the swanky Hyatt Regency Dearborn Hotel, scene of the meeting, were greeted with a blast of pro-Ford campaign enthusiasm.

Pretty girls in Ford skimmers distributed buttons, a three-piece combo bedecked in Ford array played upbeat tunes and the walls of the luxurious lobby were festooned with Ford banners and pictures.

Although Ford campaign manager Howard Calloway canceled plans to attend, reportedly to concentrate on the U.S. Supreme Court decision on the federal election laws, Ford's efforts were to be augmented at the conference by some of the highest luminaries in his administration.

They included James Lynn, director of the office of Management and Budget; Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz; Federal Energy Commission Administrator Frank Zarb; and Elliott Richardson, the versatile Republican who becomes commerce secretary on Monday.

Even National Party Chairman Mary Louise Smith struck a note in Ford's behalf despite her assertions that the national committee is neutral.

There was no immediate sign of any pro-Reagan campaign efforts.

"President Ford is the leader of our party and we're closely aligned with the fortunes of this administration," Mrs. Smith said at a Friday news conference.

Rockefeller said the public would turn to Ford as a candidate who has the political sense and experience to run the federal government.

"This position (of Reagan's) of returning to the states $90 billion in social programs is one of the seven wonders of the world," Rockefeller said. "I figure it would mean $6 billion in increased taxes to Michigan — or cutting all the social programs."

Rockefeller pointed out that

Cost Of Living Is Less In BH-SJ, Survey Says

The cost of living in the Twin Cities area during the fourth quarter of 1975 was below the average of 165 U.S. cities surveyed by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, according to Roger Curry, executive vice president of the Twin Cities Area Chamber, which took part in the survey.

Basing the average cost of living for the 165 cities at 100, the survey found the Twin Cities area to rank below the 100-point average at 95.9.

Of the 165 cities surveyed, Ft. Worth, Texas, ranked lowest in the cost of living at 84.9 and Aspen, Colorado, ranked highest with 136.9.

Cities surveyed in the midwest include Chicago, with 116.9; Detroit, 106.7; Ann Arbor, 110.1; Madison, Wis., 100.2; Traverse City, 103.8; Fort Wayne, Ind., 87.1; South Bend, 93.3; and LaSalle-Peru, Ill., 90.2.

The Inter-City Cost of Living survey, conducted quarterly by the American Chamber of Commerce Researchers Association, a branch of the U.S. Chamber, measures the cost of living differences among cities in five categories: housing, utilities, food, medical and miscellaneous costs.

The Twin Cities area was ranked above the survey average in food costs and below average in electric, housing and medical costs. Costs for miscellaneous items were listed as average.

Using selected items from a shopping list, the Twin Cities area food costs were listed at $21.73 while cities such as Detroit listed the costs at $19.44. The Twin Cities was the third highest of 11 midwestern cities in the cost of food, according to the survey.

The average cost of housing in the Twin Cities area was listed as $214 to $239 per month which fell into the lower-cost housing group. Higher costs were reported by Traverse City and Detroit with an average of $265 to $289, and by Ann Arbor and Chicago, with housing costs falling between $290 and $314.

Electric costs in the Twin Cities area were ranked in the lowest range of reporting cities along with Detroit, South Bend and Ft. Wayne. Chicago fell into the highest electric cost group.

In the area of medical costs, the Twin Cities area fell lower than the average of $78 per day for a cost of a hospital room with the price listed at $68.

The cost of a man's haircut in the Twin Cities was listed at $3 while the survey average was $3.50. The cost of repairing a color television set, however, was listed at $15.38 in the Twin Cities area, while the survey average was $14.

The Twin Cities area portion of the survey was conducted under the auspices of the local chamber's economic development department. Curry said chamber personnel canvassed the community to obtain at least three vendor prices for each category and computed the average local price for each item.

Computer Leads To Man's Arrest

A computer check after a traffic stop last night led to the arrest of a man believed wanted by Marion, Ind., police on an open charge of murder, Berrien sheriff's deputies reported.

Sheriff's Sgt. James Bale arrested a man identified as Paul M. Bonds, 19, Gary, Ind., after he stopped an auto on M-139 near Napier avenue for defective equipment about 11:30 p.m.

Out Of Hospital

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Henry Ford II was released Friday from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital following a 10-day stay for treatment of a heart condition.

A check with the national computer center that stores information on people sought by police in other states determined a Paul M. Bonds was named in a murder warrant held by Marion, Ind., police, deputies said.

Marion police said Bonds is wanted in connection with the shooting death of John Silverman, 72, owner of Mammoth grocery store in Marion.

Silverman was slain during an armed robbery of the store in late December, Marion police said.

Bonds has waived extradition proceedings, deputies said, and was scheduled to be transported to Marion today.

Judge's Gag Rule Slapped Down

NEW YORK (AP) — The language of the First Amendment "should be taken at face value and not be frittered away by exceptions," a state appeals court judge says in a decision striking down a gag rule ordered in a murder trial.

The comment by Justice J. Irwin Shapiro of the Appellate Division of the state Supreme Court was in a unanimous decision lifting a judge's rule forbidding publication of background information in the Brooklyn murder case.

The five-judge appeals panel said Friday the gag ruling was a violation of the constitutional right of freedom of the press.

The ruling was on a petition by the New York Times and the Daily News to lift the order imposed on reporters by state Supreme Court Justice John Starkey in the trial of Robert "Sonny" Carson and five others.

The court said the gag order in the Carson case violated dueprocess rights of the press, but noted that under certain circumstances such a constraint against the press could be imposed in a criminal trial.

The newspapers had argued that other means were available to Starkey to insure a fair trial for the defendants, including sequestering the jury and directing jurors not to read newspapers.

Starkey first issued the order orally Jan. 13, directing two reporters not to report on the criminal background of the defendants. He reiterated the order Jan. 15 and put it in writing five days later.

Justice James Hopkins wrote the majority opinion for the court and said in part:

"First Amendment rights may not be diluted except for a compelling state interest. Even so, the preservation of a fair trial is 'the most fundamental of all freedoms."

"In exercising the power of enforcement, the rights to a fair trial may require the issuance of an order, temporary in duration, forbidding the publication by the press of information prejudicial to a defendant of trial."

"... Precisely because 'a responsible press has always been regarded as the hand maiden of effective judicial administration, especially in the criminal field' and because the press is the instrument by which the public is informed of current events, only the most exigent circumstances warrant the issuance of an order curtailing the right of the press to publish."

The justice concluded: "In short, an order directing the press not to publish the information ought to be the last resort of the court."

BH School Officials Ask For Mediation

By JIM SHANAHAN
City Editor

The Benton Harbor School Administrators association has called for state mediation as a result of "an impasse" in contract negotiations with the board of education.

Rance Deckard, principal of Fairplain West and Northwest schools and chief negotiator for the administration, association, said the mediation request was mailed Thursday to the Michigan Employment Relations commission in Grand Rapids.

Six members of the administrators' negotiating team at a press conference Friday outlined what they said are five major issues that are unsettled since negotiations started in August.

Deckard said the association represents 56 principals, supervisors and coordinators. It was created as a bargaining unit as the result of an election last April, but is not affiliated with any state or national union.

Administrators formerly bargained informally with the board, but organized because an informal relationship could not be established for this contract year, Deckard said.

Administrators currently are working under terms of their 1974-75 contracts.

Deckard and other members of the team listed these issues as creating an impasse:

1. Salaries — administrators are asking what would amount to about a 5 per cent pay raise for the 1975-76 school year. It actually would be a 10 per cent raise on contracts dated Jan. 1, 1976, but half the year is past, making it 5 per cent for the full year.

Whirlpool Purchases Ball Edgewater Plant

The St. Joseph Division of Whirlpool Corporation has purchased the old Ball Edgewater plant, Division Manager August Brogno announced today.

Brogno said the division plans to demolish all the buildings of the Ball plant except for a machine shop which will be used for storage by the St. Joseph division and Laundry group.

The Ball property is on four acres adjacent to the division which will use the property for parking of semi-trailers. This will free parking space currently occupied by the trailers for division employee parking and relieve a problem.

Ball Corporation closed the Edgewater plant last year because it was obsolete. The original building was built more than 50 years ago for Industrial Rubber Goods. The Edgewater operations were transferred to Ball plants on Hilltop road, St. Joseph, and Chardon, Ohio.

Purchase price of the Ball Edgewater property was not disclosed. Demolition is expected to start late in March and will take about 90 days.

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

Deliver Us, O Lord And Governor Milliken, From Such Gifts

This being the season when it becomes necessary to cease cursing the Christmas bills and start sweating with income tax returns to Washington and Lansing, it is timely to look at a local situation which epitomizes the reason the tax statements are so high.

It is the bureaucrat beyond ballot box control playing do-gooder with the taxpayer's money.

In early December some gal from the Michigan Office of Management and Budget approached the Berrien County Social Services Department on putting up a migrant service center for transient agricultural workers in Berrien and Van Buren counties.

Her main argument for the installation was that the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) had $300,000 in its kitty waiting to be spent for such a project and if the center is not built then the money would be lost.

This does not mean the $300,000 would disappear; simply that unless HUD or any other agency spends everything allotted to it by Congress in a fiscal year, the appropriation lapses.

This is a sin of the first magnitude, far surpassing, in bureaucratic eyes, the 10 interdictions on human frailties which Moses brought down from Mt. Ararat. Showing unspent appropriations might give Congress or what few financially astute members it has the idea it is unduly liberal with public money. Worse yet it might stir some of them to question the value of an agency displaying a surplus.

The Social Services Department pointed out to the gal that it already has unspent programs for migrants, that the need for transient farm labor is diminishing, and that if some of the county's welfare clientele were so minded to stir their stumps in farm work, welfare costs and the unemployment ratio might go down.

Not daunted by the local experts, our Lansing gal went ahead with the public meetings which HUD regulations require whenever a money shoveling project arises.

The Berrien County Board of Commissioners sent some representatives to the meetings with notices it had unanimously expressed its disapproval of the center as a waste of money.

Subsequently the Van Buren Board adopted the same position in the same proportion.

Women for the Survival of Agriculture in Michigan who have a firsthand knowledge of what it takes to operate an farm appeared in opposition.

A scattering of local do-gooders showed up to lend moral support to the Lansing gal.

Armed with a minority report from the public meetings, she promptly put the machinery in gear for Management and Budget to file for the grant.

This week the Berrien and Van Buren delegates to the state legislature, Sen. Zollar and Reps. Gast, Kennedy and Mittan, wrote Gov. Milliken requesting that he scratch the application before it can reach Washington.

The only excuse for going ahead with something which is totally unnecessary is that the cost will be slapped against the federal budget and not loaded upon Michigan's wafer thin financial structure.

The Governor being the last line of defense to this ridiculous proposal and because the Almighty makes it a policy to eschew secular affairs, contrary to the caption on this comment, we can only direct the appeal to Milliken to display the common sense missing in our Lansing gal.

Soviet Naval Threat Grows Ever Greater

It is no secret that the Soviet navy has passed the naves of any other country, including the United States, in both numbers and capability. Warnings about the continued emphasis by the Soviets on an armada second to none have been heard for years.

Still, it is something of a shock to realize that the Soviets now have the capability of controlling all the world's sea lanes. That is the opinion of the editor of Jane's Fighting Ships, the British authority on world naval affairs which is known for a high degree of reliability.

Capt. John Moore, editor of the reference and former deputy chief of British Naval Intelligence, ranks the American sailor as far superior to the Russian in seamanship and naval skills. But the Soviet fleet, Moore says, has the greatest firepower ever assembled in one navy.

An important part of that firepower is based in long-range missile submarines, capable of hitting "pretty well the whole of North America, Europe and a pretty large chunk of China," Moore estimates. That is a fact worth keeping in mind when considering matters such as Angola and the heavy dependence by the United States and other industrial nations on the seafarers to bring in a large part of their petroleum needs.

College Future: Same Enrollment?

Stung in recent years by a dropoff in enrollment, colleges and universities are looking to the future with some trepidation. That there are more changes coming in enrollments and teaching programs they feel likely, but what form the changes will take is the question.

One of those changes already may be underway. After a five-year decline in graduate enrollment in the sciences and engineering, the National Science Foundation found enrollments up in these fields in 1975, for the second consecutive increase.

A Colorado firm specializing in higher education planning and budgeting is predicting that in 1990, the total number of students working toward a degree will be the same as today's enrollment. An expected 24 percent decline in freshmen entering four-year schools will be offset by a larger influx of women and part-time students in two-year colleges, this firm predicts.

SAYS RECALL FORCES HAVE SPECIAL INTERESTS

I have quietly sat back and watched the division of the community of Bangor caused by the recall action against five members of the board of education. It is a deplorable situation which has been highlighted by numerous charges against the board and school administrators. Many of the charges appear to be based on half-truths aimed at discrediting individuals.

It is time that some details surrounding the Bangor recall issue are brought out in the open — not to discredit those mentioned but to point out some possible motives for the way in which members of the Blue Ribbon Fact-Finding Committee and Recall Committee have conducted their campaign.

What is the primary interest of these committees? They all claim an interest in the education of the children, and yet they have put on the most senseless display of wild charges, half-truths and character attacks — we can only hope the children have not been learning from this example. Could there be monetary or political or retaliatory motives involved? The concept of a fact-finding committee was suggested by the Bangor Education Association (teachers' union). Is this part of a union-backed effort to bring about changes that could not be accomplished in any other manner?

Let's examine some of the people making charges against the Board:

Norman Johnson: Chairman of the BRFFC, teacher in the Bangor school system.

John Rathbun: Treasurer of Recall Committee, teacher in the Bangor school system.

Richard Freestone: active on Recall Committee, teacher in the Bangor school system.

Roy Willes: Chairman of Recall Committee, ex-teacher in the Bangor school system.

Paul French: Ex-chairman of the BRFFC, instigator of the Recall movement; not a teacher — not even a resident of the district.

There were other members on the BRFFC. Appointed to the original committee were a minister, the president of an internationally known manufacturing firm, and an ex-board member. These three, realizing that the committee was no longer performing the function for which it was created, emphatically disassociated themselves with the Committee.

In a January 6th advertisement in the Bangor Advance, the Recall Committee said, "Contrary to what you may have heard the recall is in fact based on solid political charges." I believe that is one of the most truthful statements to have been made to date by the Recall Committee.

If this action, which has been described as a union takeover of the Bangor School system, is successful in the Recall, it will be years before the school system will recover. I hope we will not have to witness the management of a school system by the teachers and the union.

Anti-Aerosol Bill Gets Nod In Legislature

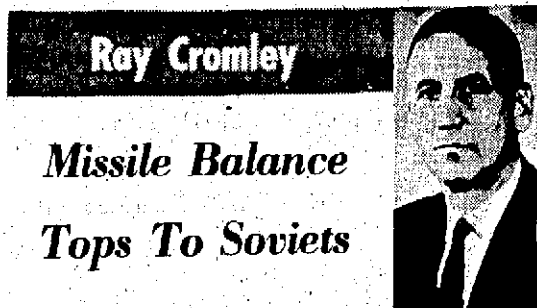

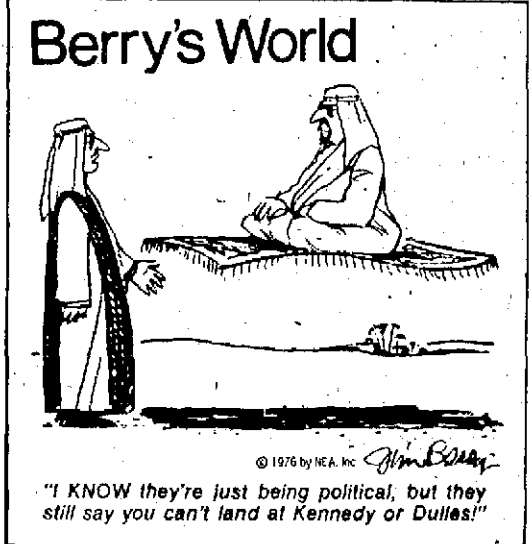

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Retail sale of aerosol products using fluorocarbons, which some scientists say destroy the earth's ozone layer, would be banned under legislation headed for the House floor.

The House Public Health Committee voted 7-3 this week to report Rep. Perry Bullard's measure out with the recommendation it be passed.

The bill would ban retail sales, effective Jan. 1, 1978, a year later than Bullard originally wanted.

Security Cost

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Police have estimated that the cost of security at the Republican National Convention here in August will be about $2.6 million. Police Chief Joseph D. McNamara said Friday that Congress and the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration will be asked to provide the funds.

Missile Balance Tops To Soviets

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The signs are now clear. Leonid Brezhnev and associates in the Kremlin believe time is on their side in the strategic missile race.

They're happy with the present treaty, expiring late next year, which gives the USSR virtually a free hand to develop and build strategic missiles to the limits of its scientific and economic ability. And binds the United States through unilateral "understandings" announced by Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, to very strict limits on what nuclear expansion this country can undertake.

With Soviet military strategic research, now roughly double that of the U.S., the Russians could overtake and surpass us in critical areas within the next two decades.

Kissinger's failure in his Moscow mission to break the impasse in the strategic arms limitation talks is rooted in two major U.S. mistakes these past several years.

First, there was President Nixon's deep emotional desire for achieving a strategic arms limitation treaty in his time. This resulted in his ordering Kissinger to get Soviet agreement at virtually any cost. Kissinger obeyed. And Brezhnev's men got what they wanted. Terms the U.S. could not openly agree to were left so vague they could be interpreted in any manner Moscow chose.

Second, in the past half dozen or so years, Congress has chopped heavily at research and development — frequently aided by administrations faced with Vietnam war costs, inflation and other financial problems. This, at a time the Russians were increasing strategic military research as rapidly as they could expand scientific and technical staffs and research and testing facilities.

The Soviet tactic in each negotiation is to bind this country's development in areas where we are ahead and running away, but to hold the doors open where Soviet scientists see clear signs they can catch up or surpass this country's efforts.

Take anti-ballistic missile development, where American researchers were moving ahead with remarkable speed and the Russians apparently bogged down in interminable problems. The Soviet negotiators succeeding in pushing through an agreement tying us to a partially-developed system both they and we know would be ineffective, worthwhile only as an intermediate experimental project, but worthless if confined to then-current technology.

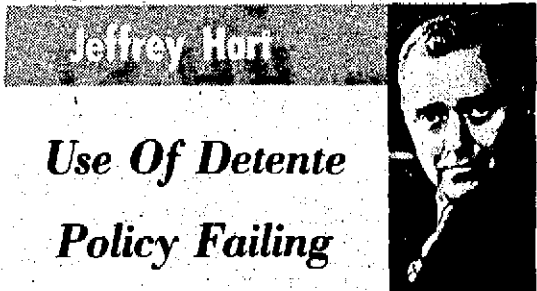

Take, too, the current attempt to halt U.S. development of intermediate and long-range cruise missiles. Here the Russians may be somewhat ahead. But American technology is improving so rapidly the Soviet advantage is bound to disappear in short order.

In this cruise business, there's a military pig in the poke. Short-range cruise missiles — with longer ranges barred — give the Soviet Union a major advantage. Longer-range cruise missiles would bring back a balance.

Because 40 per cent of major U.S. targets lie along our coasts, Soviet submarines with short-range cruise missiles could hide in the nearby seas and, in war, destroy a considerable chunk of our industry and populations. By contrast, the Soviet Union is effectively an inland country; less than 2 per cent of the key military targets would be within the range of U.S. submarines armed with short-range cruise missiles.

Though its anti-missile defenses are almost worthless, the Soviet Union has developed a highly sophisticated air defense system. It would be difficult indeed for U.S. bombers to penetrate targets in any numbers without the assistance of long-range cruise missiles fired from without Russia's borders. Short-range cruise missiles would be of little value.

By contrast, the continental U.S. has so little in the way of air defense, Soviet bombers could penetrate at will. Short-range cruise missiles are adequate.

Use Of Detente Policy Failing

That we no longer possess a coherent foreign policy has been amply demonstrated by the Ford Administration's contradictory responses to the Angolan situation. American foreign policy is conceptually bankrupt.

As originally formulated, the idea of "detente" had a number of features, but absolutely central was the concept of "linkage." Secretary of State Henry Kissinger claimed to view all aspects of U.S.-Soviet relations as interconnected. Thus, a Soviet power play in Angola or elsewhere might not be met with military force, but it would cost the Soviets commensurately in terms of credits, or grain, or technology, and presumably other weapons, diplomatic and economic, could be brought to bear.

All of this now looks like a gossamer fantasy. Linkage was not applied to the Soviet-backed conquest of South Vietnam, nor to the attempted pro-Soviet coup in Portugal. It has not been applied to Angola, and indeed the Ford Administration has explicitly disavowed it as a weapon.

To be sure, in his talk to the American Farm Bureau Federation in St. Louis, the President warned that continued Soviet intervention in Angola will harm Moscow's "broader relations" with the United States. But the President removed all substance from the threat when he added immediately that American grain sales to the Russians would be in no way affected. He explained that the Russians "desire" but do not "need" our grain.

It might be replied that the Soviets "desire" but do not "need" strategic control of Angola, and that on present form both of their desires are to be fulfilled.

The architect of "detente" and the tactician of "linkage," Mr. Kissinger himself, exhibits a similar disarray. Last month when the Senate voted to cut off funds for aid to UNITA and the Angolan National Liberation Front, the President denounced the vote and added that the $100 million given by the Soviets to the MPLA dimmed the prospects for detente.

Secretary Kissinger added that the Soviet power play could lead to an increase in international tensions. Kissinger was saying that Angola was linked to progress on the second phase of the SALT talks. It was understood that Kissinger's current trip to Moscow to discuss strategic arms agreements could be jeopardized if Soviet (and Cuban) behavior in Angola continued to be outrageous.

Yet on the same day President Ford was disavowing the grain weapon in St. Louis, Kissinger met with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin and announced after the meeting that there was "nothing conclusive" to indicate that the Soviets would agree to a withdrawal of all foreign elements from Angola — but that his Moscow trip was definitely still on.

As originally formulated by Richard Nixon and Kissinger, the idea of detente was open to criticism on both political and psychological grounds, but it did have intellectual coherence and some plausibility.

As detente is now being pursued, however, the vital elements of leverage, tough competition, and helping those who help themselves have all dropped out of the equation. That is why Ford and Kissinger received blunt lectures on the hollowness of detente on their recent visit to Peking.

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

Deliver Us, O Lord And Governor Milliken, From Such Gifts

This being the season when it becomes necessary to cease cursing the Christmas bills and start sweating with income tax returns to Washington and Lansing, it is timely to look at a local situation which epitomizes the reason the tax statements are so high.

It is the bureaucrat beyond ballot box control playing do-gooder with the taxpayer's money.

In early December some gal from the Michigan Office of Management and Budget approached the Berrien County Social Services Department on putting up a migrant service center for transient agricultural workers in Berrien and Van Buren counties.

Her main argument for the installation was that the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) had $300,000 in its kitty waiting to be spent for such a project and if the center is not built then the money would be lost.

This does not mean the $300,000 would disappear; simply that unless HUD or any other agency spends everything allotted to it by Congress in a fiscal year, the appropriation lapses.

This is a sin of the first magnitude, far surpassing, in bureaucratic eyes, the 10 interdictions on human frailties which Moses brought down from Mt. Ararat. Showing unspent appropriations might give Congress or what few financially astute members it has the idea it is unduly liberal with public money. Worse yet it might stir some of them to question the value of an agency displaying a surplus.

The Social Services Department pointed out to the gal that it already has umpteen programs for migrants, that the need for transient farm labor is diminishing, and that if some of the county's welfare clientele were so minded to stir their stumps in farm work, welfare costs and the unemployment ratio might go down.

Not daunted by the local experts, our Lansing gal went ahead with the public meetings which HUD regulations require whenever a money shoveling project arises.

The Berrien County Board of Commissioners sent some representatives to the meetings with notices it had unanimously expressed its disapproval of the center as a waste of money.

Subsequently the Van Buren Board adopted the same position in the same proportion.

Women for the Survival of Agriculture in Michigan who have a firsthand knowledge of what it takes to operate an farm appeared in opposition.

A scattering of local do-gooders showed up to lend moral support to the Lansing gal.

Armed with a minority report from the public meetings, she promptly put the machinery in gear for Management and Budget to file for the grant.

This week the Berrien and Van Buren delegates to the state legislature, Sen. Zollar and Reps. Gast, Kennedy and Mittan, wrote Gov. Milliken requesting that he scratch the application before it can reach Washington.

The only excuse for going ahead with something which is totally unnecessary is that the cost will be slapped against the federal budget and not loaded upon Michigan's wafer thin financial structure.

The Governor being the last line of defense to this ridiculous proposal and because the Almighty makes it a policy to eschew secular affairs, contrary to the caption on this comment, we can only direct the appeal to Milliken to display the common sense missing in our Lansing gal.

BANGOR VOTING MONDAY ON RECALL

Five School Board Members' Posts Hang In Balance

BANGOR — One of the bitterest controversies in Bangor School's history comes to a head with the Monday, Feb. 2, recall election of five of seven school board members.

Targets of the recall are School Board President Donald Piper and four other board members, Dr. Joseph Cooper, Forrest Gough, Richard Krogel and Fred Waite. Between them, they have nearly 40 years school board experience.

Board Members Peggy Phillips and Otto Watkins Jr. were not named on recall petitions because both were members of a fact finding committee that studied school curriculum and financial problems.

The committee in September made five recommendations that recall supporters claim the five board members have not fully supported.

The controversy has produced recall committee charges of administrative ineptness and self-dealing, nepotism and reductions of educational programs to force voter approval of added property taxes for school operations.

School board members have admitted they may have been guilty of "human failings and shortcomings," but have denied any intentional wrongdoing.

There have been organized committees both for and against the recall.

Bangor businessman Glen Wokeck, a member of Citizens Opposing the Recall Effort, and a former board member, said he and the great majority of Bangor residents have personal faith in the school board members.

"I would trust any of them with my personal finances," he said of Supt. Howard Beyer and the five board members.

Specifically, the five board members are being accused of failing to fully support five recommendations submitted to the board in September by a Blue Ribbon Fact Finding committee.

One of the recommendations was that the board ask for the resignation of Supt. Howard Beyer whose school employment of immediate family members has fueled community debate.

Other recommendations, following on the heels of three successive defeats of operating tax levy proposals and subsequent program cuts at the school, were:

— That the board restore programs with no millage increase by adopting the Blue Ribbon budget.

— That the board review personnel hiring policies as related to the families of board members and administrators.

— That the board locally advertise all school related job openings for 15 days prior to hiring.

— And that the board reorganize the superintendent's job and add a business manager.

The board has agreed to locally advertise school job openings.

As to the other four recommendations, the board members' statement in their defense will appear on the recall ballot. The board members maintain that:

— All programs could not be restored because it was wrongful and unlawful to mix special funds as proposed.

— Steps are being taken to guard against nepotism in the future.

— The school district cannot afford a business manager at this time.

— Asking for the superintendent's resignation would not be of any benefit to the district at this time.

Aside from the Blue Ribbon recommendations, the board and Beyer were also targets of a list of 17 allegations made public by a rural Bangor man, Paul French, in late October.

French, 48, a member of the recall committee and a certified public accountant, accused Beyer of hiring immediate family members for more than they should have been paid.

French also accused the board members of buying for personal use items from federal surplus pools that are normally reserved for governmental or school agencies; of purchasing

Recalls Are Fact Of Life

BANGOR — The recall election has become a political fact of life in southwestern Michigan in the past year.

Besides the upcoming Monday recall election on five of seven Bangor school board members, there have been at least four other recall election or petition drives in Van Buren or Allegan counties in a year's time.

A sixth has been promised in Berrien county's Benton Harbor where the mayor and four city commissioners have been selected as recall petition drive targets.

The other recall elections or drives in the last year were: In June, 1975, the Lee township (Allegan county) supervisor survived a recall election and was retained in office.

In July, the South Haven township (Van Buren county) supervisor and a township trustee were recalled from office.

This last fall, a petition drive to set up an election to recall Allegan county Sheriff Robert Whitcomb failed for lack of enough signatures.

In Allegan county's Clyde township, a March 8 recall election is scheduled with the Clyde township supervisor the recall target.

The exact amount of millage to be requested has not been set yet by the board, according to Paul Montgomery, school business manager. The district currently operates on 25.376

Charter Provision Illegal?

City Atty. Yvonne Hughes has advised the Benton Harbor city commission that a charter provision requiring a three-fifths vote for a franchise may be illegal.

Atty. Hughes said the three-fifths requirement in the city charter represents government by minority. A majority of the people voting in the Jan. 19 city election on a cable TV franchise favored it, but the "yes" votes were six-tenths of a vote short of three-fifths of those voting.

Atty. Hughes told the commission she will research various rulings on the matter and also asked the commission to get an attorney general's opinion.

Meanwhile, Samuel Hayes a member of the city board of canvassers said a headline in The Herald-Palladium Jan. 23 was in error. The headline said "BH Canvassers Declare Cable TV Loser by .6 Vote." Hayes said minutes of the board of canvassers meeting show that the board confirmed the results as 155 "yes" votes and 91 "no" votes.

The Herald-Palladium obtained a copy of the minutes and there is no mention of the issue winning or losing. Board Chairman Almon Tabor, who announced the canvass results on Jan. 22 and declared the issue had lost, said yesterday he understood the minutes were to state that the board found the proposition had lost.

County Clerk Forrest Kesterke said said state election law requires a board of canvassers to certify election within 14 days. Certify means to declare a winner and loser.

VAN BUREN PUTS MORE BEHIND BARS

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — A larger percentage of people sentenced in Van Buren circuit court during 1975 received jail or prison terms than the previous year, according to a report released by court probation officers John O'Leary and William Cunningham.

According to their annual report, 58 per cent (82 people) sentenced for felonies in the county in 1975 either went to prison or jail, compared with 42 per cent (77 people) in 1974.

The 58 per cent figure does not include an additional nine per cent (12 people) who received jail terms as part of their probation in 1975.

The number of people placed on probation, 33 per cent or 37 people, was also the lowest since complete figures have been kept. The record was begun in 1961.

O'Leary said any number of factors might account for the change, but that he was unable to come up with a specific reason. He did note, however, that the 58 per cent incarceration rate was comparable to some past years.

Over the past five years, the number of people receiving prison or jail terms has gone from 59 per cent in 1970, to 61 per cent in 1971, 46 per cent in 1972, 55 per cent in 1973, and 42 per cent in 1974.

Broken down, the figures for 1975 were: probation, 26 per cent or 37 people; prison, 37 per cent or 52 people; jail, 21 per cent or 30 people; probation and jail, 9 per cent or 12 people; fine and costs, 3 per cent or 5 people; and cases still pending, 4 per cent or 6 people.

The total number of presentence investigations handled by the two probation officers dropped to 142 from 185 the previous year, which had been the largest ever ordered.

The most common crime continued to be, as has been the case in the past, larceny in a building, with 27 cases. O'Leary noted that breaking and entering complaints probably accounted for more arrests, but that during the plea-bargaining process they are often reduced to larceny in a building, which carries a lighter penalty.

On a per case handled basis, the other most common crimes were: breaking and entering, 11; attempted larceny in a building, 8; and attempted breaking and entering, carrying a concealed weapon, auto theft, and driving under the influence of intoxicants, third offense, all with 6.

Total payments to the county clerk by probationers for fines, court costs and restitution totaled $12,062, compared to $11,262 in 1974.

BANGOR VOTING MONDAY ON RECALL

Five School Board Members' Posts Hang In Balance

BANGOR — One of the bitterest controversies in Bangor School's history comes to a head with the Monday, Feb. 2, recall election of five of seven school board members.

Targets of the recall are School Board President Donald Piper and four other board members, Dr. Joseph Cooper, Forrest Gough, Richard Kroegel and Fred Waite. Between them, they have nearly 40 years school board experience.

Board Members Peggy Phillips and Otto Watkins Jr. were not named on recall petitions because both were members of a fact finding committee that studied school curriculum and financial problems.

The committee in September made five recommendations that recall supporters claim the five board members have not fully supported.

The controversy has produced recall committee charges of administrative ineptness and self-dealing, nepotism and reductions of educational programs to force voter approval of added property taxes for school operations.

School board members have admitted they may have been guilty of "human failings and shortcomings," but have denied any intentional wrongdoing.

There have been organized committees both for and against the recall.

Bangor businessman Glen Wokeck, a member of Citizens Opposing the Recall Effort, and a former board member, said he and the great majority of Bangor residents have personal faith in the school board members.

"I would trust any of them with my personal finances," he said of Supt. Howard Beyer and the five board members.

Specifically, the five board members are being accused of failing to fully support five recommendations submitted to the board in September by a Blue Ribbon Fact Finding committee.

One of the recommendations was that the board ask for the resignation of Supt. Howard Beyer whose school employment of immediate family members has fueled community debate.

Other recommendations, following on the heels of three successive defeats of operating tax levy proposals and subsequent program cuts at the school, were:

— That the board restore programs with no millage increase by adopting the Blue Ribbon budget.

— That the board review personnel hiring policies as related to the families of board members and administrators.

— That the board locally advertise all school related job openings for 15 days prior to hiring.

— And that the board reorganize the superintendent's job and add a business manager.

The board has agreed to locally advertise school job openings.

As to the other four recommendations, the board members' statement in their defense will appear on the recall ballot. The board members maintain that:

— All programs could not be restored because it was wrong and unlawful to mix special funds as proposed.

— Steps are being taken to guard against nepotism in the future.

— The school district cannot afford a business manager at this time.

— Asking for the superintendent's resignation would not be of any benefit to the district at this time.

Aside from the Blue Ribbon recommendations, the board and Beyer were also targets of a list of 17 allegations made public by a rural Bangor man, Paul French, in late October.

French, 49, a member of the recall committee and a certified public accountant, accused Beyer of hiring immediate family members for more than they should have been paid.

French also accused the board members of buying for personal use items from federal surplus pools that are normally reserved for governmental or school agencies; of purchasing

Recalls Are Fact Of Life

BANGOR — The recall election has become a political fact of life in southwestern Michigan in the past year.

Besides the upcoming Monday recall election on five of seven Bangor school board members, there have been at least four other recall election or petition drives in Van Buren or Allegan counties in a year's time.

A sixth has been promised in Berrien county's Benton Harbor where the mayor and four city commissioners have been selected as recall petition drive targets.

The other recall elections or drives in the last year were:

In June, 1975, the Lee township (Allegan county) supervisor survived a recall election and was retained in office.

In July, the South Haven township (Van Buren county) supervisor and a township trustee were recalled from office.

This last fall, a petition drive to set up an election to recall Allegan county Sheriff Robert Whitcomb failed for lack of enough signatures.

In Allegan county's Clyde township, a March 8 recall election is scheduled with the Clyde township supervisor the recall target.

Commend School Of The Arts

Community Members Hear Praise For Project

IMPACT OF SCHOOL: Community members heard of the accomplishments of the Cathedral School of the Arts at a meeting held Jan. 29 at First Congregational church, Benton Harbor, where the school is housed. Mrs. Frank Stoffle, center, a member of the school's board of director, and mother of two students in the school, discusses the school with Rosemary Twomey, left, of Detroit, program coordinator for the Michigan Council for the Arts, and Henry Bridges, founder and executive director of the Community School of the Arts in Charlotte, N.C., which served as a model for the Benton Harbor school. (Pete Mitchell photo)

The Cathedral School of the Arts in Benton Harbor was given praise for its accomplishments and advice for its future Thursday evening.

Speakers for the dinner-meeting of community members held at First Congregational church, Benton Harbor, where the school is also housed, were Henry Bridges, founder and executive director of the Community School of the Arts in Charlotte, N.C., and Rosemary Twomey of Detroit, program coordinator for the Michigan Council for the Arts.

Both speakers had in the afternoon examined and visited the Cathedral school which began operations in September of 1974 with 20 students.

According to Philip T. Jenkins, director of the Cathedral school, the purpose of the project is to "add the human and spiritual training to young children who now are eager to risk and take a chance, ready to sing and play and dance. We want to give them each day a spark of hope and joy and greet them with a special gift of love — those who might be otherwise drained by the harsh stresses of their everyday environment."

The school offers intense musical training to children with — no previous musical background.

This year the school has 34 students who come each day to the church from diverse backgrounds.

Bridges commended the high quality of the education being given the Benton Harbor students and also the response of the children to the training.

He said, "the school is a wonderful thing and I hope it grows and grows."

Bridges' school has grown from 20 students in 1969 to 600 students this year.

The Community School of the Arts in Charlotte is housed in the First Presbyterian church. Bridges said the church is located in the center of an urban community in a city of 300,000 people.

The church is surrounded by vacant stores and low income inner city housing developments. The population of the surrounding area is 100 per cent black.

Members of the church in Charlotte were faced with the decision to move or stay and voted to stay where they were feeling a need for the church in the center of the city.

In 1968, the church population was 100 per cent white.

Bridges said the arts were needed in the lives of low income families and the school was established in 1969. Half of the budget was provided by the church and half by the Presbyterian denomination.

One of the first results was an integrated children's choir.

Bridges said it was always the responsibility of the children's choir to provide the music for the annual Christmas family dinner.

It was feared there would be rudeness on the part of some members of the congregation to the black families who were invited because their children were participating.

Various white families in the church were asked to act as hosts for the black families and the only problem they encountered was that more families wanted to be hosts than there were families who needed hosts.

Each year more classes were added to the school including the Suzuki violin method and the Orff Introduction to Music, which remains the largest class in membership.

Joining forces with the United Arts Council of Charlotte, a consultant was hired for a year to draft a "people arts" cultural action plan — "opening the doors of the arts to those who don't wear black ties."

Bridges said the church played an important role in the operation of the school and even today contributes $14,000 to the school's budget.

The church's involvement is important, he said, because arts education helps people find out who they are.

He cited a black child who was a slow learner who is now playing the piano and told of another child at age 10 who is now performing the Beethoven second piano concerto with the Charlotte Symphony in a series of 23 school concerts.

Referring again to the integrated children's choir, he said the church is now involved in a ministry of reconciliation. This is possible in Charlotte, he said, only because all the arts groups are involved and "join hands together in a reconciliation of the arts for all people."

Rosemary Twomey, program coordinator for the Michigan Council for the Arts, said: "two-thirds of the projects applying for funds from the council do not get funded."

The Cathedral school received for use this year $5,150 from the council as seed money in the project. The amount was matched with local funds as are all council grants.

She said the council is a governmental agency under the administration department, Bureau of Management and Budget. Tax dollars for the arts have only been given in the past decade.

She said, "there is never enough money" and it is like a "surgeon without instruments."

Michigan ranks second in the nation for appropriations for the arts and last year appropriated $2.8 million which after budget cuts was reduced to $2.1 million. The highest in the nation is New York with $34 million.

On a per capita basis, Michigan ranks 10th.

There is intense competition for the grants in Michigan, she said, with each project receiving a priority rating from 1 to 10. Only the one and two ratings are funded.

The Cathedral school received a first priority. She said among reasons that the school was given a grant were that the school did not apply its first year of operation when it served as a pilot project being able to show some of the results for the first year and the school only has 20 students, which is a manageable number.

She said, "we are terribly proud of what you are doing here." Experts evaluated the school both on its impact and the need for it in Benton Harbor and the capability of the people and teachers involved.

Of adults, she said, only three per cent of the upper classes experience the performing arts.

She pointed out that churches are a vital force in the arts and hopefully that three per cent can be expanded.

She added, "the eyes of the state are upon you for your achievements."

Says Glamour Gone From New Religions

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The profusion of "new religions" that swept the American scene in the past 10 years is now receding, says a noted church historian in sizing up trends in faith foreseen for the rest of the 1970's.

He predicts a "settled down" period of stability for the mainline Christian and Jewish bodies.

But "the boom is over" for the various novel cults that have proliferated mainly among the young, says the Rev. Dr. Martin E. Marty, a professor at the University of Chicago Divinity School.

He says all of them aren't likely to disappear in the immediate future, but some already have declined, leaving only traces. He said the survivors have "hardened," and, in fact, no longer arouse the fascination they once did.

Although they had "claimed to be anti-institutional alternatives to the organized religion they condemned," he says, "they are now the most organized forms of organized religion around. That is, they rely on extreme discipline."

He says the main sign that their heyday is done is that "whereas the claims of these hit-and-run gurus used to be entertained seriously," they now are "treated either as mildly amusing, only mildly alarming and sometimes as being 'on the take.'"

Dr. Marty, a Lutheran, writing in Context, a semi-monthly analysis of trends issued in Chicago by the Claretian Fathers, a Catholic order, says "non-hardened" marginal groups have survived by "secularizing themselves."

As an example, he cites "transcendental meditation," a technique which now disavows any religious links, although Dr. Marty says its religious roots were obvious when it first was imported to this country in the late 1960's.

He says other "exotic" religious styles, such as neo-Pentecostalism, also are slipping and that "the hardline Jesus movement has long ago 'had it.'"

Of the various groups, he says, "their glamor is gone. The number of affluent young people and bored suburbanites on which they drew is decreasing. Hard times have been here long enough to cut down on the luxury of people free to drift."

As for the main bodies of organized religion, he says they are entering "a settled-down period," in which "expectations seem lower and a more realistic generation has learned to be surprised by small gains and graces."

He says that in Roman Catholicism, the statistical declines in attendance and in priests and nuns have leveled off — "The worst demoralization seems to have passed.... People are ready now for the long pull."

A similar stabilizing trend is evident in Protestantism after several years of shrinking membership, he said.

"Only when measured against the artificial boom of the 1960's has there been great loss," he says.

"Many are also beginning to recognize that many of the losses must have come from the ranks of those who joined superficially in the 1960's revival. Except for their presence in the pews, they do not seem to be missed. Financial offerings, a good American test of faithfulness, do not seem to have suffered."

Community Members Hear Praise For Project

By SAN DEE WALLACE
Staff Writer

The Cathedral School of the Arts in Benton Harbor was given praise for its accomplishments and advice for its future Thursday evening.

Speakers for the dinner-meeting of community members held at First Congregational church, Benton Harbor, where the school is also housed, were Henry Bridges, founder and executive director of the Community School for the Arts in Charlotte, N.C., and Rosemary Twomey of Detroit, program coordinator for the Michigan Council for the Arts.

Both speakers had in the afternoon examined and visited the Cathedral school which began operations in September of 1974 with 20 students.

According to Philip T. Jenkins, director of the Cathedral school, the purpose of the project is to "add the human and spiritual training to young children who now are eager to risk and take a chance, ready to sing and play and dance. We want to give them each day a spark of hope and joy and greet them with a special gift of love — those who might be otherwise drained by the harsh stresses of their everyday environment."

The school offers intense musical training to children with — no previous musical background.

This year the school has 34 students who come each day to the church from diverse backgrounds.

Bridges commended the high quality of the education being given the Benton Harbor students and also the response of the children to the training.

He said, "the school is a wonderful thing and I hope it grows and grows."

Bridges' school has grown from 20 students in 1969 to 600 students this year.

The Community School of the Arts in Charlotte is housed in the First Presbyterian church. Bridges said the church is located in the center of an urban community in a city of 300,000 people.

The church is surrounded by vacant stores and low income inner city housing developments. The population of the surrounding area is 100 per cent black.

Members of the church in Charlotte were faced with the decision to move or stay and voted to stay where they were feeling a need for the church in the center of the city.

In 1968, the church population was 100 per cent white.

Bridges said the arts were needed in the lives of low income families and the school was established in 1969. Half of the budget was provided by the church and half by the Presbyterian denomination.

One of the first results was an integrated children's choir. Bridges said it was always the responsibility of the children's choirs to provide the music for the annual Christmas family dinner.

It was feared there would be rudeness on the part of some members of the congregation to the black families who were invited because their children were participating.

Various white families in the church were asked to act as hosts for the black families and the only problem they encountered was that more families wanted to be hosts than there were families who needed hosts.

Each year more classes were added to the school including the Suzuki violin method and the Orff Introduction to Music, which remains the largest class in membership.

Joining forces with the United Arts Council of Charlotte, a consultant was hired for a year to draft a "people arts" cultural action plan — "opening the doors of the arts to those who don't wear black ties."

Bridges said the church played an important role in the operation of the school and even today contributes $14,000 to the school's budget.

The church's involvement is important, he said, because arts education helps people find out who they are.

He cited a black child who was a slow learner who is now playing the piano and told of another child at age 10 who is now performing the Beethoven second piano concerto with the Charlotte Symphony in a series of 23 school concerts.

Referring again to the integrated children's choir, he said the church is now involved in a ministry of reconciliation. This is possible in Charlotte, he said, only because all the arts groups are involved and "join hands together in a reconciliation of the arts for all people."

Rosemary Twomey, program coordinator for the Michigan Council for the Arts, said, two-thirds of the projects applying for funds from the council do not get funded.

The Cathedral school received for use this year $5,150 from the council as seed money in the project. The amount was matched with local funds as are all council grants.

She said the council is a governmental agency under the administration department, Bureau of Management and Budget. Tax dollars for the arts have only been given in the past decade.

She said, "there is never enough money" and it is like a "surgeon without instruments."

Michigan ranks second in the nation for appropriations for the arts and last year appropriated $2.6 million which after budget cuts was reduced to $2.1 million. The highest in the nation is New York with $34 million.

On a per capita basis, Michigan ranks 10th.

There is intense competition for the grants in Michigan, she said, with each project receiving a priority rating from 1 to 10. Only the one and two ratings are funded.

The Cathedral school received a first priority. She said among reasons that the school was given a grant were that the school did not apply its first year of operation when it served as a pilot project being able to show some of the results for the first year and the school only has 20 students, which is a manageable number.

She said, "we are terribly proud of what you are doing here." Experts evaluated the school both on its impact and the need for it in Benton Harbor and the capability of the people and teachers involved.

Of adults, she said, only three per cent of the upper classes experience the performing arts.

She pointed out that churches are a vital force in the arts and hopefully that three per cent can be expanded.

She added, "the eyes of the state are upon you for your achievements."

Says Glamour Gone From New Religions

AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The profusion of "new religions" that swept the American scene in the past 10 years is now receding, says a noted church historian in sizing up trends in faith foreseen for the rest of the 1970's.

He predicts a "settled down" period of stability for the mainline Christian and Jewish bodies.

But "the boom is over" for the various novel cults that have proliferated mainly among the young, says the Rev. Dr. Martin E. Marty, a professor at the University of Chicago Divinity School.

He says all of them aren't likely to disappear in the immediate future, but some already have declined, leaving only traces. He said the survivors have "hardened," and, in general, no longer arouse the fascination they once did.

Although they had "claimed to be anti-institutional alternatives to the organized religion they condemned," he says, "they are now the most organized forms of organized religion around. That is, they rely on extreme discipline."

He says the main sign that their heyday is done is that "whereas the claims of these hit-and-run gurus used to be entertained seriously," they now are "treated either as mildly amusing, only mildly alarming and sometimes as being 'on the take.'"

Dr. Marty, a Lutheran, writing in Context, a semi-monthly analysis of trends issued in Chicago by the Claretian Fathers, a Catholic order, says "non-hardened" marginal groups have survived by "secularizing themselves."

As an example, he cites "transcendental meditation," a technique which now disavows any religious links, although Dr. Marty says its religious roots were obvious when it first was imported to this country in the late 1960s.

He says other "exotic" religious styles, such as neo-Pentecostalism, also are slipping and that "the headline Jesus movement has long ago 'had it.'"

Of the various groups, he says, "their glamor is gone. The number of affluent young people and bored suburbanites on which they drew is decreasing. Hard times have been here long enough to cut down on the luxury of people free to drift."

As for the main bodies of organized religion, he says they are entering "a settled-down period" in which "expectations seem lower and a more realistic generation has learned to be surprised by small gains and graces."

He says that in Roman Catholicism, the statistical declines in attendance and in priests and nuns have leveled off — "The worst demoralization seems to have passed.... People are ready now for the long pull."

A similar stabilizing trend is evident in Protestantism after several years of shrinking membership, he said.

"Only when measured against the artificial boom of the 1950's has there been great loss," he says.

"Many are also beginning to recognize that many of the losses must have come from the ranks of those who joined superficially in the 1950's revival. Except for their presence in the pews, they do not seem to be missed. Financial offerings, a good American test of faithfulness, do not seem to have suffered."

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

THE BIBLE

No. 224. Psalm 130

One of the most poignant tributes to God's mercy and forgiveness is to be found in the brief Psalm 130. The Psalmist, very much aware of man's imperfections and transgressions, reasons that man must rely upon divine mercy and grace to overcome his shortcomings.

"Out of the depths have I cried unto thee, O Lord. Lord, hear my voice; let thine ears be attentive to the voice of my supplications. If thou, Lord, shouldst mark iniquities, O Lord, who shall stand? But there is forgiveness with thee, that thou mayest be feared." (Psalms 130:1-4)

"I wait for the Lord, my soul doth wait, and in his word do I hope. My soul waiteth for the Lord more than they that watch for the morning; I say, more than they that watch for the morning. Let Israel hope in the Lord: for with the Lord there is mercy, and with him is plenteous redemption. And he shall redeem Israel from all his iniquities." (Psalms 130:5-8)

Head Salvation Army

Major and Mrs. George Collins have assumed command of Salvation Army operations in Benton Harbor.

Their assignment to Benton Harbor was effective Jan. 28. The Collins' have served as Salvation Army officers for more than 20 years with a number of Corps appointments in the Central Territory.

They have also served overseas giving emergency help to people in both South Vietnam and Bangladesh.

Following the Tet Offensive in Vietnam in 1968, the Collins were sent by the Salvation Army to Saigon to aid the Vietnamese refugees.

The Collins' said such facilities as schools and dispensaries were not equipped to serve the many refugees and the Salvation Army set up facilities to help.

Major Collins was director of the Salvation Army's medical, social and youth services program to the Vietnamese refugees and Mrs. Collins, a registered nurse, was responsible for supervising the medical phase of the program.

With a staff of nearly 100 persons, including Salvation Army personnel from other parts of the world and Vietnamese nationals, they also operated on a mobile basis circulating among strategic areas.

Mrs. Collins said the refugees were everywhere, any building and space of land on which they could stay.

Some of the camps, Major Collins said, held as many as 10,000 refugees.

Children from the schools they established were later accredited by the Vietnamese schools and when the Collins left Vietnam, the facilities they helped establish were taken over and operated by the Vietnamese.

They returned to the United States and six months later were again asked to serve in an emergency — Bangladesh — and arrived shortly before that country was formally established.

They were in charge of an emergency relief and rehabilitation program. Major Collins served as International Administrator of the Salvation Army's program in Bangladesh and Mrs. Collins was instrumental in opening a physiotherapy treatment center for physically handicapped children in the city of Dacca. When the couple left

MAJOR AND MRS. GEORGE COLLINS

Bangladesh, the children's facility was taken over by the Volunteer Women's association.

While in Bangladesh, Major and Mrs. Collins adopted their three-year-old son, Robert Earl.

They adopted the child, who had already been living with them for a year, according to the laws of Bangladesh.

The child was issued a passport following the adoption and a visa for the child to leave the country with the Collins who had been assigned back to the United States.

The only difficulties they faced in bringing the child back with them was the possibility of a delay in obtaining permission from the United States to bring the child into the United States.

Within two days of the time they were supposed to leave Bangladesh, they received the necessary approvals.

Prior to their appointment to Benton Harbor, Major and Mrs. Collins were in charge of the Salvation Army's Eventide Residence — a home for the aged in Detroit.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

THE BIBLE

No. 224. Psalm 130

One of the most poignant tributes to God's mercy and forgiveness is to be found in the brief Psalm 130. The Psalmist, very much aware of man's imperfections and transgressions, reasons that man must rely upon divine mercy and grace to overcome his shortcomings.

"Out of the depths have I cried unto thee, O Lord. Lord, hear my voice; let thine ears be attentive to the voice of my supplications. If thou, Lord, shouldst mark iniquities, O Lord, who shall stand? But there is forgiveness with thee, that thou mayest be feared." (Psalms 130:1-4)

"I wait for the Lord, my soul doth wait, and in his word do I hope. My soul waiteth for the Lord more than they that watch for the morning; I say, more than they that watch for the morning. Let Israel hope in the Lord: for with the Lord there is mercy, and with him is plenteous redemption. And he shall redeem Israel from all his iniquities." (Psalms 130:5-8)

Insurance Manager Tells Money Offer

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

Evidence linking a man accused of having his allegedly illegitimate son and the boy's mother murdered for insurance and an insurance policy on the boy was presented Friday during the double murder trial for Johnny Dortch.

Chester Wilburn, Dortch's former boss while Dortch was an insurance salesman for Western and Southern Life Insurance Co., told jurors of a conversation between Dortch and him concerning the life insurance policy on the boy.

Wilburn, an assistant manager for Western & Southern's Benton Harbor office, testified Dortch told him: "If you kill him (the boy) for me, we can split the money."

The testimony came during the fourth day of trial in Berrien Circuit court for Dortch, 27, of 148 North Crystal avenue, Benton township, who faces two charges of first degree murder in connection with the shotgun-slayings of Brenda Freeman,

26, and her 7-year-old son, Johnny.

The Freemans' decomposed bodies were found Sept. 27, 1974, in a ditch off Black Lake road in Pipestone township. The prosecution alleges Dortch is the father of Johnny Freeman, and hired another man to kill the boy for insurance money.

In an earlier trial, Terry Langford, 24, of Benton Harbor, was convicted of slaying the son and mother for a fee and was sentenced to life in prison.

Wilburn has in no way been implicated in the case.

Wilburn testified he and Dortch were in Dortch's car during the summer of 1974 doing an audit of Dortch's insurance collection route when they stopped on Calfax avenue in Benton Harbor near where Mrs. Freeman and her son resided.

He said the Freeman boy ran out to the car, talked with Dortch, and then left. Under questioning by Chief Asst. Prosecutor Robert McDowell,

Wilburn related:

"I said that the boy should be careful, there could be a car coming."

"Don't worry, I got insurance," was Dortch's reply. "You shouldn't say that," said Wilburn.

"I wasn't joking, think of the money I'll get," Dortch replied.

"Don't kid about that sort of thing," said Wilburn.

"If you kill him for me, we can split the money," responded Dortch.

"You must be kidding," exclaimed Wilburn.

Wilburn also related an incident at the Western & Southern office on M-139 in Benton township after he had become suspicious of the insurance policy on the boy.

He said he and Dortch were in the office working late when a knock came on the door, and Dortch went to the restroom. Wilburn testified he opened the door and was confronted by Terry Langford, who was carrying a sawed-off shotgun.

He said Langford threatened him and he ran, but Langford then told him it was a "joke."

Another prosecution witness, Paul Wright, manager of the Western & Southern office, said Dortch was named beneficiary on Johnny Freeman's life insurance policy, which was a double indemnity policy which would pay $15,000 to the beneficiary for an accidental death.

Wright testified Dortch made the payments on the policy and sold it. The policy application listed the boy's address as 148 North Crystal, Benton township (Dortch's address). A previous witness, the sister of Brenda Freeman, testified the boy lived with his mother on Calfax avenue.

According to Wright, the application also asked with whom does the boy live, and the answer on the application said with his father.

Wright also testified that on Nov. 7, 1974, he gave Dortch a check for slightly more than $15,000 as payment on the boy's insurance policy since Dortch was named beneficiary.

Trial is scheduled to resume Tuesday in the courtroom of Judge Julian E. Hughes.

SUSPECT BOUND OVER

Detective's Wife Tells Of Shooting

By NICK SMITH
Staff Writer

Maurice H. Carter was bound over to Circuit court yesterday on charges of shooting at the wife of a Benton Harbor detective at the time he allegedly shot the detective.

Carter, 31, of Gary, Ind., was bound over by Berrien Fifth District Judge John T. Hammond following a preliminary examination. He is charged with assault with intent to murder Mrs. Ruth Schadler Dec. 30, 1973.

According to Hammond, Mrs. Schadler testified about events that occurred while she and her husband, Det. Thomas Schadler, were Christmas shopping at Harbor Wigs and Record shop, Benton Harbor.

She testified that a man, whom she identified as Carter, fired a shot at her husband that dropped him to the floor of the shop. The man stood over her husband and kept firing at him.

Mrs. Schadler told the court that she pushed the gunman away from her husband. The gunman pushed her against a counter and fired a shot which barely missed her head, she testified.

Det. Schadler repeated testimony he gave at Carter's hearing for assault with intent to commit murder against Det. Schadler, Hammond said.

Schadler stated that he thought his wife had been shot. Although the detective had been shot four times in the head and once each in the shoulder and back, he got up from the floor when the assailant fled, checked on his wife and chased the man.

Schadler, who has since recovered from his wounds, followed the man out of the shop and fired several shots at him.

Police investigated the shooting for over two years and on Jan. 5 arrested Carter in Gary, Ind.

This Monday Carter pleaded innocent in Berrien circuit court to the charge of shooting Schadler. He will be arraigned next week on the charge of shooting at Mrs. Schadler. Bonds were set at $100,000 in each of the two cases, and he remains jailed.

SOUTH BEND — One of two South Bend men arrested here Wednesday on charges of counterfeiting $10 bills was employed by a South Bend printing firm, according to South Bend police.

South Bend detectives said

PRACTICING: Mail Le Huyen practices song for Vietnamese New Year Festival which is to be held today in Los Angeles. About 40 Vietnamese will perform traditional Vietnamese songs and dances for a group of refugees. (AP Wirephoto) yesterday the arrested man, Chester Warzel, 30, was employed as a printer for National Program Company, Inc., 305 Niles avenue, a firm dealing in marketing promotions.

The detectives said they believe the counterfeit bills which have surfaced in the southwestern Michigan and northern Indiana area were printed at the firm late at night while the rest of the employees were gone. Officers said no other employees at the firm are suspected of complicity in the counterfeiting operation.

Warzel and Kenneth St. Germain, 37, were arrested Wednesday night following a two-month investigation by South Bend police and federal agents.

Officers said they believe the counterfeiting operation resulted in more than 3,000 fake $10 bills being passed in the South Bend area as well as in Ohio and Tulsa, Oklahoma.

Twelve of the counterfeit bills have surfaced in Michigan, according to the Grand Rapids Secret Service office. Most were recovered in the Niles area.

A Feb. 5 arraignment date was set yesterday for the two men in the St. Joseph county, Ind., circuit court. Both men were lodged in the St. Joseph county jail in lieu of $1,000 bond for St. Germain and $5,000 for Warzel.

Edward Chapeau, St. Joseph deputy prosecutor, said Warzel was charged with counterfeiting and conspiring to counterfeit bank bills and with possession of counterfeit bank bills. St. Germain was charged with possession of counterfeit bills and possession of dies used in the making of counterfeit bills.

Chapeau said he did not know if federal charges would be filed against the men.

South Bend police said they

TWO SOUTH BEND MEN ARRESTED Counterfeit Suspect Is Printer

confiscated 23 bills and nine photo-negative plates believed used in the making of the bills when they arrested the men.

According to the Indianapolis, Ind., Secret Service office, about 125 of the bills have been recovered in Indiana in addition to the 23 confiscated during the arrests. South Bend police estimated there may be another 100 bills still circulating in the northern Indiana and southwestern Michigan area.

About 50 of the bills were recovered in Tulsa, Oklahoma, South Bend police said.

All of the bills carried the same serial number, South Bend police said. The number is G4827171C. The bills appear to be slightly off-color on the pale side, the paper texture is different from authentic bills, and the ink smears easily, police have said.

South Bend police said the bills were being sold to other people for prices ranging from $2.50 to 70 cents per bill. Officers said that after the news media reported that the fake bills were being passed, the value dropped from $2.50 to 70 cents each.

Only one set of photo-negatives confiscated was for $10 bills. Officers said the other two sets of negatives — three each — were for $20 bills, but they said they believe no $20 bills were ever printed.

Officials at the Grand Rapids Secret Service office said that once a person realizes he is in possession of a counterfeit bill, he must turn it in to authorities and he will not be reimbursed. The officials said that if a person knowingly passes a bill, he faces arrest on counterfeiting charges.

Insurance Manager Tells Money Offer

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

Evidence linking a man accused of having his allegedly illegitimate son and the boy's mother murdered for insurance and an insurance policy on the boy was presented Friday during the double murder trial for Johnny Dortch.

Chester Wilburn, Dortch's former boss while Dortch was an insurance salesman for Western and Southern Life Insurance Co., told jurors of a conversation between Dortch and him concerning the life insurance policy on the boy.

Wilburn, an assistant manager for Western & Southern's Benton Harbor office, testified Dortch told him: "If you kill him (the boy) for me, we can split the money."

The testimony came during the fourth day of trial in Berrien Circuit court for Dortch, 27, of 148 North Crystal avenue, Benton township, who faces two charges of first degree murder in connection with the shotgun-slayings of Brenda Freeman,

26, and her 7-year-old son, Johnny.

The Freemans' decomposed bodies were found Sept. 27, 1974, in a ditch off Black Lake road in Pipestone township. The prosecution alleges Dortch is the father of Johnny Freeman, and hired another man to kill the boy for insurance money.

In an earlier trial, Terry Langford, 24, of Benton Harbor, was convicted of slaying the son and mother for a fee and was sentenced to life in prison.

Wilburn has in no way been implicated in the case. Wilburn testified he and Dortch were in Dortch's car during the summer of 1974 doing an audit of Dortch's insurance collection route when they stopped on Colfax avenue in Benton Harbor near where Mrs. Freeman and her son resided.

He said the Freeman boy ran out to the car, talked with Dortch, and then left. Under questioning by Chief Asst. Prosecutor Robert McDowell,

Wilburn related:

"I said that the boy should be careful, there could be a car coming."

"Don't worry, I got insurance," was Dortch's reply. "You shouldn't say that," said Wilburn.

"I wasn't joking, think of the money I'll get," Dortch replied.

"Don't kid about that sort of thing," said Wilburn.

"If you kill him for me, we can split the money," responded Dortch.

"You must be kidding," exclaimed Wilburn.

Wilburn also related an incident at the Western & Southern office on M-139 in Benton township after he had become suspicious of the insurance policy on the boy.

He said he and Dortch were in the office working late when a knock came on the door, and Dortch went to the restroom. Wilburn testified he opened the door and was confronted by Terry Langford, who was carrying a sawed-off shotgun.

He said Langford threatened him and he ran, but Langford then told him it was a "joke."

Another prosecution witness, Paul Wright, manager of the Western & Southern office, said Dortch was named beneficiary on Johnny Freeman's life insurance policy, which was a double indemnity policy which would pay $15,000 to the beneficiary for an accidental death.

Wright testified Dortch made the payments on the policy and sold it. The policy application listed the boy's address as 148 North Crystal, Benton township (Dortch's address). A previous witness, the sister of Brenda Freeman, testified the boy lived with his mother on Colfax avenue.

According to Wright, the application also asked with whom does the boy live, and the answer on the application said with his father.

Wright also testified that on Nov. 7, 1974, he gave Dortch a check for slightly more than $15,000 as payment on the boy's insurance policy since Dortch was named beneficiary.

Trial is scheduled to resume Tuesday in the courtroom of Judge Julian E. Hughes.

HOME BUILDING & OTHER CONSTRUCTION NEWS

Here's the Answer

By ANDY LANG

Q. — I am going to redo the walls of a room with plywood panels. A friend tells me to have the panels delivered to the house at least two weeks before starting to install them. He said he read this somewhere, but he isn't sure exactly why. Can you tell me?

A. — With nearly all wall materials, it is best to have them in the room for some time before they are installed. This is to permit them to adjust to climatic conditions in the room so that they won't change shape after being put up. However, two weeks is far too long a time. Two or three days are sufficient. The panels should be stacked flat, with some kind of short boards between them so that air can circulate freely.

Q. — Can a warped door be straightened out? If so, how do I go about it?

A. — Place the door on two sawhorses, one at each end. The bulging side should be facing the sky. Do this outdoors, if possible, in dry weather. Place heavy weights on the bulge. Inspect the door the next day and see whether the warped portion has been straightened. If not, allow the weights to remain in place, but keep a sharp eye on the door thereafter, since you do not want the weights to produce a bend in the door on the opposite side.

Q. — We moved into a very old house. There is a fence around one part of the house. It is made of cypress that seems to be very dried out. How can it be restored to its original condition?

A. — You'll probably never get it back to its original condition. But cypress is a very durable wood. You can both protect it and improve its appearance by giving it at least two coats of a wood preservative.

Q. — What's the best way to cut gypsum wallboard so that smooth edges are left?

A. — Use a very sharp knife and a straightedge and slice through the outer paper on one side so that the cut also goes into the gypsum center. Hold the wallboard panel on a table or other flat surface so that the cut side is face up and runs along the edge of the table. Snap downwards. Now slice through the uncut side and the two pieces will separate. But you will never get a completely clean cut, so you must now smooth the two pieces with sandpaper or a rasp.

(Thirty-five do-it-yourself problems are discussed in Andy Lang's handbook, "Practical Home Repairs," available by sending $1 to this newspaper at Box 5, Teaneck, N.J. 07666.)

Some Buyers Happy At Tax Time

By R. GREGORY NOKES
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the economy-boosting gimmicks of the 1975 tax program was a tax credit windfall of up to $2,000 for buyers of many new homes.

Although government agencies report the tax break was an apparent flop as far as increasing new home sales — its intended purpose — the people who did buy new homes may be entitled to take the credit on their 1975 tax returns.

The credit was the idea of Senate Democrats and was opposed by President Ford, even though he accepted it as part of the overall tax reduction package for 1975. It is unlikely to be renewed for 1976, however.

The credit is equal to 5 percent of the purchase price of a new home up to a maximum of $2,000 if the following conditions were met:

—The new home must have payer's principal place of residence. House trailers and house boats can qualify if they are the principal place of residence.

When the tax legislation went into effect, the price requirement was that the price be the lowest ever. But Congress amended this after sellers complained the restriction was unrealistic because of the high inflation of the past few years.

Taxpayers claiming the credit must use the long 1040 form. In addition, they must attach a separate form provided by IRS and a certificate from the seller certifying that the home met the date and price requirements.

Since there is an obvious potential for fraud in this area, the tax legislation provides for both civil and criminal penalties against a seller who provides fraudulent information.

The buyer is still entitled to the credit even if fraud was committed by the seller.

The estimated cost to the government of the credit is $600 million.

One important note: If the homebuyer has realized a gain from the sale of his previous home, this gain must be subtracted from the purchase price of the new home before the 5 percent credit is computed. Another change in the tax laws affecting buyers of homes is an extension of the time allowed to buy a new home in order to defer a tax on any gain in the sale of the old home.

The period has been increased to two years, either before or after the sale of the old home, instead of 18 months, as before. But the new extension applies only to sales of homes after Dec. 31, 1974.

The time period for a person to start building a new home has been increased from one year to 18 months after sale of the old home, with another two years allowed for occupancy of the built home, rather than 18 months as before.

In all cases, the home must be the principal place of residence for the taxpayer.

HOME BUILDING & OTHER CONSTRUCTION NEWS

Q. — I am going to redo the walls of a room with plywood panels. A friend tells me to have the panels delivered to the house at least two weeks before starting to install them. He said he read this somewhere, but he isn't sure exactly why. Can you tell me?

A. — With nearly all wall materials, it is best to have them in the room for some time before they are installed. This is to permit them to adjust to climatic conditions in the room so that they won't change shape after being put up. However, two weeks is far too long a time. Two or three days are sufficient. The panels should be stacked flat, with some kind of short boards between them so that air can circulate freely.

Q. — Can a warped door be straightened out? If so, how do I go about it?

A. — Place the door on two sawhorses, one at each end. The bulging side should be facing the sky. Do this outdoors, if possible, in dry weather. Place heavy weights on the bulge. Inspect the door the next day and see whether the warped portion has been straightened. If not, allow the weights to remain in place, but keep a sharp eye on the door thereafter, since you do not want the weights to produce a bend in the door on the opposite side.

Q. — We moved into a very old house. There is a fence around one part of the house. It is made of cypress that seems to be very dried out. How can it be restored to its original condition?

A. — You'll probably never get it back to its original condition. But cypress is a very durable wood. You can both protect it and improve its appearance by giving it at least two coats of a wood preservative.

Q. — What's the best way to cut gypsum wallboard so that smooth edges are left?

A. — Use a very sharp knife and a straightedge and slice through the outer paper on one side so that the cut also goes into the gypsum center. Hold the wallboard panel on a table or other flat surface so that the cut side is face up and runs along the edge of the table. Snap downwards. Now slice through the uncut side and the two pieces will separate. But you will never get a completely clean cut, so you must now smooth the two pieces with sandpaper or a rasp.

Hoffa's Son, Prosecutors Named In $4 Million Suit

DETROIT (AP) — The attorney for four New Jersey Teamsters questioned in the disappearance of James R. Hoffa has filed a $4 million libel suit against Hoffa's son and federal prosecutors.

'Big Foot' Rape-Murder Evidence Termed Lacking

DETROIT (AP) — City police say a 29-year-old man being held on two sexual assault charges may have committed as many as 40 rapes, but they lack evidence linking him to the "Big Foot" rape-murders of seven prostitutes in the run-down Cass Corridor.

Carl R. Mayweather Jr. of Belleville, Mich., is in the Wayne County Jail awaiting preliminary examination on a charge of raping a 19-year-old Detroit woman in a downtown suburb on Tuesday night.

The strapping 6-foot-4 Mayweather, who is undergoing psychiatric tests, was arrested by River Rouge police during the alleged rape in a car parked in a dead-end alley.

Detroit police put Mayweather in lineups before several rape victims and later charged him with the August 1975 rape of a 21-year-old woman who said she was picked up at a bus stop by a large man on a motorcycle.

Mayweather, who also rents a flat in Detroit, is being held in lieu of $50,000 bond on each charge and is scheduled for preliminary exams next Friday in River Rouge and on Feb. 9 in Detroit.

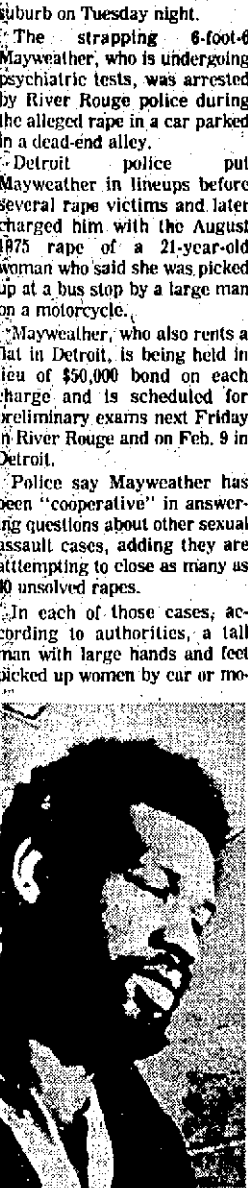

Police say Mayweather has been "cooperative" in answering questions about other sexual assault cases, adding they are attempting to close as many as 40 unsolved rapes.

In each of those cases, according to authorities, a tall man with large hands and feet picked up women by car or motorcycle, drove them to a deserted location and raped and sodomized them at the point of a gun or knife.

Police said Mayweather had a motorcycle stored at a Detroit moving company warehouse owned by his family. The motorcycle has been confiscated by police.

Police said the rape victims often had their undergarments removed by the assailant. In the "Big Foot" cases — so dubbed because the killer reportedly had massive feet — the murdered victims were found strangled or stabbed and left either nude or with their undergarments missing.

Police said a search of Mayweather's west side flat turned up a collection of photographs of the arrested man with various women, a machete and a set of knives, dozens of pieces of women's jewelry and nearly 700 women's underpants.

Patty Believes Fair Trial, Impartial Jury 'Feasible'

By TONY LEDWELL
Associated Press Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The search for a jury to hear Patricia Hearst's bank robbery trial, though shrouded in mystery for news reporters, is encouraging for the young defendant, her attorney says.

F. Lee Bailey said after Friday's closed door session that Miss Hearst, described as an attentive listener during the three days of jury screening, is pleased by the comments and attitudes of most prospective jurors and believes "it is entirely feasible to get a fair and impartial jury."

Although the selection was going more slowly than anticipated, both sides appeared to be pleased with the progress in the first week of the trial. Proceedings were scheduled to resume Monday.

Seven more persons were named Friday to the pool of 36 prospects from which the jury will be picked. So far, 16 persons have survived preliminary screening and 20 more must be chosen.

prosecution in return for his testimony in the Hoffa disappearance.

Bufalino also has represented Stephen's brother, Thomas, 38, of Hasbrouck Heights, N.J.; Gabriel Briguglio, of Union City, N.J.; and his brother, Salvatore Briguglio, 47, of Englewood, N.J.

The Briguglio brothers and Thomas Andretta have been identified by a government informant as the abductors and killers of Hoffa, according to Ozer.

The informant, according to Bufalino, is Ralph Picardo, a trucking company owner serving 17 to 23 years in prison for a 1974 murder.

Also included in the libel suit filed by Bufalino are six unnamed labor organizations and 20 unnamed persons, or "John and Mary Docs."

They're Prepared

CHICAGO (AP) — A group of skiers were prepared for any emergency on their weekend trip to the slopes around Bessemer, Mich.

Some 40 doctors and nurses, packing splints and medical kits along with their skis, left Friday for the Upper Peninsula area.

They are from Ravenswood Hospital.

"About half of them are beginners," said a spokesman.

OPEN LETTER TO TAXPAYERS OF THE BENTON HARBOR AREA SCHOOL DISTRICT

For several months now, the Benton Harbor Area Schools Administrators Association has been attempting to bargain with representatives of the Benton Harbor Area Schools Board of Education. On Tuesday, January 27, 1976, representatives of the Association and the Board of Education met, and our fears were realized. It's been a "game" for the Board attorney, Mr. Michael Ward. Noting that he represents the Board leads one, also, to believe that it's been a "game" to the Board.

We have been trying to negotiate with Mr. Ward since August and during Tuesday's meeting, he finally said it was his proposal or nothing . . . which is another way of saying he refused to bargain in good faith. It appears that our only recourse is mediation. Upon reflection, the Association is, in a way, relieved. Since August, the taxpayers of the Benton Harbor Area School District and the Association have been party to a financial "rip-off" by the Board. While the attorney played his "game", you were paying the high priced bill for his "services".

Nobody's Sure What Will Happen To Secret Reports

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House intelligence committee has 2,000 copies of its final report on the activities of U.S. intelligence agencies, but nobody is quite sure what to do with them.

The committee was refused permission to make the long-awaited report public when the House voted, 246 to 124, on Thursday to file it as a secret report or get permission for its publication from President Ford, who wants it kept quiet.

The Government Printing Office delivered the committee's 2,000 copies of the report on Friday and the copies were locked up until somebody figures out what to do with them.

The decision is up to

Parliamentarian William Brown in consultation with House leaders. Brown told newsmen: "Those decisions will be made Monday."

The House vote barring the committee from making the report public was a major victory for Ford. He had contended its contents could be embarrassing and damaging to U.S. intelligence agencies.

Victory in hand, Ford rode to CIA headquarters in Langley, Va., on Friday for the swearing in of George Bush as his new director of the CIA.

"We cannot improve this agency by destroying it," Ford said at the ceremony.

Hoffa's Son, Prosecutors Named In $4 Million Suit

DETROIT (AP) — The attorney for four New Jersey Teamsters questioned in the disappearance of James R. Hoffa has filed a $4 million libel suit against Hoffa's son and federal prosecutors.

William E. Bufalino, who filed the lawsuit Friday in Wayne County Circuit Court, accused young Hoffa and the prosecutors of defamation of character, libel, slander and conspiracy to defame. He acted on behalf of himself and nine unnamed plaintiffs.

Bufalino claims he was harmed when young Hoffa was quoted in the news media as saying that Bufalino showed a lack of gratitude to the missing ex-Teamsters boss by representing the New Jersey men. Bufalino was the elder Hoffa's lawyer for many years.

Bufalino also charged federal prosecutors Robert C. Ozer and Frederick J. Dana with making "false and fraudulent statements" about him in court. He did not refer to specific statements, but prosecutors have questioned in open court whether Bufalino was using delaying tactics in attempts to slow down the investigation. When Bufalino was hospitalized, for example, prosecutors questioned whether he was really ill.

Ozer and Dana have been spearheading the federal probe into the disappearance of the former union boss, who vanished last July 30.

Bufalino said he believes he and his son, attorney William E. Bufalino II, were about to be indicted by Ozer, Dana and other unnamed defendants "for some unsupported charges that only they can dream up."

The elder Bufalino is representing Stephen Andretta, 40, of Little Ferry, N.J., who has been granted immunity from

Patty Believes Fair Trial, Impartial Jury 'Feasible'

By TONY LEDWELL

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The search for a jury to hear Patricia Hearst's bank robbery trial, though shrouded in mystery for news reporters, is encouraging for the young defendant, her attorney says.

F. Lee Bailey said after Friday's closed door session that Miss Hearst, described as an attentive listener during the three days of jury screening, is pleased by the comments and attitudes of most prospective jurors and believes "it is entirely feasible to get a fair and impartial jury."

Although the selection was going more slowly than anticipated, both sides appeared to be pleased with the progress in the first week of the trial. Proceedings were scheduled to resume Monday.

Seven more persons were named Friday to the pool of 36 prospects from which the jury will be picked. So far, 16 persons have survived preliminary screening and 20 more must be chosen.

prosecution in return for his testimony in the Hoffa disappearance.

Bufalino also has represented Stephen's brother, Thomas, 38, of Hasbrouck Heights, N.J.; Gabriel Briguglio, of Union City, N.J.; and his brother, Salvatore Briguglio, 47, of Englewood, N.J.

The Briguglio brothers and Thomas Andretta have been identified by a government informant as the abductors and killers of Hoffa, according to Ozer.

The informant, according to Bufalino, is Ralph Picardo, a trucking company owner serving 17 to 23 years in prison for a 1974 murder.

Also included in the libel suit filed by Bufalino are six unnamed labor organizations and 20 unnamed persons, or "John and Mary Does."

Nobody's Sure What Will Happen To Secret Reports

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House intelligence committee has 2,000 copies of its final report on the activities of U.S. intelligence agencies, but nobody is quite sure what to do with them.

The committee was refused permission to make the long-awaited report public when the House voted 246 to 124 on Thursday to file it as a secret report or get permission for its publication from President Ford, who wants it kept quiet.

The Government Printing Office delivered the committee's 2,000 copies of the report on Friday and the copies were locked up until somebody figures out what to do with them.

The decision is up to

Parliamentarian William Brown in consultation with House leaders. Brown told newsmen: "Those decisions will be made Monday."

The House vote barring the committee from making the report public was a major victory for Ford. He had contended its contents could be embarrassing and damaging to U.S. intelligence agencies.

Victory in hand, Ford rode to CIA headquarters in Langley, Va., on Friday for the swearing in of George Bush as his new director of the CIA.

"We cannot improve this agency by destroying it," Ford said at the ceremony.

'Big Foot' Rape-Murder Evidence Termed Lacking

DETROIT (AP) — City police say a 29-year-old man being held on two sexual assault charges may have committed as many as 40 rapes, but they lack evidence linking him to the "Big Foot" rape-murders of seven prostitutes in the run-down Cass Corridor.

Carl R. Mayweather Jr. of Belleville, Mich., is in the Wayne County Jail awaiting preliminary examination on a charge of raping a 19-year-old Detroit woman in a downriver suburb on Tuesday night.

The strapping 6-foot-6 Mayweather, who is undergoing psychiatric tests, was arrested by River Rouge police during the alleged rape in a car parked in a dead-end alley.

Detroit police put Mayweather in lineups before several rape victims and later charged him with the August 1975 rape of a 21-year-old woman who said she was picked up at a bus stop by a large man on a motorcycle.

Mayweather, who also rents a flat in Detroit, is being held in lieu of $50,000 bond on each charge and is scheduled for preliminary exams next Friday in River Rouge and on Feb. 9 in Detroit.

Police say Mayweather has been "cooperative" in answering questions about other sexual assault cases, adding they are attempting to close as many as 40 unsolved rapes.

In each of those cases, according to authorities, a tall man with large hands and feet picked up women by car or motorcycle, drove them to a deserted location and raped and sodomized them at the point of a gun or knife.

Police said Mayweather had a motorcycle stored at a Detroit moving company warehouse owned by his family. The motorcycle has been confiscated by police.

Police said the rape victims often had their undergarments removed by the assailant. In the "Big Foot" cases — so dubbed because the killer reportedly had massive feet — the murdered victims were found strangled or stabbed and left either nude or with their undergarments missing.

Police said a search of Mayweather's west side flat turned up a collection of photographs of the arrested man with various women, a machete and a set of knives, dozens of pieces of women's jewelry and nearly 700 women's underpants.

They're Prepared

CHICAGO (AP) — A group of skiers were prepared for any emergency on their weekend trip to the slopes around Bessemer, Mich.

Some 40 doctors and nurses, packing splints and medical kits along with their skis, left Friday for the Upper Peninsula area.

They are from Ravenswood Hospital.

"About half of them are beginners," said a spokesman.

OPEN LETTER TO TAXPAYERS OF THE BENTON HARBOR AREA SCHOOL DISTRICT

For several months now, the Benton Harbor Area Schools Administrators Association has been attempting to bargain with representatives of the Benton Harbor Area Schools Board of Education. On Tuesday, January 27, 1976, representatives of the Association and the Board of Education met, and our fears were realized. It's been a "game" for the Board attorney, Mr. Michael Ward. Noting that he represents the Board leads one, also, to believe that it's been a "game" to the Board.

We have been trying to negotiate with Mr. Ward since August and during Tuesday's meeting, he finally said it was his proposal or nothing . . . which is another way of saying he refused to bargain in good faith. It appears that our only recourse is mediation. Upon reflection, the Association is, in a way, relieved. Since August, the taxpayers of the Benton Harbor Area School District and the Association have been party to a financial "rip-off" by the Board. While the attorney played his "game", you were paying the high priced bill for his "services".

High Court Takes Lid Off Spending

By DICK BARNES
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress faces an emergency election year fight over the financing of political campaigns because of a Supreme Court decision that changes some post-Watergate spending rules and clouds their enforcement. Election laws rolled through Congress in 1974 on the shoulders of reform sentiment but now must be considered again with many senators and representatives in the midst of their own campaigning.

The Supreme Court on Friday threw out limitations on campaign expenditures of privately raised money, but said it is constitutional to limit individual election contributions to $1,000.

The court also said the government could legally provide federal money to presidential candidates and require disclosure of political donors and expenses.

At the same time, however, the court ruled that the new Federal Election Commission, enforcer of the election money law, was unconstitutionally appointed.

President Ford and at least five Democratic candidates said after the ruling they would continue to limit their campaign expenditures despite it.

Under the court ruling, if they decided to surpass the $10.9 million spending limit they would be forced to quit using federal matching funds in their campaigns. The court said it was legal for distribution of the matching funds to be conditioned on limits for spending.

Left for future decision by each of the two eventual presidential nominees is whether to accept the $21.8 million spending limit for the general election campaign.

The limit on contributions of $1,000 per candidate per election by an individual and $5,000 by an organization makes fundraising tougher than in the past, when five- and six-figure contributions came from the rich.

The specific question facing Congress is what to do about the Federal Election Commission.

Several members, including Sens. Richard Schweiker, R-Pa., Hugh Scott, R-Pa., and Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said they will introduce bills to preserve the commission in a manner satisfactory to the court.

But Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, a powerful arch-critic of the commission, said he will introduce a bill to abolish it.

The court said all past decisions made by the commission would stand and that it could continue to exercise its broad powers for another month so Congress can have a chance to resolve the matter.

The court specifically found that it was unconstitutional for a commission, including a majority of members nominated either by the House or Senate to execute laws whose enforcement is left by the constitution to the President or his appointees.

The quick-fix proposals for saving the commission would make all six of its members presidential appointees.

Election Law At A Glance

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here at a glance are the new ground rules for the 1976 presidential and congressional campaigns, based on Friday's Supreme Court ruling:

SPENDING: Senate and House candidates may spend unlimited amounts in their primary or general election campaigns.

Presidential candidates may also qualify for unlimited spending, but only if they do without federal subsidies.

Individuals and political groups may spend unlimited sums for independent expressions of political support for candidates, although direct donations of money remain subject to limits.

DONATIONS: Individuals may give only up to $1,000 in direct donations to a candidate's primary campaign, and another $1,000 to the general election campaign. Individuals can't give more than $25,000 a year in direct political donations to federal candidates.

Qualified political committees, such as those run by labor unions, special interest groups and business and professional organizations, may give up to $5,000 per candidate per election.

ENFORCEMENT: The Federal Election Commission may operate only for another 30 days with its present powers. Unless Congress changes it to allow the President to appoint all six voting members, it will lose the power to sue candidates accused of violations, to disqualify candidates who fail to file reports, or to make binding regulations. It would retain only the powers to investigate and to publish information.

DISCLOSURE: Candidates and political committees must disclose publicly any expenditures over $10 and any receipts of $100 or more. Any individual or association must also make a public disclosure when spending more than $100 a year independently to urge election or defeat of a federal candidate.

PUBLIC FINANCING: Public subsidies will continue for presidential campaigns and for the Republican and Democratic political conventions.

Talks At 'Impasse,' School Officials Say

75-76 year. They are seeking an 8 per cent raise across the board for the full 1976-77 school year on a year and a half contract.

The administrators said the board has offered 4 per cent for the remainder of this year, effective on ratification; and zero to 5 per cent for next year when salaries would be tied into a management by objectives program (MBO) in which raises are earned by meeting certain goals.

The administrators said they are not opposed to the MBO concept "if an appropriate study is made." They claim the Benton Harbor MBO was borrowed from another district and is not relevant here.

2. The board of education refuses to recognize four members of the administrators association as being entitled to representation by the association.

3. There is no guarantee that the association is the exclusive bargaining agent for the administrators and that the board won't bargain individually.

4. The administrators want the right to challenge contents of their personnel files.

5. They want a due process grievance procedure for administrators in their first two years of employment on probationary status; and provision for arbitration in firings or demotions after two years.

The administrators said they are not out to protect incompetents but want discipline through due process.

State mediation was sought, Deckard said, after a meeting Tuesday with Atty. Michael Ward, of Kalamazoo, chief negotiator for the board, who presented a "take it or leave it" contract proposal.

Other members of the team at yesterday's conference were John Cooper, Mary Buesing, Robert Tunis, Ted Morris and Arnold Fege. Another member is Wallace Dunn.

POLICE ROUNDUP

Trooper Reports Attempted Bribe

A 35-year-old Battle Creek man was arrested Friday on a charge that he tried to bribe a trooper, according to state police from the Benton Harbor post.

Trooper Charles Coleman reported the bribe attempt came after he arrested a man on charges of driving under the influence of intoxicants and driving while license suspended. Coleman reported that once back in the post the man took out a $100 bill and said, "This is yours if you drop the charges and let me go."

Arrested for the driving violations and on a charge of attempting to bribe a police officer was John W. Smith, 35, Battle Creek. He was lodged in the Berrien county jail.

Smith was arrested on the driving charges after Coleman made a traffic stop on west-bound I-94 near the Niles exit, Benton township.

Alertness on the part of an off-duty Benton Harbor patrolman led to the arrest of a man on drug charges early this morning.

Arrested on two warrants charging delivery of heroin was Darnell Mulhern, 21, Benton Harbor. The two warrants for Mulhern were issued as part of a Nov. 28, 1975 Metro Drug raid.

City police reported the arrest was made about 1:35 this morning after off-duty Patrolman Robert Clemmons saw Mulhern, remembered the warrants and then notified on-duty officers who made the arrest. The arrest was made on Fair avenue near Main street. Mulhern was lodged in the Berrien county jail.

Benton Harbor police reported they arrested an 18-year-old Benton Harbor man after a reported break-in at a used furniture store Friday.

Booked and lodged in the county jail on a charge of breaking and entering was Cleveland Walls Jr., 18, of 794 Columbus avenue, Benton Harbor.

Police reported the arrest was made after they obtained information from witnesses who saw the break-in at the A&B Used Furniture store, 233 Empire avenue. Entry was gained into the store after a window was broken out. Reported taken was a lamp and a watch. Neither was recovered with the arrest.

NILES — A 33-year-old Niles man was hospitalized about 9 last night after his pickup truck slammed into a tree east of here, trapping him in the wreckage for over 30 minutes.

Listed in fair condition this morning at Pawling hospital, Niles, was James Turnbo Sr., of 1528 Grill avenue, Niles.

Howard township police said Turnbo was driving his truck on Barron Lake road east of Niles in Cass county when he apparently failed to make a curve near the road's intersection with Mannix street, police said.

Police said Turnbo was pinned in the truck's cab for over 30 minutes before he was freed by members of the Cassopolis rescue squad and wrecker service employees.

items without competitive bidding; and other "improper financial procedures."

The allegations brought a December review of the school district books by the state department of education and a request earlier this month by state Supt. John Porter for a full treasury department audit of the district's financial accounts.

The board members have denied any wrongdoing and have laid the blame for the hiring of Beyer's family at the superintendent's feet.

Board members have also pointed out that French is not a resident of the Bangor school district, but of Wood school district. Wood is a K-8 district whose high school-age youngsters go to Eau Claire.

A recall election was first announced last June when the board voted to try a second time to get voter approval of a five-mill property tax levy for school operations.

The recall was started then, one of the organizers said, because the board was not listening to public objections to additional property tax levies.

Two other property tax millage proposals were subsequently defeated. The election polls will be at the middle school and will be open from 7 a.m. until 8 p.m.

If three or fewer of the board members are recalled, the vacancies will be filled by the remainder of the board until the next school election, in June, according to Roger Boline of the state department of Education.

If four or five are unseated, Boline said, the board vacancies will be filled by appointment by Gov. Milliken until the June school election.

The school board members up for recall and a summary of their background:

Dr. Joseph Cooper, 50, a longtime Bangor-based physician now working in Memorial hospital in St. Joseph, has been a board member for 11½ years. His present term expires this year.

Forrest Gough, 56, has been on the board for five years and has been board secretary for the past year. He is employed at a grocery store in Paw Paw. His term expires in 1978.

Richard Krogel, 32, has served on the board for 3½ years. His term expires this year. He is employed by Skyline Orchards Inc.

Board President Donald Piper, 60, has served on the board for 14½ years, 12 years as president. He is co-owner of Piper Brothers Farm. His present term expires in 1977.

Fred Waite, 43, has served on the board for five years. His present term expires in 1979.

High Court Takes Lid Off Spending

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress faces an emergency election year fight over the financing of political campaigns because of a Supreme Court decision that changes some post-Watergate spending rules and clouds their enforcement. Election laws rolled through Congress in 1974 on the shoulders of reform sentiment but now must be considered again with many senators and representatives in the midst of their own campaigning.

The Supreme Court on Friday threw out limitations on campaign expenditures of privately raised money, but said it is constitutional to limit individual election contributions to $1,000.

The court also said the government could legally provide federal money to presidential candidates and require disclosure of political donors and expenses.

At the same time, however, the court ruled that the new Federal Election Commission, enforcer of the election money law, was unconstitutionally appointed.

President Ford and at least five Democratic candidates said after the ruling they would continue to limit their campaign expenditures despite it.

Under the court ruling, if they decided to surpass the $10.9 million spending limit they would be forced to quit using federal matching funds in their campaigns. The court said it was legal for distribution of the matching funds to be conditioned on limits for spending.

Left for future decision by each of the two eventual presidential nominees is whether to accept the $21.8 million spending limit for the general election campaign.

The limit on contributions of $1,000 per candidate per election by an individual and $5,000 by an organization makes fundraising tougher than in the past, when five- and six-figure contributions came from the rich.

The specific question facing Congress is what to do about the Federal Election Commission.

Several members, including Sens. Richard Schweiker, R-Pa., Hugh Scott, R-Pa., and Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said they will introduce bills to preserve the commission in a manner satisfactory to the court.

But Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, a powerful arch-critic of the commission, said he will introduce a bill to abolish it.

The court said all past decisions made by the commission would stand and that it could continue to exercise its broad powers for another month so Congress can have a chance to resolve the matter.

The court specifically found that it was unconstitutional for a commission including a majority of members nominated either by the House or Senate to execute laws whose enforcement is left by the constitution to the President or his appointees.

The quick-fix proposals for saving the commission would make all six of its members presidential appointees.

'75-'76 year.

They are seeking an 8 per cent raise across the board for the full 1976-'77 school year on a year and a half contract.

The administrators said the board has offered a 4 per cent for the remainder of this year, effective on ratification; and zero to 5 per cent for next year when salaries would be tied into a management by objectives program (MBO) in which raises are earned by meeting certain goals.

The administrators said they are not opposed to the MBO concept "if an appropriate study is made." They claim the Benton Harbor MBO was borrowed from another district and is not relevant here.

3. There is no guarantee that the association is the exclusive bargaining agent for the administrators and that the board won't bargain individually.

4. The administrators want the right to challenge contents of their personnel files.

5. They want a due process grievance procedure for administrators in their first two years of employment on probationary status, and provision for arbitration in firings or demotions after two years.

The administrators said they are not out to protect incompetents but want discipline

Election Law At A Glance

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here at a glance are the new ground rules for the 1976 presidential and congressional campaigns, based on Friday's Supreme Court ruling:

SPENDING: Senate and House candidates may spend unlimited amounts in their primary or general election campaigns.

Presidential candidates may also qualify for unlimited spending, but only if they do without federal subsidies.

Individuals and political groups may spend unlimited sums for independent expressions of political support for candidates, although direct donations of money remain subject to limits.

DONATIONS: Individuals may give only up to $1,000 in direct donations to a candidate's primary campaign, and another $1,000 to the general election campaign. Individuals can't give more than $25,000 a year in direct political donations to federal candidates.

Qualified political committees, such as those run by labor unions, special interest groups and business and professional organizations, may give up to $5,000 per candidate per election.

ENFORCEMENT: The Federal Election Commission may operate only for another 30 days with its present powers. Unless Congress changes it to allow the President to appoint all six voting members, it will lose the power to sue candidates accused of violations, to disqualify candidates who fail to file reports, or to make binding regulations. It would retain only the powers to investigate and to publish information.

DISCLOSURE: Candidates and political committees must disclose publicly any expenditures over $10 and any receipts of $100 or more. Any individual or association must also make a public disclosure when spending more than $100 a year independently to urge election or defeat of a federal candidate.

PUBLIC FINANCING: Public subsidies will continue for presidential campaigns and for the Republican and Democratic political conventions.

LEAVING DISTRICT COURT: Mrs. Mary Dent, left, chief clerk and administrator for Berrien Fifth District court, spent her last day at work yesterday explaining her job to County Clerk Forrest H. Kesterke. Kesterke will serve as acting district court administrator until appointment of replacement for Mrs. Dent who resigned from position. She has worked for county for 15 years, for the district court since 1969 and as court administrator since 1971. Mrs. Dent said she has no immediate plans for future. (Staff photo)

POLICE ROUNDUP

Trooper Reports Attempted Bribe

A 35-year-old Battle Creek man was arrested Friday on a charge that he tried to bribe a trooper, according to state police from the Benton Harbor post.

Trooper Charles Coleman reported the bribe attempt came after he arrested a man on charges of driving under the influence of intoxicants and driving while license suspended. Coleman reported that once back to the post the man took out a $100 bill and said, "This is yours if you drop the charges and let me go."

Arrested on the charge of violations and on a driving of attempting to bribe a police officer was John W. Smith, 35, Battle Creek. He was lodged in the Berrien county jail.

Smith was arrested on the driving charges after Coleman made a traffic stop on west-bound I-94 near the Niles exit, Benton township.

Alertness on the part of an off-duty Benton Harbor patrolman led to the arrest of a man on drug charges early this morning.

Arrested on two warrants charging delivery of heroin was Darnell Mulhern, 21, Benton Harbor. The two warrants for Mulhern were issued as part of a Nov. 26, 1975 Metro Drug raid.

City police reported the arrest was made about 1:35 this morning after off-duty Patrolman Robert Clemmons saw Mulhern, remembered the warrants and then notified on-duty officers who made the arrest. The arrest was made on Fair avenue near Main street. Mulhern was lodged in the Berrien county jail.

Benton Harbor police reported they arrested an 18-year-old Benton Harbor man after a reported break-in at a used furniture store Friday.

Booked and lodged in the county jail on a charge of breaking and entering was Cleveland Walls Jr., 18, of 794 Columbus avenue, Benton Harbor.

Police reported the arrest was made after they obtained information from witnesses who saw the break-in at the A&B Used Furniture store, 283 Empire avenue. Entry was gained into the store after a window was broken out. Reported taken was a lamp and a watch. Neither was recovered with the arrest.

Driver Pinned For Half-Hour

NILES — A 53-year-old Niles man was hospitalized about 9 last night after his pickup truck slammed into a tree east of here, trapping him in the wreckage for over 30 minutes.

Listed in fair condition this morning at Pawating hospital, Niles, was James Turnbo Sr., of 1528 Grill avenue, Niles.

Howard township police said Turnbo was driving his truck on Barron Lake road east of Niles in Cass county when he apparently failed to make a curve near the road's intersection with Mannix street, police said.

Police said Turnbo was pinned in the truck's cab for over 30 minutes before he was freed by members of the Cassopolis rescue squad and wrecker service employees.

Benton Harbor Tied For LMAC Lead

Bowers 'Leads' Tiger Win

By JACK WALKDEN
Staff Sports Writer

Bennie Bowers is quickly becoming the leader that Benton Harbor basketball coach Earl McKee has been looking for all season.

And Friday night he showed why. All Bowers did was toss in 17 points, pull down 23 rebounds and block three shots as the Tigers got by Muskegon 70-67 at the Colfax Gym.

More importantly the win, coupled with Muskegon Catholic Central's 81-60 victory over Grand Haven, moved Benton Harbor into a four-way tie for first place in the Lake Michigan Athletic Conference. Grand Haven, Muskegon Catholic, the Tigers and Traverse City, a 78-47 winner over Muskegon Mona Shores Friday, all stand 4-2 in league play.

Bowers combined a mixture of torrid outside shooting with some brilliant inside work for his 17-point effort.

"He has just taken over being the leader of the team," McKee said. "That's what I've been looking and waiting for all season. He really played well."

"His attitude toward the game is the big difference in his play. His attitude toward his teammates and the desire to do better make him a leader. He has always had the ability and strength to play physically. The big improvement is in his concentration."

Benton Harbor, which has now won six straight to up its overall mark to 9-4 heading into tonight's game at South Bend Washington, got double figure scoring out of three other starters. Forward Russell Steele also tossed in 17 points. Steve McNutt had 15 and Albert Watson 11.

James Parker scored 16 to lead Muskegon, which fell to 2-4 in LMAC play and 6-7 overall. But forward Tony Pannell, who scored 31 against Benton Harbor in the first meeting between the two, was held to just 14.

The Big Reds never gave up in the game. Benton Harbor appeared to break the game open on a number of occasions, but Muskegon came right back. Even when the Tigers raced out to their biggest lead of the game at 70-55 with 1:28 left, the Big Reds reeled off 12 straight points in the closing minute to make the final outcome closer than it really should have been.

"I'm really proud of this team," Muskegon coach Mike Murphy said. "They really hustled out there. They forced Benton Harbor to move the ball and made them shoot a lot of 15 to 18 foot shots. Basically that's all we can do with a small team."

McKee was also impressed with the spunky play of the Big Reds.

"We didn't start out playing as sharp as we should have," he said. "But Muskegon was moving awfully well and really hustled. We played a little better as the game went along, but they kept hustling right back in it."

The lead changed hands three times and the score was tied on four occasions in the early going. Benton Harbor took the lead for good, breaking an 8-8 tie on baskets by McNutt and Watson with less than two minutes to go in the quarter.

The Tiger lead reached 24-16 on a basket by Steele with less than five minutes to go in the half, but Benton Harbor could never really put Muskegon away. The Big Reds closed to within 33-28 at halftime.

The Tigers outscored

Muskegon 11-2 to open the second half to up their lead to 44-31 and the Big Reds never got closer than the final score after that.

McNutt's 15-point effort marked the fifth time in the last six games he has hit for double figures.

"I like his improvement," McKee says of McNutt. "He's a very dedicated kid. His play has been very instrumental in what we have done the last five or six games."

"He wasn't satisfied with his shooting early so he worked on it everyday and it's really improved."

McNutt swished seven of 14 from the floor, helping the Tigers to a 46 per cent effort on 31 of 67. Muskegon could hit on just 21 of 58 for 38 per cent.

Muskegon used free throw shooting to stay in the game, hitting on 25 of 35 from the line to just eight of 20 for Benton Harbor.

The Tigers held a commanding 49-25 rebounding edge, but turned the ball over 29 times to just 20 for the Big Reds.

Benton Harbor also won the junior varsity game 68-57 to up its record to 8-5. Ronald Page tossed in 21 and Mickey Johnson 18 for the winners.

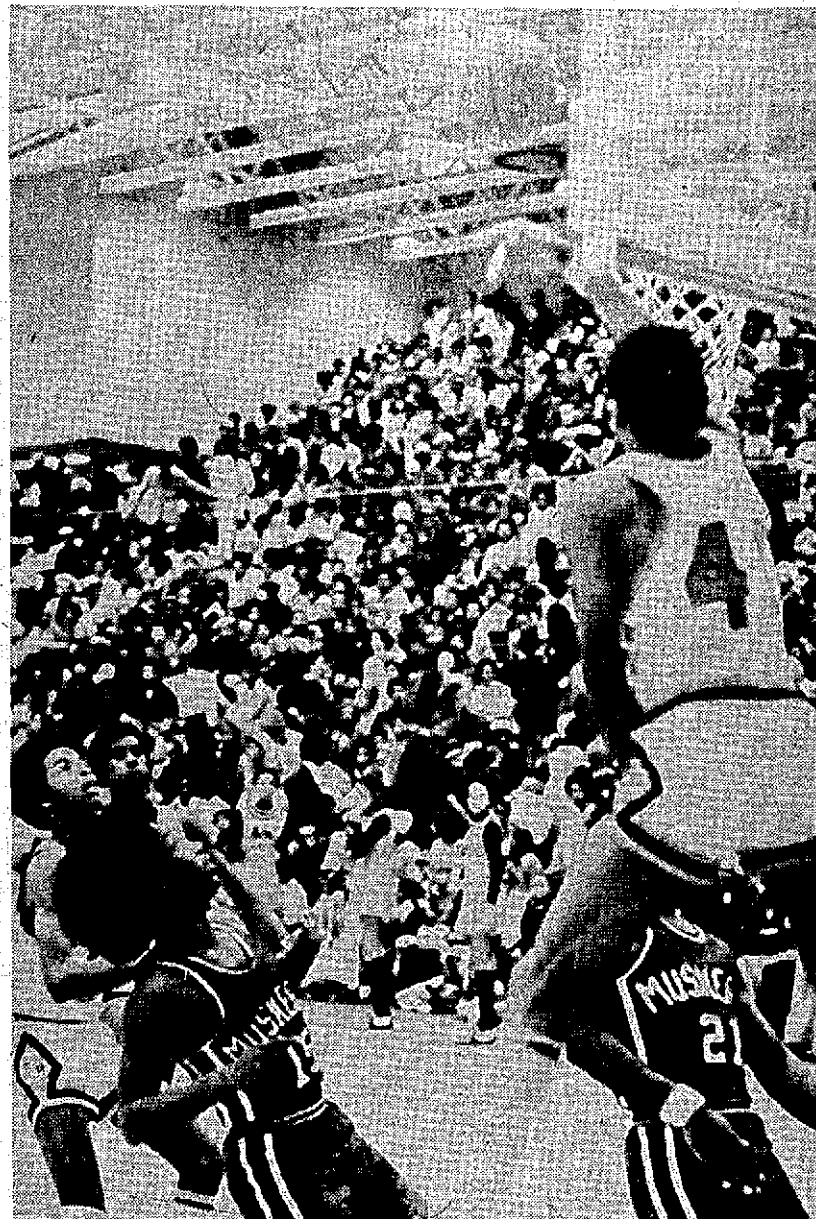

for 37 points as the Covert Jayvees won 75-70.

Saugatuck Upsets Covert
Rated Bulldogs Handed First Loop Loss

SAUGATUCK — Saugatuck dropped a bombshell on highly-rated Covert here Friday night. The Indians, taking a 5-6 overall mark going in, scored a major upset by dumping Covert 74-74 in the Allegan-Ottawa clash.

The Bulldogs, who took a 12-1 record, a seven-game win streak and No. 6 rating in Class D into the game, were outscored 23-15 in the final period to drop their first league clash after four straight wins.

"We just played very poorly, especially in the first and last quarters," commented Covert coach Rod DeYoung. "We missed lay ups, free throws and when we forced turnovers, we would turn over the ball ourselves."

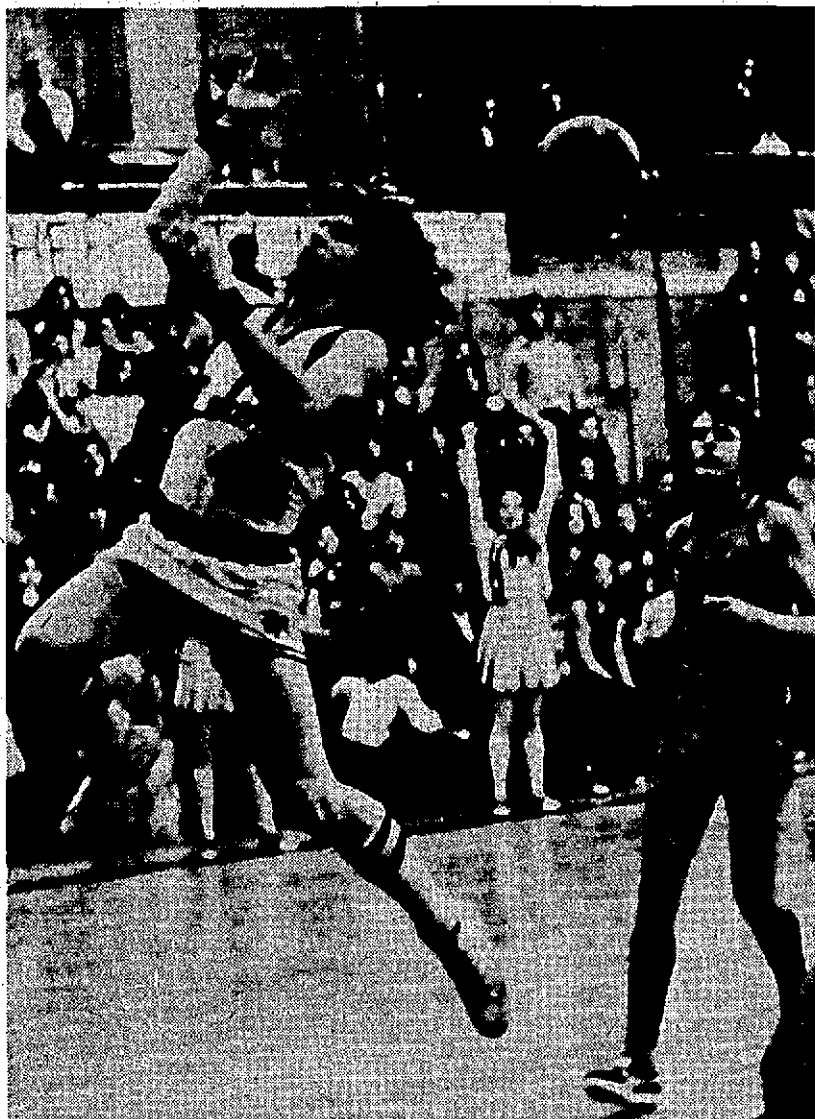

Saugatuck, 3-2 in league, was paced by Doug Forrester's 28 points. Larry Smith sank 14, Mike Jones and White 11 each and Jim Trapani 10.

The Bulldogs, had Rodney Barnes with 22, Jeff Maggett with 18, Robert Maggard 14 and George Starks 10.

The Bulldogs canned 31 of 71 shots outcourt for 44 per cent to Saugatuck's 30 of 73 for 41 per cent. Covert was 12 of 23 in foul shots, the Indians 10 of 24 for the difference in the game.

Saugatuck eld a 50-35 board advantage with Jones hauling away 20 rebounds.

Lakeview Whips SJ Swimmers

BATTLE CREEK — St. Joseph won six of the 11 events, including triples by John Worthington and Tim Momany, but lost a crucial Big Seven swimming meet to Battle Creek Lakeview 57-75 here Thursday night.

Undeclared Lakeview, now 7-0 overall and 3-0 in the conference, got three wins from Jeff Zheutlin.

St. Joe's Worthington won the 200 individual medley (2:04.9), 100 butterfly (pool record 54.6) and teamed with Momany, Fred Danaher and Tom Starks for a victory in the freestyle relay (3:27.3).

In addition to the relay, Momany also captured the 200 freestyle (1:53.5) and 500 freestyle (5:06.6).

St. Joe's other win came from Mike Botte in the 100 breaststroke (1:55.8).

"When they were winning they were winning big," noted Bear coach Bill Womer on Lakeview's effort. "It was strictly a matter of depth."

Lakeview finished one-two in the medley relay and one-two-three in diving to account for 20 of the 22-point victory margin over St. Joseph.

St. Joe, now 8-3 on the season and 2-1 in the Big Seven, swims again next Tuesday at home against Sturgis.

Gentry Leads Lakers Past Bees

BY PAUL MORGAN
Staff Sports Writer

Lake Michigan Catholic's Steve Gentry showed signs Friday night that he may be breaking out of his mid-season slump.

Benching three games ago because of his inconsistent play, Gentry was forced back into a starter's role Friday night because of an injury to Jim Brintnall. He responded with a solid floor game and some timely shooting as the Lakers downed Bridgman 64-60 in a Red Arrow conference basketball game played at the Lakers' gym.

"Without a doubt, Gentry was in a pressure situation with the injury and all," said Lakers' coach Al Nixon. "He had quite a performance."

The Lakers had been battling the flu bug all week with Tom Flood, Don Altic, Gary Bartalone and Brintnall all missing at least a day of practice. Then when Brintnall came back on Wednesday, he broke his hand diving for a loose ball.

So Gentry started and hit his first three shots, breaking him out of a scoring slump that had seen him only notch 12 points in the last eight games. But his most crucial bucket of the night came with 1:44 left when he canned a 20-foot shot from the top of the key to tie the contest at 35 all.

It ended up as the turning point for the Lakers, as Flood was fouled by Wolf Wolf under the basket on the same play. He canned both free throws to give Catholic a lead they never lost. With those two charity tosses and another pair by Gentry, Catholic jumped out to a 60-55 lead with 1:06 left. Bridgman's Dave Zilke got the Bees back to within two points, 60-58, when he hit a free throw with 36 seconds left and a 17-foot jump shot with 26 seconds to go.

But Catholic put the game away when Altic tipped in a shot and Bill Frantz hit two charity tosses with three seconds remaining.

Flood was the game's leading scorer with 24 points. He hit four of six key free throws in the quarter to help the Lakers win their eighth league game in 10 starts. Catholic is 10-5 overall.

Other Lakers in double figures included Frantz with 20 points and Gentry with 12.

Bridgman's Bob Linke played a tough inside game and ended up with 23 points to lead his team. Howie Mutz canned 18 points for the Bees' only other double digit scorer. They now stand at 6-4 in the league and 8-4 overall.

The loss for Bridgman breaks the five-game winning streak the Bees had going in the month of January.

Linke was a thorn in Catholic's side all evening. The Bees' guards would consistently lob the ball into the junior forward, who would go to the hoop immediately. He helped Bridgman hit 27 of 55 field goal tries by making 10 of 19, most coming from near the basket.

Offsetting Linke's performance was Flood, who hit eight of 10 shots in the first half for 16 points. "Flood just took the ball to the basket all night," grinned Nixon.

"I thought we played a good

"We won the game in the first half," Ram coach M. H. White said. "We played good defense in the first quarter and pressed all of the first half. Our good pressure defense was the difference."

Grimes didn't exactly hinder the South Haven chances, however. All the 6-2 junior forward did was hit on 11 of 14 from the floor as well as dish out four assists.

William Gamble contributed 20 points, while Ken Cullum came off the bench with 11.

White was especially pleased with the play of his bench.

"I was pleased with the bench play especially that of Cullum and (Mike) Williams. Williams did a good job off the bench and Cullum drove in well for layups. Williams added five points to Cullum's total-off the bench.

South Haven hit on 39 of 79 from the floor for 49 per cent, while Otsego meshed 24 of 58 for 41 per cent.

Take Step Toward Repeat Bud Championship

Bucks Flex Muscles Against Coloma

By JOHN VANDEN HEED

COLOMA — Buchanan's bumper bunch of basketball talent took another giant step toward a repeat Blossomland championship here Friday night.

The Bucks bombed Coloma 92-69 as Ken Garrett moved within 11 points of the career scoring record, the Vanderbush brothers combined for 30 points and Mike Busby rejected seven Comet shots and scored 11 rebounds.

Busby's little brother, Gerald, added 12 points and nine rebounds as unbeaten Buchanan maintained a two-game lead in the Blossomland with five conference games remaining.

"They're a great ball club, what can you do," said Coloma coach Sam Wright in praise of the Bucks afterwards.

"I think they can really go a long way (in the upcoming tournaments)."

Buchanan, 9-0 in the league, 14-0 overall and ranked No. 2 in this week's Class C Associated Press poll, held leads of 23-15 after the first quarter, 50-29 at halftime and 75-45 entering the final period before finishing with its fourth 90-point effort of the season.

Buchanan, which has the biggest average winning margin in southwestern Michigan this season, led by 39 points twice in the fourth quarter, before Coloma reserves reeled off 18 unanswered points against the Buchanan substitutes.

The fourth quarter was about the only thing Buck coach Bill Wilson could find wrong with his team's efforts. "I'm a little disappointed in the group we had in there at the end," related the Buck mentor. "They didn't play as well as they can."

Garrett, a 6-6 senior, collected 20 points to put his career total at 949 while hitting eight of 12 field goal attempts, and Walt and Kevin Vanderbush had 21 and 18 points, respectively, at the guard positions. Walt connected on a deadly 10 of 14 shots, many from long range.

Buchanan hit an excellent 40 of 79 shots overall (51 per cent), with the regulars shooting 54 per cent over the first three quarters. "We have been shooting the ball pretty well," added Wilson.

Coloma hit 30 of 73 field goals (41 per cent) while getting 12 points from Joe Jones and 10 apiece from Gregg Woodward, Jerry Gagliardo and Dennis Nitz (all in the last quarter). The Comets also meshed 9 of 15 free throws (60 per cent) while the Bucks meshed 12 of 22 (55 per cent).

Sizzling Chiefs Take 71-50 Win

Lakeshore is quickly becoming the best 16-minute basketball team in the Blossomland conference.

Unfortunately, a basketball game is 32 minutes long.

The last 16 minutes came back to haunt the Lakers again.

Lakeshore was quickly becoming the best 16-minute basketball team in the Blossomland conference.

Unfortunately, a basketball game is 32 minutes long.

The last 16 minutes came back to haunt the Lakers again.

Lloyd MacTavish said. "We just went flat. They shot 71 per cent in the second half, but they got a lot of inside shots."

Dowagiac blistered the nets on 15 of 21 second-half shots in outscoring Lakeshore 39-20. The Chiefs netted six of seven in the final quarter.

It was a balanced scoring attack which supplied Dowagiac with its strong offensive effort. Bob Waalkes led the way with 16 points, but was followed closely by Scott Wiltse with 15, Kim Mulder and Brad Manley with 14 apiece and Oran Danzy with 12.

Dowagiac coach Norm Schuring called defense the key to the win which upped the Chiefs' Blossomland conference record to 4-5 and overall mark to 5-7.

"I only played six kids tonight but those six just went out and did a job for us," he explained. "The key was our aggressive defense. We were overplaying and trying to deny them the ball. They couldn't do what they wanted to do. They took some shots that they really didn't want to take."

Lakeshore fell to 2-7 in the league and is now 2-12 overall. Its worst start since 1963-64. The poor record also has MacTavish plotting some changes for tonight's game with St. Joseph.

"I think we're going to have to get a little more full-court man-to-man pressure out of the kids," MacTavish said. "We have to do a little more running. We came out in the second half and just started standing around."

For the game, Dowagiac hit 31 of 54 for 57 per cent, while Lakeshore canned just 21 of 62 for 34 per cent.

The Chiefs also held a 41-28 rebounding margin with Waalkes pulling down 17. Jager came away with 12 for the Lakers. Lakeshore did have the better floor game, turning the ball over just 18 times to 21 turnovers for Dowagiac.

Dowagiac upset Lakeshore 53-52 in the junior varsity contest as the Lakers blew a 21-point lead in the second half.

Bridgeport led in the rebounding wars 42-28. Linke pulled down 14 and Mutz 10 for the Bees. Frantz led his team with 13. Turnovers were never a problem for either team as the Bees committed eight and the Lakers seven.

Catholic won the junior varsity game 45-40. Clancy Rose had 14 for the Lakers and Phil Ott had 22 for Bridgeport.

Toledo Resolves Player Dispute

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The Toledo Goaldiggers have resolved a dispute with the International Hockey League over their use of three players who had been declared ineligible by the league.

The players involved in the dispute are Gerry Methe, Rick Frazier and Brian McKenzie. The Goaldiggers say all three will play the remainder of the season and in any post-season games.

In exchange, Toledo will give up three victories, to be counted as ties, which will cost them three points in IHL standings.

The league contended the three players had been improperly obtained from National Hockey League teams.

Grandberry Picks Up Slack After Adams' Injury

"I was really pleased with Randy's play offensively. He really ran the team well out there."

Red-Hot Shamrocks Stampede Bisons

NEW BUFFALO — Berrien Springs gained momentum for tonight's key game with Galien by bombing New Buffalo 91-54 here Friday night.

The Shamrocks were never in any serious trouble in posting their sixth Red Arrow win in nine games. Berrien is now 8-6 overall. The Bisons fell to 1-9 and 3-12, respectively, with their third straight loss.

"They alternated man-to-man and zone defenses after each basket," New Buffalo coach

Mike Oakes said. "We made 23 turnovers in the first half and that was from whom the bell tolls. They were moving well and just dominated the backboards."

Jack Lewis made his first start of the season for Berrien Springs and helped give the Shamrocks a formidable front line. Forward Terry Hossein scored 17 points and pulled down 12 rebounds to spark Berrien. Center Fred Thiele and junior Tim Sunday each tossed in 12 and Lewis scored 11.

Guard Kirk Hansen pumped in 10.

Only junior guard Mark D'Amato was able to crack double figures for the Bisons, tossing in 16 on eight of 11 shots from the floor.

Berrien raced out to a 20-10 first-quarter lead and then sparked by Sunday's 10 second-quarter points off the bench increased the edge to 50-22 at halftime. The second half was about as exciting as watching paint dry.

The Shamrocks hit on 38 of 79 from the floor for 48 per cent, while New Buffalo found the range on 23 of 55 for 42 per cent. The Bisons committed 33 turnovers to 26 for Berrien and were outrebounded 40-29.

Grandberry Picks Up Slack After Adams' Injury

Berry Quits Lions

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Assistant Detroit Lions coach Raymond Berry has resigned to become an assistant coach of the Cleveland Browns, the National Football League club said Friday.

Backfield coach Wally English and special teams coach Ray Dempsey had said previously they will not be with the Lions next fall.

"I've tried to talk Raymond into staying," Lions coach Rick Forzano said Friday. "I'm disappointed that he's leaving because he's a super guy and a super coach."

Berry, the No. 3 receiver in pro football history (631 catches for 9,275 yards) is joining coach Forrest Gregg at the Browns. Berry will coach the pass receivers and work with veteran Blanton Collier on the overall passing game.

Berry would not say why he took the new job.

"I'm writing out a statement, but when it's finished I'm not going to elaborate," he said.

Berry's departure means Forzano has had to replace all of his associates from the staff which his predecessor, the late Don McCafferty, assembled three years ago.

Breslin Gives Up Athletic Controls At Michigan State

By SUSAN AGER
Associated Press Writer
EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — In the aftermath of a football recruiting scandal, Michigan State University's top athletic administrator has eased himself out of overseeing the school's troubled intercollegiate athletic program.

Executive vice president Jack Breslin, 55, a former captain of the Spartan football team, told MSU President Clifton Wharton in a letter Friday that "the best interests of the university will be served if this department no longer reports to me."

MSU's football program was put on three-year probation Sunday after the National Collegiate Athletic Association found it guilty of 34 violations and questionable practices, most involving recruiting of high school athletes.

The ruling is expected to cripple the school's football program.

There had been speculation for almost a week that Breslin might not be MSU's top athletic policy-maker much longer.

However, he denied that he was forced into giving up that responsibility. "It was my decision," he insisted after the announcement was made to the university's trustees. "I was not asked to do it and I was not pressed into doing it."

The announcement came as a surprise at the trustees' meeting, because Breslin has had little public exposure during the controversy and was not mentioned in the NCAA's charges.

But, he said in his letter to Wharton, "Contrary to what the facts are, I suspect it is perceived that my leadership in this area has been lacking, and because of this I request the change."

MSU's trustees decided after a seven-hour private session Thursday night not to challenge the NCAA's findings in court, despite earlier charges that the NCAA's findings were "unduly harsh" and in some cases incorrect.

The trustees said a court suit would take too much time and too much money, and said "our immediate attention should be focused upon strengthening and improving our athletic program."

MSU attorney Leland Carr Jr. acknowledged Friday that "about five" Spartan griders were declared ineligible to play ball next fall by the NCAA because of their involvement in the allegations.

A list of those players was not immediately available. The school can appeal to a special NCAA subcommittee to try to get the players deemed eligible to play by fall.

Breslin has been responsible for intercollegiate athletics for the past five years, which saw a gradual slump in MSU's football reputation. Now, the school's football and other intercollegiate programs will report directly to Wharton's office.

The NCAA probation will bar the Spartans from television and post-season bowl games, and limits the number of athletic scholarships the school can offer to top-quality high school players.

It also bars the school's top two football recruiters, assistant coaches Charles Butler and Howard Weyers, from recruiting for one and three years, respectively.

The coaches' one-year contracts, which expired Friday, were extended for an indefinite time until the trustees decide whether to transfer, dismiss or otherwise punish Butler, Weyers and Jimmy Raye, also charged with recruiting violations.

Breslin will still be responsible for several other duties at MSU, including chief university lobbyist with the state legislature.

Breslin, who jokingly says he has "green and white blood," was captain of the Spartan football team in 1945, and was named its most valuable player in 1944.

OSU Paper Wants Woody To Resign!

Would 'Ease Embarrassment'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University's student newspaper says the dean of the Big Ten football coaches, Woody Hayes, should resign.

The Lantern said in an editorial that it was time the trustees and university President Harold E. Nason took a look at the controversial coach's conduct and reach a decision.

"In spite of the furor it would create among Hayes' loyal fans, the trustees and President Nason should ask for his resignation," the Lantern wrote.

Friday: "Not only would this ease embarrassment for the university and help the players to get a coach who treats them as human beings, but it would help Hayes' legend as well."

Hayes, the editorial continued, "would fade away as a martyr before too many more 'incidents' take the polish off his shining armor."

The editorial in the laboratory newspaper for the university journalism school, was highly critical of Hayes' actions following the 23-10 loss in the Rose Bowl New Year's Day to UCLA. His dismissal from the team this week of defensive standout Nick Buonamici, and his general attitude toward the players.

Hayes, who has coached 25 seasons at the Big Ten school, was back in town following a recruiting trip, but he was unavailable for comment.

Enarson, asked if he felt Hayes had caused embarrassment as stated in the Lantern, said: "Whether a coach or anyone else is representing the university, it's essential to have some sensitivity to public opinion and press relations. I personally wish there had been some comment, however brief, before he (Hayes) got back (from California) to Columbus."

No More Days Off For Bulls

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Chicago Bulls can stop calling Dick Motta "Mr. Nice Guy."

"I don't think I'm going to give my players any more days off," says the Chicago coach.

Motta was understandably distressed Friday night after watching his Bulls drop a 91-89 decision to the Cleveland Cavaliers, enhancing Chicago's position as the National Basketball Association's worst team this year.

"They came out here and it was like 'Blue Monday,'" Motta said. "They couldn't move at all."

and the Portland Trail Blazers downed the Los Angeles Lakers 121-113.

Bobby Smith and Jim Chones came off the bench midway through the fourth quarter and collected six points each to help Cleveland edge Chicago. A layup by Bob Love with 3:38 to go put the Bulls ahead for the last time before four consecutive free throws by Smith and Jim Brewer gave Cleveland a three-point bulge.

Pete Maravich scored 31 points to help New Orleans beat New York and snap a four-game losing streak.

Bob Lanier, recovered from a shoulder separation that idled him earlier in the month, scored 25 points and hauled down 17 rebounds to power Detroit past Kansas City.

Fred Brown and Tommy Burleson combined for 57 points to lead Seattle over Washington.

Sidney Wicks and Geoff Petrie pumped in 30 points each, leading Portland past Los Angeles.

He noted that following the Rose Bowl defeat Hayes, 53, took to the road for intensive recruiting.

"Recruiting is the name of the game," the president said.

Enarson also was critical of the West Coast press, saying they had "brutally criticized Hayes."

Asked if Hayes would be back next year as head coach, Enarson replied: "I have no reason to think otherwise."

Enarson also was asked about the charges in the editorial that Hayes' treatment of Buonamici was cruel. "I do not know what happened there," said Enarson. "I don't know if it was a disciplinary action. If it was, it's done all the time around campus. The university under law cannot release confidential information from student files."

Hayes has declined comment about the Buonamici incident.

Buonamici's only remarks were that he did not know why he was dismissed and that he didn't feel he deserved such treatment.

The hapless Bulls had a shot to tie the game in the last 19 seconds, but blew it. Leon Benbow took a good shot, but missed — and thus Chicago's record dropped to 14-32.

"Even though we've lost several games by two points, I can't get down on our players — but that doesn't mean they won't be working hard the rest of the season," Motta said.

Ara Named 'Star' Coach

CHICAGO (AP) — Former Notre Dame football Coach Ara Parseghian accepted Thursday an invitation to rejoin the college coaching ranks — but only for one game.

Parseghian, 52, who retired at the end of the 1974 season, will coach the 1976 College AllStars in the annual game against the National Football League champions, according to the Chicago Tribune. Parseghian, whose 1966 and 1973 Notre Dame teams won national championships.

His squad will meet the two-time NFL champion Pittsburgh Steelers on the night of July 23 in Chicago.

"This job will give me an opportunity to coach in 1976 without making a full year of it," said Parseghian, who added that his decision to accept the job is no indication that he plans to return to full-time coaching. "It has no bearing on my future."

Will Stadium Be Ready?

By GEOFFREY MILLER
AP Sports Writer
INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP) — The inner cabinet of the Olympic Games scheduled an all-day meeting today to examine the problems of the Montreal Summer Games "with a fine comb."

A spokesman of the International Olympic Committee used the term as Victor Goldbloom, the man responsible for trying to get Montreal's half-built stadium ready in time, prepared to face the IOC executive board.

Goldbloom is Municipal Affairs Minister of the Quebec provincial government. He already has said that Montreal's stadium will be far from finished by the scheduled opening date of the games, July 17.

But after a series of contradictory statements by Montreal officials during the last month, Goldbloom said this week the site will be ready for the track and field and swimming. Facilities for the other 19 sports in the Olympic program are ready.

The IOC spokesman announced in advance that Goldbloom will not give a press conference after his meeting with the executive board, but that any statements will be made by the IOC president, Lord Killanin.

"We feel it is better if everyone follows the same path," the spokesman said. "It is possible that if two people give press conferences they may not agree, or the press might persuade them to contradict each other."

It was clear the executive board is concerned over the delicacy of the Montreal situation.

"The Montreal report will be examined with a fine comb," the spokesman said. "It is not only a question of whether the stadium will be finished. The executive board will want to go deeply into the organization of the Games."

Monique Berlioux, director of the IOC, said that track and field is the only serious problem.

"We are almost sure that swimming will be all right," she said.

The swimming pool is part of the main stadium project. Goldbloom said recently a contingency plan for track and field might be considered.

Killanin presides over the executive board with his three vice-presidents — Willi Daume of West Germany, Juan Antonio Samaranch of Spain and Major Sylvio de Magalhães Padilha of Brazil — and five other members.

They include Jim Worrall of Canada, a member of the Montreal Organizing Committee.

The Canadians have to appear again before the full session of the IOC next Monday.

Woods Breaks High Jump Mark At Millrose Games

NEW YORK (AP) — Someone in the stands hollered to high jumper Tom Woods: "This is your leap, brother!" And as police escorted the boisterous onlooker from Madison Square Garden, Woods set a Wanamaker Millrose Games record with the best indoor jump of his career.

It was well after midnight and all other events had been completed. Most of the 18,000-plus crowd at the Garden had left, believing they had seen the best of the 68th annual games when Houston McTear erased another games record in the 60-yard dash.

"I don't like the track at Eugene," he said, "but I've had some of my best jumps there. There are just a lot of little things that have bothered me there in the past that I've got to get over."

McTear, the high school sensation from Florida who is coholder of the world 100-yard dash record at 9.0 seconds, equalled a Millrose record in the 60 with a time of 5.9. Harvey Glance of Auburn was second in 6.1.

"My start was a little off," said McTear, whose father recently suffered a stroke and will never be able to work again. McTear says he tries not to let that bother him, however, and is looking forward to the Summer Olympics in Montreal.

A Garden record fell in the women's high jump when Joni Huntley, an Oregon State sophomore, cleared the bar at 6-2 1/2. Bridget Bittner and Julie White, both of Canada, tied for second at 5-10.

Miss Huntley missed three tries at 6-3 for the indoor record. "I felt pretty good at 6-3," she said, "but my legs caught the bar. I don't know what happened."

But Woods' leap of 7 feet, 4 1/2 inches not only shattered the Millrose record of 7-2 1/4 by John Thomas in 1964, it was the best Woods has ever done indoors and the first time in two years he's won an indoor meet.

"I was just ready for a good jump," said Woods, an Oregon State University student running for the Pacific Coast Club. "But I've got to get a little smoother, more fluid in my run."

With Gilbert kicking away 29 shots and Greg Sheppard getting a goal and two assists, the Bruins swept to their fifth consecutive National Hockey League victory Friday night, trimming Atlanta 4-2 before the Flames' first 15,241 sellout crowd of the season. The triumph was Boston's 13th in 15 starts. Atlanta has won only once in its last nine tries.

"The game was tough for all the guys," said Gilbert, who ran his winning streak to 11 games. "We played last night and the plane landed at 4 a.m. We felt tired, but we came on strong."

"I need a little rest now for three or four days. I've played 26 out of the last 28 games and Wood missed three attempts at the world indoor record with the bar set at 7-6 1/4.

Woods is now pointing toward the Olympic trials in Eugene, Ore., this summer.

Atlanta (AP) — Boston goalie Gilles Gilbert was tired and weary, he said, but it was the Atlanta Flames who fell asleep.

I'm tired. I can't play every day."

"I think we'd better wake up," said Atlanta goalie Dan Bouchard, who surrendered the winning goal on a 40-foot slap shot by Gary Doak "that I never saw."

In the only other NHL contests, the Montreal Canadiens nipped the California Golden Seals 5-4 and the Vancouver Canucks turned back the Washington Capitals 4-2.

Doug Risebrough scored what proved to be the winning goal early in the third period as the Canadiens held off a late California rally to extend their West Coast unbeaten string to 40 games.

Vancouver rookie Rick Blight scored his 17th and 18th goals of the season, including the tiebreaker midway through the final period.

Seattle May Get Team Today

NEW YORK (AP) — The city of Seattle is expected to get a baseball team today.

That move, plus discussion on further major league expansion, was expected to take place when American League owners meet here at a downtown hotel.

Earlier this month at Phoenix, the 12 AL owners decided in principle to expand to Seattle in 1977, as well as discuss possible expansion to 14 teams.

If the owners do okay the move to Seattle, that would negate a $72.5 million damage suit now underway in Everett, Wash.

Breslin Gives Up Athletic Controls At Michigan State

By SUSAN AGER
Associated Press Writer
EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — In the aftermath of a football recruiting scandal, Michigan State University's top athletic administrator has eased himself out of overseeing the school's troubled intercollegiate athletic program.

Executive vice president Jack Breslin, 55, a former captain of the Spartan football team, told MSU President Clifton Wharton in a letter Friday that "the best interests of the university will be served if this department no longer reports to me."

MSU's football program was put on three-year probation Sunday after the National Collegiate Athletic Association found it guilty of 34 violations and questionable practices, most involving recruiting of high school athletes.

The ruling is expected to cripple the school's football program.

There had been speculation for almost a week that Breslin might not be MSU's top athletic policy-maker much longer.

However, he denied that he was forced into giving up that responsibility. "It was my decision," he insisted after the announcement was made to the university's trustees. "I was not asked to do it and I was not pressed into doing it."

The announcement came as a surprise at the trustees' meeting, because Breslin has had little public exposure during the controversy and was not mentioned in the NCAA's charges.

But, he said in his letter to Wharton, "Contrary to what the facts are, I suspect it is perceived that my leadership in this area has been lacking, and because of this I request the change."

MSU's trustees decided after a seven-hour private session Thursday night not to challenge the NCAA's findings in court, despite earlier charges that the NCAA's findings were "unduly harsh" and in some cases incorrect.

OSU Paper Wants Woody To Resign!

Would 'Ease Embarrassment'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University's student newspaper says the dean of the Big Ten football coaches, Woody Hayes, should resign.

The Lantern said in an editorial that it was time the trustees and university President Harold Enarson took a look at the controversial coach's conduct and reach a decision.

"In spite of the furor it would create among Hayes' loyal fans, the trustees and President Enarson should ask for his resignation," the Lantern wrote Friday. "Not only would this ease embarrassment for the university and help the players to get a coach who treats them as human beings, but it would help Hayes' legend as well."

Hayes, the editorial continued, "would fade away as a martyr before too many more 'incidents' take the polish off his shining armor."

The editorial in the laboratory newspaper for the university journalism school, was highly critical of Hayes' actions following the 23-10 loss in the Rose Bowl New Year's Day to UCLA, his dismissal from the team this week of defensive standout Nick Buonamici, and his general attitude toward the players.

Hayes, who has coached 25 seasons at the Big Ten school, was back in town following a recruiting trip, but he was unavailable for comment.

Enarson, asked if he felt Hayes had caused embarrassment as stated in the Lantern, said: "Whether a coach or anyone else is representing the university, it's essential to have some sensitivity to public opinion and press relations. I personally wish there had been some comment, however brief, before he (Hayes) got back (from California) to Columbus."

No More Days Off For Bulls

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Chicago Bulls can stop calling Dick Motta "Mr. Nice Guy."

"I don't think I'm going to give my players any more days off," says the Chicago coach.

Motta was understandably distressed Friday night after watching his Bulls drop a 91-89 decision to the Cleveland Cavaliers, enhancing Chicago's position as the National Basketball Association's worst team this year.

"They came out here and it was like 'Blue Monday,'" Motta said. "They couldn't move at all."

The hapless Bulls had a shot to tie the game in the last 19 seconds, but blew it. Leon Benbow took a good shot, but missed — and thus Chicago's record dropped to 14-32.

"Even though we've lost several games by two points, I can't get down on our players — but that doesn't mean they won't be working hard the rest of the season," Motta said.

In the other NBA games, the New Orleans Jazz whipped the New York Knicks 119-97; the Detroit Pistons stopped the Kansas City Kings 101-94; the Seattle SuperSonics trimmed the Washington Bullets 123-100.

Ara Named 'Star' Coach

CHICAGO (AP) — Former Notre Dame football Coach Ara Parseghian accepted Thursday an invitation to rejoin the college coaching ranks — but only for one game.

Parseghian, 52, who retired at the end of the 1974 season, will coach the 1976 College All-Stars in the annual game against the National Football League champions, according to the Chicago Tribune. Parseghian, Inc., sponsor of the game.

"I'm looking forward to the experience," said Parseghian, whose 1966 and 1973 Notre Dame teams won national championships.

His squad will meet the two-time NFL champion Pittsburgh Steelers on the night of July 23 in Chicago.

"This job will give me an opportunity to coach in 1976 without making a full year of it," said Parseghian, who added that his decision to accept the job is no indication that he plans to return to full-time coaching. "It has no bearing on my future."

Rice Saves MSU
EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan's State Daryl Rice scored a goal with one minute left in overtime Friday night to give the Spartans a 5-4 win over Wisconsin.

The victory for MSU broke an eight-game losing streak at home.

Republicans' Boss Keeps Party Going

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — In three years, state Republican Chairman William McLaughlin has suffered the buffeting of Watergate, a crushing party debt, major GOP election losses and unrest in his own ranks. Yet, according to party insiders, he has emerged stronger than ever to direct the nuts-and-bolts party operation this election year. His handling of the problems won respect and broad, if not unanimous, allegiance in the party.

"He can stay on as long as he wants to," said Senate Republican Leader Robert Davis of Gaylord. "He is the kind of man the Republican party needs in Michigan — he has given it great credibility."

"He kept the party alive in some very difficult times," ad-

Truck Hijack Thwarted

GRAND HAVEN, Mich. (AP) — Western Michigan authorities clamped a lid of secrecy upon a truck hijacking Friday amid reports they knew about plans for the crime in advance and replaced the truck driver with a policeman.

Four persons were in custody on varying felony charges after Ottawa County sheriff's officers and Grand Rapids police recovered the hijacked truck and its $110,000 cargo of copper. Authorities said the truck held 20 tons of the metal.

Two men in separate autos forced the truck off U.S. 31 Thursday morning, south of Grand Haven. Then they took control of the vehicle at gunpoint and drove off.

Authorities said the truck was bound from Muskegon to Sycamore, Ill. The hijacked truck and its cargo wound up at a scrap metal yard in Grand Rapids.

One of the few things authorities would say about the case was that the truck and its cargo stayed under their surveillance at the yard for almost eight hours until the four were in custody. Names of those in custody were not disclosed.

The Grand Rapids Press reported authorities seemingly had advance knowledge of the hijacking plans and replaced the regular driver with an undercover officer.

The Muskegon Chronicle reported that the driver during the hijacking was an Ottawa County deputy.

Sheriff Bernard O. Grysen said the arrests came after a month-long investigation by his department. The sheriff said he expects more arrests and releasing identities of those in custody could jeopardize the chance to catch others involved.

philosophical differences," he said.

One reason there are no splits is that McLaughlin worked actively to head off mutterings of discontent from local Republicans who felt they were being ignored and it was costing them elections.

"For several years there was considerable grumbling that the party was too inbred — that there was a small-circle which guarded its power and prerogatives," said one Republican.

"There was a feeling that McLaughlin and others regarded the party as their own."

The dissatisfaction peaked a year ago with meetings between some dissident state lawmakers and the governor, but fizzled as McLaughlin was elected to a new two-year term — his fourth since 1969. But it did set off efforts to patch over the differences.

"Things have improved — there is less bad-mouthing between legislators and state central," a lawmaker said.

"The atmosphere is much more productive," said state Rep. John Engler, R-Mount Pleasant, one of the grumblers and now head of the House GOP finance committee. "There is more cooperation — everybody's adopted the attitude that the most important problem is the 1976 election."

Convict Is Hoffa Informant

DETROIT (AP) — A New Jersey man in prison for murder has been identified as the mystery informant who told U.S. investigators that James R. Hoffa was slain in Michigan and shipped for burial in an East Coast garbage dump.

Ralph "Little Ralph" Picardo, 32, of Little Falls, N.J., was identified in court papers by attorney William Bufalino as the informant who also made several telephone calls in December to Stephen Andretta, 40, an official of Teamsters Local 560 in Union City, N.J.

Hoffa, former Teamsters president, disappeared from a suburban Detroit parking lot last July 30.

Sources close to the investigation of his disappearance said a New Jersey underworld informant, now believed to be Picardo, told federal agents Hoffa was killed in Michigan and his body shipped to New Jersey for burial in Moscatello Dump, a swampy landfill sight beneath the Pulaski Skyway in Jersey City.

The FBI obtained a warrant to search the dump, but no digging ever took place.

Picardo, a former independent trucker, was sentenced to a 17-to-23-year term at Trenton State Prison in New Jersey on May 2, 1975 after being convicted of second degree murder and conspiracy to commit murder in the death of Nicholas Trombetta, 22, of Holoken.

A spokesman for the New Jersey Department of Institutions and Agencies said Friday that Picardo has been held in maximum security and does not have direct access to a telephone. He also said Picardo was in prison at the time of Hoffa's abduction.

Andretta, who is being represented by Bufalino, recently began testifying before a grand jury here. The government wants to ask him what he knows about Hoffa's disappearance.

Andretta had been imprisoned on contempt-of-court charges for initially refusing to cooperate with the grand jury probe.

The identity of Picardo was revealed when his name surfaced in notes Andretta had written in court to Bufalino, asking his attorney how to answer the grand jury questions.

According to the notes, Andretta was asked whether he had received a telephone message on Dec. 4 that Little Ralph had called him.

Democratic Chief's Come A Long Way

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Morley Winograd has kept his head low, watched his tongue, worked hard — and now receives high marks for his performance as chairman of the state Democratic Party.

Winograd stumbled into the public eye three years ago with a couple of gaffes which embarrassed and angered party powers. But he has lived them down, and, helped by Democratic contentment with 1974 election results, enters this key election year with laurels for his organizing and fund-raising abilities.

"Morley is excellent," enthused state Senate Majority Leader William Fitzgerald of Detroit. "He's the most organized administrator of a political unit I've seen."

Even those cool to Winograd at first laud his behind-the-scenes job. "He's kind of like your dentist — you don't get excited over your dentist but you expect him to be competent," said Sen. Dale Kildee, D-Flint. "Morley is a good executive who serves local organizations and the party well."

Such praise has not always followed Winograd. He began his tenure as chairman by antagonizing the press in a wild Capitol news conference, tearing up a reporter's notes. Later he said it was "a noble gesture" for the Senate Democrats not to oust Sen. Charles Youngblood while his appeals in a bribery case were pending.

While both incidents damaged Winograd's image and relations with the press more than undermining the party, Democratic leaders winced and hinted darkly that if Winograd continued to put his foot in his mouth, he would have to go.

Winograd was called in for some advice from Douglas Fraser, vice president of the United Auto Workers union and the most powerful outside-the-party shotcaller in the Democratic ranks. While Winograd still flirts with conversational pitfalls occasionally, he has learned to avoid the kind of bald statements which reporters leap on.

In addition, Democratic fortunes have made it easier to be chairman. They staged two stunning upsets in special congressional elections in 1974 as Republicans staggered under Watergate and the economy.

In the general election, Democrats seized more congressional seats, took over the state Senate, expanded their margin in the House, easily retained the secretary of state and attorney general's posts and won statewide education seats. Only the governor's office continued to frustrate them.

"We start off with an advantage in 1976," Winograd said. "The gains we made in 1974 were in many ways permanent ones, not ones which will fade away as Watergate fades away. The Republicans lost a lot of affiliation and voters."

"Since becoming chairman, Winograd has expanded work with local organizations, found ways to fund it and increased the party's technological abilities in polling and acquiring voter data. He hopes this year to parlay that into winning more congressional seats and retaining Sen. Philip Hart's post for the Democrats."

"The basic Democratic strength is holding firm," he said. "I have to make sure at the national convention and the state convention we don't divide so badly we can't win."

Indeed, overseeing the diverse elements of the Democratic party is a unique task which Winograd also reportedly does well. He has to remain on good terms with Democrats, who range from Wallaceites on the right to McGovernites on the left.

"He has managed to maintain reasonably good harmony among the divergent groups in the party," said Secretary of State Richard Austin, one of the state's most well-known party members. Kildee added that Winograd "treats everybody well, and he's fair and impartial."

Fitzgerald called him "a good political strategist who understands the pressures within the party. He's very astute."

Besides keeping Democrats from each other's throats, Winograd also has the problem of being chairman of a party with no single identifiable leader. Naturally, Winograd's pronouncements don't carry the weight of those of Gov. William Milliken, and the party suffers from a lack of a prominent spokesman.

"The party has not been able to elect a chief executive," Austin said, "and Morley Winograd has not been able to fully demonstrate his capabilities."

Thus the party leadership is spread among Austin, Fitzgerald, House Speaker

MORLEY WINOGRAD
State Democrat chairman

Bobby Crim, Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley — and the UAW. No party chairman exists without Doug Fraser's OK, and the union exerts virtual veto power over statewide candidates, so Winograd has several people to whom he must answer.

But Winograd disputes that labor dictates Democratic policy and strategy. "In practice it is not that way, and politics is not that simple."

It was a quick rise through party ranks for the round, cherubic clothing salesman from Troy, who first got the political bug in 1960 when John Kennedy enthralled him with his Peace Corps address in Ann Arbor. Now 33, he began his political work in 1968, was Oakland County chairman for two years, and was elected state chairman in 1973 and re-elected last year.

To Winograd, that demonstrates the openness of the party. "I can become chairman, anyone can become chairman," he said as an example — and grinned quickly as he recognized his old foot-in-mouth faux pas.

But Winograd says he's "a lot more at ease" with the press, and enjoying organizing and running party affairs.

'Agripower' A Weapon, Butz Says

By PATRICK CONNOLLY
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — America should grow more aware of agriculture as "an arsenal" in dealing with foreign countries, says Secretary of Agriculture Earl R. Butz.

"Agripower and petropower" are the two emerging weapons of international diplomacy, Butz said Friday in answer to questions after a speech to members of the Michigan Farm Bureau.

"I would vigorously oppose the general use of agriculture as a pawn on the diplomatic chessboard of the State Department," Butz said. He would, however, favor "the selective use of agripower to wield influence in the world," he said.

"The more people we can get extending lifelines into our country like that, the more they become dependent on us, the more they don't dare risk jeopardizing that lifeline."

"This is a positive use of agripower," he said.

Butz said he is "positive that America's suspension of grain shipments to Russia last summer caused the Soviets to 'sit on their hands' while the United States helped negotiate a successful Sinai treaty."

Butz complained that the American farmer still gets unfairly blamed for rising food prices while labor does not get blamed enough. Food prices this year will go up 4.5 to 5 percent over 1975, less than the general price level increase, he said.

There is only about five cents worth of wheat in the loaf of bread that costs from 40 to 60 cents, he said.

"In the big cities of America today, it costs more to move that loaf of bread from the bakery door to the supermarket shelf than it costs to put the wheat in it — and the woman who complains the loudest about the cost is often the wife of the man who drives the delivery truck," Butz wisecracked.

"Now I am not complaining because he gets well paid. I want him well paid. He is our customer. But I would like to see him do a day's work," Butz said.

He added that remark will probably bring a call for his resignation from George Meany, AFL-CIO president.

Friday night, in a speech before a group of businessmen in Owosso, Butz hammered away at the need for reviving the "old-fashioned virtue of a day's work for a day's pay."

He scoffed at the trend toward "ever more social welfare and an ever stronger, more centralized government," and called for a reawakening of the importance of individual initiative.

"We must realize and no longer pretend that government can solve every problem for every individual," he said. "To believe government can solve all social injustice, all economic ills or all moral weakness is to weaken the ideals of individual freedom and personal liberty."

"People on welfare here live better than the top one-third of the people anywhere else in the world," he added, "and there's plenty right about that."

Butz also was to make an appearance today at the Midwest Republican Leadership Conference in Dearborn.

Republicans' Boss Keeps Party Going

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — In three years, state Republican Chairman William McLaughlin has suffered the buffeting of Watergate, a crushing party debt, major GOP election losses and unrest in his own ranks.

Yet, according to party insiders, he has emerged stronger than ever to direct the nuts-and-bolts party operation this election year. His handling of the problems won respect, and broad, if not unanimous, allegiance in the party.

"He can stay on as long as he wants to," said Senate Republican Leader Robert Davis of Gaylord. "He is the kind of man the Republican party needs in Michigan — he has given it great credibility."

"He kept the party alive in some very difficult times," added Michael Dively, former House member and now deputy director in the Department of Commerce.

McLaughlin also enjoys the complete confidence of Gov. William Milliken — which protects him against any intra-party sniping. A "Milliken moderate," he plays a major role in political matters which do not directly affect party operations.

For example, he is part of the weekly "leadership meeting" between Milliken and GOP legislative leaders.

The close ties to the governor's office and U.S. Sen. Robert Griffin led to grumbles the party was closed at the top — that its only function was to maintain Milliken, Griffin and McLaughlin in office.

But McLaughlin remains carefully in the background as the number three man, letting Milliken and Griffin speak for the party. "He is cautious with the press — he can't cause controversy," Dively said.

People who describe McLaughlin use the same adjectives — extremely energetic and hard-working, a devoted Republican and an honest and thoroughly professional politician. He is thoughtful and direct but not overbearing in meetings, and is also highly regarded in the national party where he has held some top posts.

Friendly and courteous, but reserved, he is not given to small chatter and back-slapping. But attractively slim and white-haired at 43, he can "charge up the troops" with a roaring partisan speech. He is complemented by bouncy executive director Jerry Roe, who does much of the party legwork and detail.

McLaughlin vigorously defends his self-appointed title of "professional politician."

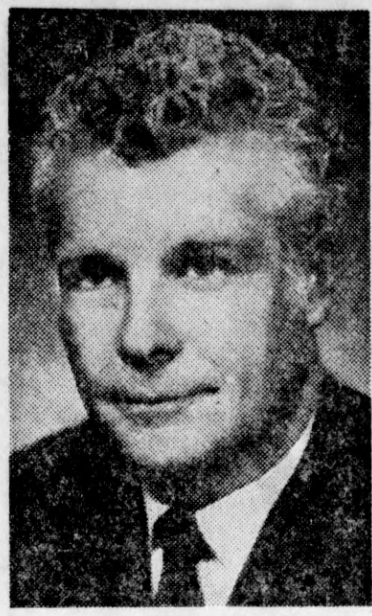

"It's a challenge — you can accomplish something to make government and life a wee bit better with the election with good men or women," he said.

"I get very defensive when I hear someone criticizing politicians," he said crisply. "My Irish hackles go up and I double my fists. It's an honorable profession, and I get very disgusted when politicians conduct themselves in such a way that people are disenchanted with them."

McLaughlin says the future of the state GOP is brighter than in several years. The debt has been reduced from about $1 million to $125,000, and party spirit and activity at the local level "is the highest in 10 years."

With the Watergate factor on the decline and the economy picking up, he foresees Republicans reclaiming some of the state House seats they lost two years ago. And he talks hopefully of taking the U.S. Senate seat to be vacated by Democratic Sen. Philip Hart.

"The morale and unity is good, and there are no deep divisions — only some

WILLIAM McLAUGHLIN
Michigan GOP chairman

philosophical differences," he said.

One reason there are no splits is that McLaughlin worked actively to head off mutterings of discontent from local Republicans who felt they were being ignored and it was costing them elections.

"For several years there was considerable grumbling that the party was too inbred — that there was a small circle which guarded its power and prerogatives," said one Republican. "There was a feeling that McLaughlin and others regarded the party as their own."

The dissatisfaction peaked a year ago with meetings between some dissident state lawmakers and the governor, but fizzled as McLaughlin was elected to a new two-year term — his fourth since 1969. But it did set off efforts to patch over the differences.

"Things have improved — there is less bad-mouthing between legislators and state central," a lawmaker said.

"The atmosphere is much more productive," said state Rep. John Engler, R-Mount Pleasant, one of the grumblers and now head of the House GOP finance committee. "There is more cooperation — everybody's adopted the attitude that the most important problem is the 1976 election."

Truck Hijack Thwarted

GRAND HAVEN, Mich. (AP) — Western Michigan authorities clamped a lid of secrecy upon a truck hijacking Friday amid reports they knew about plans for the crime in advance and replaced the truck driver with a policeman.

Four persons were in custody on varying felony charges after Ottawa County sheriff's officers and Grand Rapids police recovered the hijacked truck and its $110,000 cargo of copper. Authorities said the truck held 20 tons of the metal.

Two men in separate autos forced the truck off U.S. 31 Thursday morning south of Grand Haven. Then they took control of the vehicle at gunpoint and drove off.

Authorities said the truck was bound from Muskegon to Sycamore, Ill. The hijacked truck and its cargo wound up at a scrap metal yard in Grand Rapids.

One of the few things authorities would say about the case was that the truck and its cargo stayed under their surveillance at the yard for almost eight hours until the four were in custody. Names of those in custody were not disclosed.

The Grand Rapids Press reported authorities seemingly had advance knowledge of the hijacking plans and replaced the regular driver with an undercover officer.

The Muskegon Chronicle reported that the driver during the hijacking was an Ottawa County deputy.

Sheriff Bernard O. Grysen said the arrests came after a month-long investigation by his department. The sheriff said he expects more arrests and releasing identities of those in custody could jeopardize the chance to catch others involved.

DRIVERVIEW DRIVE

UNCONSCIOUS: Unconscious woman resident of Wincrest Nursing and Rest Home on Chicago's North Side is rushed by Chicago fireman to ambulance Friday afternoon. Thirteen persons perished and at least 30 others were injured in the blast. (AP Wirephoto)

Nursing Home Fatal Blaze Cause Unknown

MICHAEL KUCHWARA
Associated Press Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — "I feel sad so many people were injured and there was nothing I could do to help them," said a priest after a fire in a nursing home killed 13 residents and injured at least 30 others. The blaze broke out as he was saying Mass in the home's chapel.

The Rev. William Pollard said the fire alarm rang as he finished celebrating Mass on the top floor at the Wincrest Nursing and Rest Home. He left the chapel and found the hallway filled with smoke.

Quinn said the blaze started in a room near the chapel and spread into the adjacent hallway. The area near the chapel "is where most of the injuries and dead came from," he said.

The cause of the blaze was not determined immediately. Fire officials estimated damage at $6,000, most of it due to smoke and water.

Most of the injured, whose ages ranged from 65 to 82, were treated for smoke inhalation and not burns, spokesmen at three area hospitals said. One fireman suffered a heart attack inside the nursing home and was hospitalized.

"We didn't know who was breathing and who was not. We were just trying to keep the breathing ones breathing," said Thomas Altman, a policeman and one of the first to reach the floor. "There were people lying all over the place."

One of the injured, Mary Dietrich, a head nurse at the home, said it was hard to get the people out because there were so many wheel chairs.

A social worker said 83 persons were believed in the home which had a capacity of 88. About 40 residents stayed in the building after the blaze was out, a fire official said.

Edward F. King, assistant city health commissioner, said the brick building, built in 1952, was inspected Jan. 8 and found to be in good condition.

Building inspectors also found the structure sound in an inspection last September and said it was constructed from fire-resistant materials and had concrete reinforced floors, walls and roofs.

Mayor Richard J. Daley appointed a special panel to investigate the blaze which will "seek to determine whether there should be any additions to the city (fire) codes."

U.S. Sen. Charles Percy visited the scene of the fire with Richard Friedman, regional director of the federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

"We have nothing to indicate that there were any major or minor deficiencies" in the safety procedures used in the home, said Friedman.

Nationwide Hunt On For Tot's Mother

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Police are looking for a California woman they say is believed to have dumped her young son in the French Quarter here during a cross-country hitchhiking tour.

The woman, known only as Pat, is believed heading toward San Diego, Detective Ronald Cannatella said today.

The little boy, about 3 years old, remained unidentified for the past week, happily playing on swings and slides at the Volunteers of America Home and downing hearty meals.

Then free-lance photographer Salvatore V. Gagliano saw pictures of the abandoned child in local papers and recalled a few pictures he had taken of a sleeping woman and a child in a park a week before.

The child was obviously the same and in today's editions, the Times-Picayune ran a copyright picture and offered prints to the New Orleans Police Department.

"I spent all day passing out that photo and talking to people, and I finally managed to meet their running mates, a white woman and a black dude who had decided they were going to stay here a few days more," said Cannatella.

"They said they'd been hitchhiking with Pat and a black guy named Shenandoah for about two months and that Pat kept complaining about the child, saying she was going to dump it someday."

"Then they didn't see Pat for a day, and the next day she didn't have the child," said Cannatella. "They asked her where it was and she said she didn't know."

Cannatella said the pair here knew only that the child's name is Clifford and that he was born in Mercy Hospital in San Francisco.

"We'll be sending hand prints and foot prints in the hospital later today to get a positive identification," said Cannatella. "In the meantime, we hear the mother is headed back to San Diego."

As police search for the baby's mother, the toddler seems perfectly happy in the VOA Home nursery.

The child still relates warmly to men and greets all women as "Mama" — although he still watches the door for his mother to return.

Hundreds of people in the New Orleans area have already called, volunteering to take him in as a foster child or to adopt him.

But the Foster Care Services division of Louisiana Family Services Agency must conduct a four-month search for the child's parents before any court action can be taken to place him in a foster home or make him eligible for adoption.

So the nationwide search for his mother began.

ROME (AP) — Michelin's recently published wine and food guide for Italy has spoiled appetites and sparked debate in Italian culinary circles that take pride in the country's "ottima" — ultimate — class of cooking.

The French tiremaker's 1976 red guide failed to find a single Italian restaurant worthy of a three-star rating and gave only one eatery south of Florence — a restaurant in the Sicilian capital of Palermo — the two stars that signify excellent cooking worth a special stop.

The guide gave one star, meaning "good cooking in its class," to 200 establishments and two stars to 11 others.

"Maybe their thinking is too French," said one restaurateur who won a single star. "There are hundreds of small, family style places in Italy which serve top food and were neglected."

Waitress Picks Up Tip Of A Lifetime

DETROIT (AP) — Shirley Clevenger has picked up the biggest tip of her waitressing career — a cool $1,000 — from a customer she didn't even wait on.

The customer, unfortunately, didn't know how much he was giving her at the time. When he found out, he still refused to take it back.

The 29-year-old Detroit waitress, who says she doesn't believe in buying lottery tickets, was given an unused Instant Lottery ticket as her tip Thursday by a regular customer who had just finished a $6 dinner.

When Miss Clevenger scratched off the covering on the ticket's six money boxes, she found three $1,000's — which made her a winner.

"I couldn't believe it, I just stood there not believing it," she said. "I tried to give it back to him, 'Here, you take it back, I can't take your money.' But he wouldn't take it."

UNCONSCIOUS: Unconscious woman resident of Wincrest Nursing and Rest Home on Chicago's North Side is rushed by Chicago fireman to ambulance Friday afternoon. Thirteen persons perished and at least 30 others were injured in the blast. (AP Wirephoto)

Nursing Home Fatal Blaze Cause Unknown

MICHAEL KUCHWARA
Associated Press Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — "I feel sad so many people were injured and there was nothing I could do to help them," said a priest after a fire in a nursing home killed 13 residents and injured at least 30 others. The blaze broke out as he was saying Mass in the home's chapel.

The Rev. William Pollard said the fire alarm rang as he finished celebrating Mass on the top floor at the Wincrest Nursing and Rest Home. He left the chapel and found the hallway filled with smoke.

"Many residents were in wheel chairs and couldn't get down. Smoke blocked the corridors," said Father Pollard. He said he tried to put out the fire himself until the smoke became too heavy.

Fire Commissioner Robert

Quinn said the blaze started in a room near the chapel and spread into the adjacent hallway. The area near the chapel "is where most of the injuries and dead came from," he said.

Picker's Lawsuit Dismissed

By DENNIS COGSWELL

Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — A farm worker's lawsuit against a Hartford apple grower for claimed back wages was dismissed yesterday in Van Buren Seventh District court by Judge William C. Buhl.

Buhl had given the worker, Oscar Sullivan, until yesterday to appear on the matter to explain why Sullivan had failed to show up at the civil trial last Dec. 16.

When Sullivan did not appear by 4:30 p.m. yesterday, Buhl dismissed the suit, according to court officials. Sullivan, who was represented by the Michigan Migrant Legal Assistance Project, had claimed in the suit that he entered into an agreement with grower James Feller Oct. 10 to pick apples at a rate of 35 cents per bushel.

Feller, also agreed, according to the suit, to pay Sullivan another nickel per bushel in a lump sum at the end of the 1975 season. Sullivan, the suit said, was discharged Nov. 1 with Feller still owing him $78.40 for 1,568 bushels at a nickel each.

In response to the complaint, Feller said he never made any agreement with Sullivan on the nickel bonus, and that Sullivan voluntarily quit on Oct. 31.

Grand Rapids Man Guilty Of Forgery

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — The director of Grand Rapids Emerging Arts Forum has been convicted on 10 counts involving an interstate check forgery ring.

A jury convicted Roschell Atkins, 36, on all counts Thursday. Sentencing was postponed pending a presentencing investigation.

Atkins described the forum he ran as a community cultural center for "the socially handicapped." Part of its money came from the federal Urban Corps program.

When the FBI arrested Atkins Oct. 3, agents said the arrest was part of an interstate ring cashing checks forged on a New York bank account. The 10 charges involved transporting checks for sums ranging from $101 to $311.

Mary Louise Hooks, 25, of Grand Rapids, was arrested the same day on similar charges. She pleaded guilty earlier this week.

Delinquent Dad Gets Probation

A man owing $1,435 in back child support was placed on one year probation yesterday in Berrien Circuit court.

Found in contempt of court by Judge William S. White for the arrearage for one child not on ADC was Charles E. Williams, of 780 Colfax avenue, Benton Harbor. White ordered him to pay $20 weekly child support, and ordered that child support payments be altered and Williams pay $5 weekly on the arrearage when Williams finds employment.

Market Analysis

GOOD WEEK: The stock market closed out a month of record gains and trading activity with a flourish Friday. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials closed at 1013.33 Friday, up 21.33 from last Friday's closing. (AP Wirephoto Chart)

Firm Pays $5,518 Water Bill

COLOMA — M. Steffen company here has paid a $5,518 water bill for the last quarter of 1975, according to Mrs. Patricia Beezley, city clerk.

The firm had been previously charged a quarterly water bill ranging from $200 to $400 because the city water department employees had been misreading the firm's meter, city officials have said previously.

The city commission earlier this month decided not to penalize the company for prior incorrect readings taken from the meter. A new meter, which is easier to read, has been since installed at the company, and the firm's last quarter bill was based on an average of recent daily water usage readings at the plant, Mrs. Beezley said.

The firm had previously been billed, due to the incorrect readings, for a tenth of the water actually used at the plant, according to Mrs. Beezley.

The vinegar processing company is the city's largest user of city water. The $5,518 bill included a sewer charge of $1,050, Mrs. Beezley said.

Two Promoted

William Stahl and Jerry Lubs, area managers in the consumer affairs division of Whirlpool Corporation, have been promoted to regional directors, according to Robert Stanley general manager of consumer affairs.

Lubs, based in Dallas, Texas, will continue as southwestern area manager and assume responsibility for the Evansville, Ind., and Benton Harbor factory service operations. Stahl, based in Atlanta, Ga., will expand his territory to Rochester, N.Y., New Orleans, and Charlotte, N.C., factory service operations.

Picker's Lawsuit Dismissed

By DENNIS COGSWELL
PAW PAW — A farm worker's lawsuit against a Hartford apple grower for claimed back wages was dismissed yesterday in Van Buren Seventh District court by Judge William C. Buhl.

Buhl had given the worker, Oscar Sullivan, until yesterday to appear on the matter to explain why Sullivan had failed to show up at the civil trial last Dec. 16.

When Sullivan did not appear by 4:30 p.m. yesterday, Buhl dismissed the suit, according to court officials. Sullivan, who was represented by the Michigan Migrant Legal Assistance Project, had claimed in the suit that he entered into an agreement with grower James Fellner Oct. 10 to pick apples at a rate of 35 cents per bushel.

Fellner, also agreed, according to the suit, to pay Sullivan another nickel per bushel in a lump sum at the end of the 1975 season. Sullivan, the suit said, was discharged Nov. 1 with Fellner still owing him $78.40 for 1,568 bushels at a nickel each.

In response to the complaint, Fellner said he never made any agreement with Sullivan on the nickel bonus, and that Sullivan voluntarily quit on Oct. 31.

Grand Rapids Man Guilty Of Forgery

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — The director of Grand Rapids Emerging Arts Forum has been convicted on 10 counts involving an interstate check forgery ring.

A jury convicted Roschell Atkins, 36, on all counts Thursday. Sentencing was postponed pending a presentencing investigation.

Atkins described the forum he ran as a community cultural center for "the socially handicapped." Part of its money came from the federal Urban Corps program.

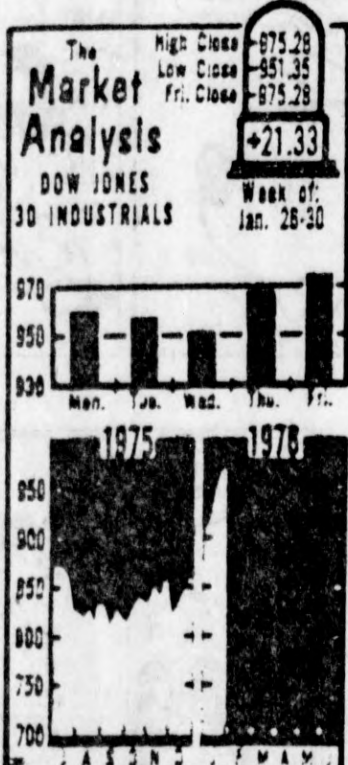

When the FBI arrested Atkins Oct. 3, agents said the arrest was part of an interstate ring cashing checks forged on a New York bank account. The 10 charges involved transporting checks for sums ranging from $101 to $311.

Mary Louise Hooks, 25, of Grand Rapids, was arrested the same day on similar charges. She pleaded guilty earlier this week.

Delinquent Dad Gets Probation

A man owing $1,435 in back child support was placed on one year probation yesterday in Berrien Circuit court.

Found in contempt of court by Judge William S. White for the arrearage for one child not on ADC was Charles E. Williams, of 760 Colfax avenue, Benton Harbor. White ordered him to pay $20 weekly child support, and ordered that child support payments be altered and Williams pay $5 weekly on the arrearage when Williams finds employment.

Firm Pays $5,518 Water Bill

COLOMA — M. Steffen company here has paid a $5,518 water bill for the last quarter of 1975, according to Mrs. Patricia Beezley, city clerk.

The firm had been previously charged a quarterly water bill ranging from $200 to $400 because the city water department employees had been misreading the firm's meter, city officials have said previously.

The city commission earlier this month decided not to penalize the company for prior incorrect readings taken from the meter. A new meter, which is easier to read, has been since installed at the company, and the firm's last quarter bill was based on an average of recent daily water usage readings at the plant, Mrs. Beezley said.

The firm had previously been billed, due to the incorrect readings, for a tenth of the water actually used at the plant, according to Mrs. Beezley.

The vinegar processing company is the city's largest user of city water. The $5,518 bill included a sewer charge of $1,050, Mrs. Beezley said.

Two Promoted

Lubs, based in Dallas, Texas, will continue as southwestern area manager and assume responsibility for the Evansville, Ind., and Benton Harbor factory service operations. Stahl, based in Atlanta, Ga., will expand his territory to Rochester, N.Y., New Orleans, and Charlotte, N.C., factory service operations.

Sixteen Lake Michigan college student journalists have been selected to fill second semester staff positions on the Lake Michigan Journal, the college's student newspaper.

The selections were made by a joint faculty-student staff appointment committee on the basis of scholarship, training in newspaper and advertising journalism, and previous publications experience, according to Paul Gerhard faculty advisor.

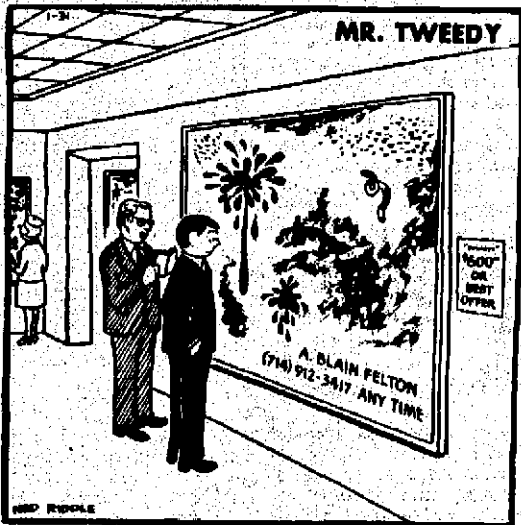

The committee re-appointed three top staff members to continue in their positions on the Journal for the balance of the school year: Lori Leary, Benton Harbor, editor; Joanne Lutz, St. Joseph, managing editor; and Ron Rutkoskie, Benton Harbor, business manager.

New staff appointments include: Tim Cuprisin, Stevensville, news editor; Paul Vinnedge, Galien, chief copy editor; and Janet Kimley, Stevensville, sports editor.

Other new appointments include: Terri McCormick, St. Joseph, and Mary Simko, Berrien Center, co-features editors; K.V. Ratnam, Berrien Springs, photo editor; and Blaine Herrmann, Bridgman, and Traci Weirs, Benton Harbor, staff photographers.

Appointed special staff writers were: Sandy Johnson, Berrien Springs; Carnell Jones, Benton Harbor; Jennifer Tibbitts, St. Joseph; and Lee Wennerberg, Sawyer.

Warren Christopher, of St. Joseph, was appointed to the Journal business-advertising staff as advertising sales representative.

"IT SAYS MR. FELTON DEPLORES THE CURRENT TREND TOWARD COMMERCIALISM IN FINE ART TODAY."

GRAPHOLOGISTS say if writing is small but the signature is large, the person is trying to appear more aggressive than is really the case. If writing is large but the signature is small, it is just putting on an act of shyness or reluctance, which isn't really the case. For marital bliss, the Aquarian (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) should marry one of his own sign — or Leo, the opposite. Item for a Lull-in-Conversation: "The oldest continually inhabited town in the U.S. is Acama Pueblo, N.M." Soviet scientists reported that tea has many medicinal properties. It has an antibiotic effect on stomach and intestinal disorders and prevents formation of stones in the bladder, liver and kidneys. (But ask your doctor.) Celebri-Tip from Danny Thomas, 61, who returned to NBC-TV's "The Practice": "I have always believed in staying active, and I mean it when I say that work keeps a man young!" Color experts say if your favorite color is yellow, it indicates confidence, artistry and splendor.

FAMOUS LAST WORDS: "All right, smart guy, just get down off that truck and I'll repeat what I said." Overworked Expression: "It's funky." Beauty Tip: If skin is lily white, a dark nail polish emphasizes paleness, while a frosted hue provides a porcelain look.

Researchers have noted that smokers have a preference for salty and highly-spiced foods. Quote-Unquote from Bernard Baruch, in 1960: "Vote for the man who promises least — he'll be the least disappointing."

Psychiatrists say that variety is the great safety valve for avoiding a breakdown, and changing a job or routine can save a person real ills and unhappiness. Bar-Snooping at the Waldorf's Empire room: For a delightful light cocktail, mix equal parts of sweet vermouth and grape juice.

KITCHEN-SNOOPING: Add a delicate flavor to tuna fish by mixing in some instant minced onions (Mrs. B's Kitchen). Equal parts of catsup, mayonnaise — with a dash of mustard and horseradish — makes a delicious sauce for shrimp, lobster or crabmeat cocktails (See Fare of the Aegean, NYC). Broiled chicken takes on an oriental flavor when basted with a mixture of orange juice and orange marmalade (Bruce Ho's, NYC).

Ask Them Yourself

Want to ask a famous person a question? Send the question on a postcard, to "Ask," Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., New York, N.Y. 10022. We'll pay $5 for published questions. Sorry, we can't answer others.

FOR KATHRYN CROSBY

With your large family and busy life, I'm wondering if there was ever a time when you felt really alone?—B.G., Hollywood, Calif.

● Yes. Once I had a guest on my TV program who had written a wonderful book on cancer. It was his first TV show. I questioned him about his book, but he blacked out and clammed up to the point where he couldn't remember a thing. He was shaking with fear and I didn't know what to do. At that point I was probably more scared than he was, because it was up to me to bail him out. I was on the verge of tears when a commercial break rescued me. We both recovered our composure a bit, but it was definitely one of my worst experiences.

FOR SEN. BIRCH BAYH (D-Ind.)

If no strong Democratic candidate emerges before the national convention, do you think Senator Kennedy will run?—Robert Clark, Montgomery, Ala.

● I have talked to Senator Kennedy about this several times. I really believe that there are no circumstances that would cause him to be a candidate in 1976.

FOR PHYLLIS DILLER

Bet you won't tell me how old you are.—Susan Walker, Easton, Pa.

● Figure it out. I have the brain of an eight-year-old hummingbird; the feet of a 91-year-old biped; the figure of a 60-year-old mop; the hands of a 74-year-old librarian; the elbows of a 98-year-old Gypsy who's been reading tea leaves; the attention span of a gnat; the hair of a retired Dalai Lama; the gait of a squirrel, and the heart of a middle-aged gazelle. In short, I'm 142 years away from my Bicentennial.

Are you married?—N.S., Cheyenne, Wyo.

● I was once—in 1966 to bass player Stephen Novesl. But it turned sour and we got divorced in 1972. It was great until it stopped being a marriage. While it lasted, Stephen was a wonderful husband. Other men handed their wives tulips, but Stephen brought me roses—and threw them at my feet. But we're still friends and always will be because he's one of those fantastic good-as-gold people.

FOR BURT REYNOLDS

You and Paul Newman are both considered sex symbols. Do you feel that you two have anything in common?—K. Hughes, Colorado Springs, Colo.

● Yes. We both like Joanne Woodward.

FOR LEE MERIWETHER, star of TV's "Barnaby Jones"

This may sound silly, but with your gorgeous figure, is there anything you can't wear?—E.E., Medford, Ore.

● It's not silly at all. I wish it were. I always have trouble with evening gowns because I can't wear those that are very bare on top. I've got broad shoulders, and anything off the shoulder makes me look even wider! So when I shop, I'm on the lookout for dresses that cut the line (such as jumpers) or have a break at the ampmits. That's why I often have long scarves trailing over one shoulder—it creates an optical illusion and makes me look less top heavy.

FOR CHARLES BRONSON

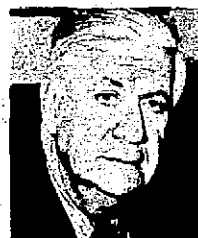

I just saw "Hard Times," and I would like to know if you ever took boxing lessons or had martial arts training?—I. Madanat, Wilmington, Del.

● Nope, I learned how to defend myself the hard and practical way—on the streets of Ehrenfeld, Pa., in coal mining country, where I grew up. (I went down into a mine for the first time when I was 10—working, not visiting.) You had to know how to use your fists because someone else was always ready to use his on you. I had to take care of myself off the streets, too. In my house, I was one of 14 children!

FOR REP. THOMAS P. O'NEILL, JR.

Democratic Majority Leader from Massachusetts
Could Richard Nixon ever be re-elected President of the United States?—Martha Thorpe, Atlantic City, N.J.

● Richard Nixon resigned as President after the House Judiciary Committee had voted on articles of impeachment but before the full House of Representatives considered them. This means that, legally, he is not prohibited from seeking federal office again. However, he could not be re-elected President since, under the 22nd Amendment, no one can be elected to the Presidency more than twice.

FOR RICK MARTIN, hockey star

Do you think hockey has become too violent?—Leo L. Smith, Chicago, Ill.

● Hockey is a tough sport and the hard body-checking is part of the game, but the dirty playing is not. I've observed that most of the dirty stuff is done by less talented players. And to be honest with you, I don't think anything will be done about the violence until someone gets crippled or killed.

FOR THE "ASK THEM YOURSELF" EDITOR

Is Frank Sinatra as rude in private life as he is in public?—B.C., Vancouver, Wash.

● Paul Anka, for years his good and close friend, advises: "No. He can be his own worst enemy in such things as dealing with the press, but many things you hear are groundless or are magnified. He's wonderful to his friends, quietly supports charities and is very sensitive. He's one of the few people in show business I can talk to. When you're with Frank, you're completely at ease. At his Caesars Palace 'comeback,' he had a bad throat and was worried and bitterly disappointed. (He's a perfectionist.) I wrote and told him I knew how he felt and that I respected him for trying so hard. When he got my note, he phoned—on the verge of tears. I was the only one who had contacted him. No one else had cared enough. Frank, on the other hand, cares about everyone."

Ask Them Yourself

Want to ask a famous person a question? Send the question on a postcard, to "Ask," Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., New York, N. Y. 10022. We'll pay $5 for published questions. Sorry, we can't answer others.

FOR KATHRYN CROSBY

With your large family and busy life, I'm wondering if there was ever a time when you felt really alone?—B.G., Hollywood, Calif.

● Yes. Once I had a guest on my TV program who had written a wonderful book on cancer. It was his first TV show. I questioned him about his book, but he blacked out and clammed up to the point where he couldn't remember a thing. He was shaking with fear and I didn't know what to do. At that point I was probably more scared than he was, because it was up to me to bail him out. I was on the verge of tears when a commercial break rescued me. We both recovered our composure a bit, but it was definitely one of my worst experiences.

FOR SEN. BIRCH BAYH (D-Ind.)

If no strong Democratic candidate emerges before the national convention, do you think Senator Kennedy will run?—Robert Clark, Montgomery, Ala.

● I have talked to Senator Kennedy about this several times. I really believe that there are no circumstances that would cause him to be a candidate in 1976.

FOR PHYLLIS DILLER

Bet you won't tell me how old you are.—Susan Walker, Easton, Pa.

● Figure it out. I have the brain of an eight-year-old hummingbird; the feet of a 91-year-old biped; the figure of a 60-year-old mop; the hands of a 74-year-old librarian; the elbows of a 98-year-old Gypsy who's been reading tea leaves; the attention span of a gnat; the hair of a retired Dalai Lama; the gait of a squirrel, and the heart of a middle-aged gazelle. In short, I'm 142 years away from my Bicentennial.

Are you married?—N.S., Cheyenne, Wyo.

● I was once—in 1966 to bass player Stephen Novesl. But it turned sour and we got divorced in 1972. It was great until it stopped being a marriage. While it lasted, Stephen was a wonderful husband. Other men handed their wives tulips, but Stephen brought me roses—and threw them at my feet. But we're still friends and always will be because he's one of those fantastic good-as-gold people.

FOR BURT REYNOLDS

You and Paul Newman are both considered sex symbols. Do you feel that you two have anything in common?—K. Hughes, Colorado Springs, Colo.

● Yes. We both like Joanne Woodward.

FOR LEE MERIWETHER, star of TV's "Barnaby Jones"

This may sound silly, but with your gorgeous figure, is there anything you can't wear?—E.E., Medford, Ore.

● It's not silly at all. I wish it were. I always have trouble with evening gowns because I can't wear those that are very bare on top. I've got broad shoulders, and anything off the shoulder makes me look even wider! So when I shop, I'm on the lookout for dresses that cut the line (such as jumpers) or have a break at the armpits. That's why I often have long scarves trailing over one shoulder—it creates an optical illusion and makes me look less top heavy.

FOR CHARLES BRONSON

I just saw "Hard Times," and I would like to know if you ever took boxing lessons or had martial arts training?—I. Madanat, Wilmington, Del.

● Nope, I learned how to defend myself the hard and practical way—on the streets of Ehrenfeld, Pa., in coal mining country, where I grew up. (I went down into a mine for the first time when I was 10—working, not visiting.) You had to know how to use your fists because someone else was always ready to use his on you. I had to take care of myself off the streets, too. In my house, I was one of 14 children!

FOR REP. THOMAS P. O'NEILL, JR.,

Could Richard Nixon ever be re-elected President of the United States?—Martha Thorpe, Atlantic City, N.J.

● Richard Nixon resigned as President after the House Judiciary Committee had voted on articles of impeachment but before the full House of Representatives considered them. This means that, legally, he is not prohibited from seeking federal office again. However, he could not be re-elected President since, under the 22nd Amendment, no one can be elected to the Presidency more than twice.

FOR RICK MARTIN, hockey star

Do you think hockey has become too violent?—Leo L. Smith, Chicago, Ill.

● Hockey is a tough sport and the hard body-checking is part of the game, but the dirty playing is not. I've observed that most of the dirty stuff is done by less talented players. And to be honest with you, I don't think anything will be done about the violence until someone gets crippled or killed.

FOR THE "ASK THEM YOURSELF" EDITOR

Is Frank Sinatra as rude in private life as he is in public?—B.C., Vancouver, Wash.

● Paul Anka, for years his good and close friend, advises: "No. He can be his own worst enemy in such things as dealing with the press, but many things you hear are groundless or are magnified. He's wonderful to his friends, quietly supports charities and is very sensitive. He's one of the few people in show business I can talk to. When you're with Frank, you're completely at ease. At his Caesars Palace 'comeback,' he had a bad throat and was worried and bitterly disappointed. (He's a perfectionist.) I wrote and told him I knew how he felt and that I respected him for trying so hard. When he got my note, he phoned—on the verge of tears. I was the only one who had contacted him. No one else had cared enough. Frank, on the other hand, cares about everyone."

Twelve Year Effort Ends With Unprecedented Flavor In Low Tar Smoke.

New 'Enriched Flavor' discovery for 9 mg. tar MERIT achieves taste of cigarettes having 60% more tar.

The greatest challenge to cigarette-makers in recent years has been how to make a low tar cigarette with good taste.

Many have tried.

Philip Morris just succeeded.

It took twelve long years.

The cigarette is called MERIT. It delivers only 9 mg. of tar. One of the lowest tar levels in smoking today.

Yet MERIT delivers astonishing flavor.

If you smoke—you'll be interested.

Key Flavor Ingredients Of Tobacco Isolated

By isolating certain "key" flavor ingredients of tobacco in cigarette smoke, ingredients that deliver taste way out of proportion to tar, researchers at Philip Morris have developed a way to pack extra flavor into tobacco without the usual increase in tar.

The discovery is called 'Enriched Flavor.' It's extra flavor. Natural flavor. Flavor that can't burn out, can't fade out, can't do anything but come through for you.

We packed MERIT with 'Enriched Flavor' and began a series of taste-tests.

Taste-Tested By People Like You

Thousands of filter cigarette smokers tested 9 mg. tar MERIT against five current leading low tar brands ranging from 11 mg. to 15 mg. tar.*

The results were conclusive:

Even if the cigarette tested had 60% more tar, a significant majority of all smokers tested reported new 'Enriched Flavor' MERIT delivered more taste.

Repeat: delivered more taste.

In similar tests against 11 mg. to 15 mg. menthol brands, 9 mg. tar MERIT MENTHOL performed strongly too, delivering as much—or more—taste than the higher tar brands tested.

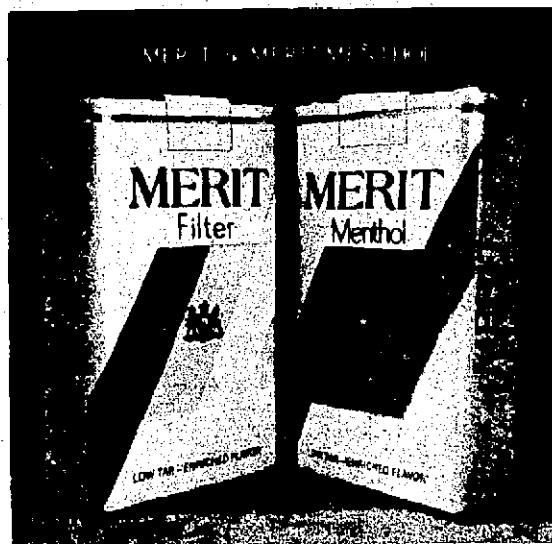

You've been smoking "low tar, good taste" claims long enough.

Now you've got the cigarette. MERIT. Incredible smoking pleasure at only 9 mg. tar.

Behind TV News: The Top Newscasters Talk Back About How They See Their Jobs

Produced by Robin Thrush

Surveys claim that a big share of the American public derives all its understanding of current events from TV news broadcasts. Can we rely on TV for so much information? How responsible and accurate are the men who report and comment on the news? How much power do they wield? What part do newscasters play in our day-to-day educational awareness? To find out the answers to these tough questions, FAMILY WEEKLY decided to go to the source. We talked with seven of the best-liked, most respected TV newscasters. Our symposium consists of Howard K. Smith (ABC commentator), Bill Beutel (ABC reporter), Dan Rather (CBS anchorman-correspondent), Mike Wallace (CBS correspondent and co-editor of CBS's "60 Minutes"), John Chancellor (NBC anchorman), Tom Brokaw (NBC White House correspondent), Edwin Newman (NBC correspondent).

FAMILY WEEKLY: Do networks tell "all the news that's fit to tell?"

RATHER: We are incapable of doing that. Frankly, there is not enough time to do it. I regret those polls that indicate that most people get most, if not all, of their news from TV. One must read as well. One must read newspapers, magazines and, at least occasionally, a book. But I don't think a person nowadays can be well informed and not watch TV, either. I find some people who consider themselves "intellectual" people, who pride themselves on saying, "I never watch TV." I think that's the mark of an uninformed person, too.

WALLACE: I think any careful reading of our news coverage over the past half dozen years would prove that if a story was worth covering, we did it.

TV News

- How Unbiased Is It?
- Is It Censored?
- Did It Fall Down on Watergate?
- Has It Become Too Gloomy?

FW: What criticism of TV news do you find the most unjust? The most valid?

CHANCELLOR: The most unjust criticism is that sponsors have power over what we report. The most valid criticism is that we pay too much attention to the news of the day and not enough attention to slower-moving events that may in the long run be more important.

WALLACE: I think the most unjust criticism is that there's a liberal bias in the networks. The most valid is that we follow our sisters of print too slavishly. We don't find enough stories by ourselves.

SMITH: I think most of us are liberal. Most of us are left-of-center Democrats. After all, we were raised during the FDR years or in the long shadow he cast, and we are all college-educated. We are criticized for being too picture-oriented. Again, I agree: We are attracted by pictures; action magnetizes us. Finally, we are accused of never giving the whole story. On TV everything is tight, ad-libbing rarely occurs because it throws us off schedule. In a sense, TV news is a very unsatisfactory form of journalism. But there are limitations in every field—Shakespeare's was a small stage, ours is time.

RATHER: The most unjust criticisms are those claiming that all newscasters are involved in some dark conspiracy of ideology. The criticism that we are superficial is often valid. I think it's vastly overstated, but there are some subjects that we haven't yet learned to deal with in depth. For example, we don't do a very good job of reporting new ideas, but that's because ideas are not easy to define within a visual framework.

BEUTEL: Our critics claim that we're a limited medium. Well, that's essentially true—but then we don't believe we're the complete answer. A newscast is, by definition, a very good headline service.

FW: Do you think there's more censorship in TV than in the printed word?

BROKAW: Censorship is a grossly misunderstood word. Practically, it means government intervention or restriction of the right of the press to determine what is news. Editing is the more appropriate term here. Yes, there is more editing in TV because our time and space limits are so much more severe.

NEWMAN: There are obviously more outlets for printed journalism than for broadcast journalism. There are simply more magazines and newspapers than there are TV networks. This provides the printed word with greater variety and more chance for original reporting. But censorship—I have not run into that in either broadcasting or print.

SMITH: There is no real censorship. Take the Equal Time Law. This is the law which stipulates that we must give equal coverage time to political candidates. Only TV is affected by it, and it means that networks are not allowed to endorse candidates. But I feel this is a good ruling because it's conceivable that newscasters could elect or defeat a candidate. ABC's "Nightly News" program alone has between 10 million and 12 million viewers, so consider what would happen if all the network commentators endorsed the same candidate. Newspapers have much smaller circulations than that, so we leave that editorializing to them.

FW: So much that is newsworthy is of a depressing nature that after a while our perspective gets warped. Should the media make a concerted effort to restore optimism?

BROKAW: We have an obligation to reflect reality, not manufacture optimism. Much of the news is depressing, but if we were to ignore it, it wouldn't go away. By broadcasting details and providing perspective, we at least give the public an opportunity to cope with the news, to make decisions based on knowledge, not ignorance. Besides, every TV news program contains an upbeat story of some kind. Consider the amount of time and money we've spent on covering space flights. Unfortunately, it is human nature to remember the gruesome and forget the wholesome.

WALLACE: Phony optimism would quickly wear out its welcome on the air. Renewed faith and optimism only grow out of the efforts this country and its people make to fulfill our promise of freedom, decency, and justice.

CHANCELLOR: I see a lot of cynicism about government at all levels, and it worries me. Journalism is a chronicle of conflict and change. Advocacy of optimism would not be journalism, but propaganda. It would therefore require decision-making machinery on what would be acceptable news and what wouldn't be acceptable. That's what they have in Russia, and it doesn't work.

FW: In what important area do you find the public least knowledgeable? Can we correct this?

BROKAW: I think Americans are knowledgeable in all areas except economics, which is not unusual since the subject baffles even the economists.

WALLACE: It's not just the American public that pleads ignorance about economics; I plead guilty to being somewhat ignorant about economics as well!

SMITH: TV is unfortunately not the best medium in which to present economic questions. Numbers just don't come across on film. I can say that 10,000 people suffer from such and such a disease, and people will claim I said 100,000 or a million. Now we have economic experts on TV, but I sometimes feel that the information would be as readily understood coming from those of us who don't claim to be specialists. Our approach is more straightforward.

CHANCELLOR: I think a lot of people don't understand much about the balance of strategic nuclear arms, which is a very complex subject. I wish more people could take an interest in it, because if the "experts" are wrong, we might all get burned up.

NEWMAN: Foreign affairs is my guess. What to do about it is a difficult question since people will take in no more foreign news than they want to.

FW: Do you feel that your opinions have helped shape America?

SMITH: Individually, no newscaster has much influence. But the medium as a whole has enormous impact. Newscasters effect change only by virtue of the fact that they pound out facts day after day. In that sense, you could say that we were instrumental in furthering Civil Rights, or in bringing the Vietnam and Watergate debacles to an end. But ours is a very doubtful form of fame. In the last three weeks, I have been mistaken for both John Chancellor and Harry Reasoner.

BEUTEL: I don't believe that any of us sets out to change the direction of popular thought. No one program tries to, nor could it succeed if it did. But when you take the conglomerate of all network and local information programs—yes, we have a considerable influence.

CHANCELLOR: I hope we don't. I offer very few personal opinions on TV, and when I do offer one, it's often an opinion already held by a lot of other people.

NEWMAN: My assessments of what is news and what is not news have probably had some effect over the years, but I doubt that my opinions have. This is normal.

FW: Is being a newscaster comparable to holding public office?

NEWMAN: Absolutely not. We are not the government, and we are not an alternative government. It is a grave mistake for newpeople to think themselves part of the governing process. The proper attitude is independence, detachment.

RATHER: In a way, yes. I think we face an election every day when the person who has his hand on the knob elects whether to watch CBS, NBC or ABC. He elects whether to listen to Dan Rather or not. And beyond that, he elects every day whether to pay any attention to what Dan Rather says.

CHANCELLOR: There's no comparison. Public officials either administer programs or offer ideas. Our job in journalism is to report on how those programs are administered, nothing more.

FW: TV networks certainly have the money and staff to do investigative reporting, but it was The New York Times that broke the Pentagon Papers and The Washington Post that was responsible for unearthing the truth about Watergate. Why?

BEUTEL: TV is just not good at investigative reporting. I think there are two reasons for this. First, we feel we must have pictures to substantiate a story, and it's hard to be inconspicuous when "I have argued for a long time that we build up unreal expectations about Presidents and so create disappointment in proportion. We inflate the Presidency—which misleads not only the people but the man holding office."

—Edwin Newman, NBC News

you're lugging around huge camera equipment. Second, we can't afford to keep reporters on stories for indefinite periods of time—we have an unwritten law of economic utilization.

WALLACE: We haven't failed in this area because of nerve, but because of lack of initiative. So far, we just haven't devoted the resources, effort or attention that good investigation requires.

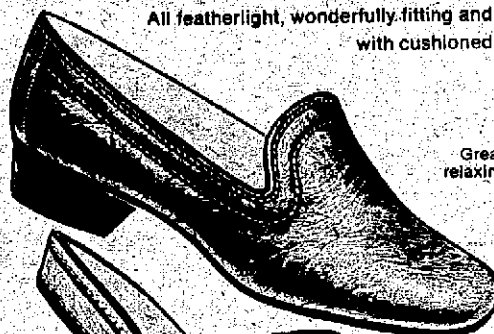

RATHER: Let's stop for a minute and take each case on its merits. What happened in the case of The New York Times and the Pentagon Papers is that someone walked in and handed the Times the story. That did not require great investigative reporting, in my judgment. I'll admit, however, that it took a lot of guts for the Times to print it. As for The Washington Post, the Watergate story began as a police-beat story. The Post, in addition to being a national newspaper, is a local paper for Washington. They cover the local police beat, and we don't.

SMITH: Newspapers have much larger staffs than we do. Their reporters are paid rather poorly in comparison with

Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined
That Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous to Your Health.

Are You More Creative Than You Think?

True or False? Many people who are creative think that they are not—while many people who think they are creative aren't. (See numbers 1 and 2.)

TRUE OR FALSE?

1. Many people who are creative think that they are not.
2. Many people who think they are creative aren't.
3. If you want to develop your latent creative ability, you should stop daydreaming and take positive action.
4. Some hallucinations are perfectly normal and reveal creative imagination.
5. Some people so completely repress their creative side that it only manifests itself when they are asleep.
6. The more creative you are, the less likely you are to be concerned with impressing others or "keeping up with the Joneses."

ANSWERS

1. True. Many people with creative ability never realize their potential and never give it a chance to surface—simply because it has never occurred to them that they might be creative. Also, their creative thoughts might have been suppressed by a lack of encouragement or by mundane, workaday activity. As one authority observes, many people have deep untapped wells of creative power just waiting to be energized and constructively directed.
2. True. Many people confuse being high-strung, temperamental or neurotic with being creative, and they find it easy to convince themselves that they are misunderstood geniuses. While neurotic tendencies may go hand in hand with creativity, usually they don't. And studies indicate that creative people who have such tendencies are successful in spite of their neurosis rather than because of it.
3. False. Studies show that the "inner phenomenon" we call daydreaming is an important imaginative process which markedly increases creativity. It also has been found to serve two other constructive purposes: providing a valuable release from nervous tension and making boredom tolerable.

4. True. According to the studies of Dr. Roland Fischer, Clinical Professor in the Department of Psychiatry at Georgetown University, there are two kinds of hallucinations—the type experienced by paranoid persons, which is a distortion of reality; and the original and innovative hallucinations, which may be experienced by creative people. He cites research showing that 10 percent of the normal population who experience similar phenomena are perfectly capable of differentiating between the real and imaginary. His conclusion: Much of the communication with the unknown, unseen and unheard is communication on a truly creative level and originates in hallucinatory experiences.

5. True—as evidenced by psychological studies conducted by a team of investigators at California State College. They cite, for example, the fascinating case history of a young woman who habitually talked in her sleep, often holding lucid conversations with another person. It was noted that in contrast to her wakeful behavior, her sleep-talking was characterized by unusual, creative aspects. An investigation revealed that due to early childhood conditioning, she had repressed this facet of her personality and "only allowed her creative side to emerge when she was asleep."

6. True—as revealed by creativity research at the National Institute of Mental Health, where it was found that people who made high scores on creativity tests tended to be the least concerned with making a favorable impression on others. They also differed from less creative people in that they were more poised, spontaneous, more adventurous, humorous, rebellious and assertive.

'Most People Are Too Busy Earning a Living to Make Any Money'

I used to work hard. The 18-hour days. The 7-day weeks.

But I didn't start making big money until I did less—a lot less.

For example, this ad took about 2 hours to write. With a little luck, it should earn me 50, maybe a hundred thousand dollars.

What's more, I'm going to ask you to send me 10 dollars for something that'll cost me no more than 50 cents. And I'll try to make it so irresistible that you'd be a darned fool not to do it.

After all, why should you care if I make $9.50 profit if I can show you how to make a lot more?

What if I'm so sure that you will make money my Lazy Man's Way that I'll make you the world's most unusual guarantee?

And here it is: I won't even cash your check or money order for 31 days after I've sent you my material.

That'll give you plenty of time to get it, look it over, try it out.

If you don't agree that it's worth at least a hundred times what you invested, send it back. Your uncashed check or money order will be put in the return mail.

The only reason I won't send it to you and bill you or send it C.O.D. is because both these methods involve more time and money.

And I'm already going to give you the biggest bargain of your life.

Because I'm going to tell you what it took me 11 years to perfect: How to make money the Lazy Man's Way.

O.K.—now I have to brag a little. I don't mind it. And it's necessary—to prove that sending me the 10 dollars... which I'll keep "in escrow" until you're satisfied... is the smartest thing you ever did.

I live in a home that's worth $100,000. I know it is, because I turned down an offer for that much. My mortgage is less than half that, and the only reason I haven't paid it off is because my Tax Accountant says I'd be an idiot.

My "office," about a mile and a half from my home, is right on the beach. My view is so breathtaking that most people comment that they don't see how I get any work done. But I do enough. About 6 hours a day, 8 or 9 months a year.

The rest of the time we spend at our mountain "cabin." I paid $30,000 for it—cash.

I have 2 boats and a Cadillac. All paid for.

We have stocks, bonds, investments, cash in the bank. But the most important thing I have is priceless: time with my family.

And I'll show you just how I did it—the Lazy Man's Way—a secret that I've shared with just a few friends 'til now.

It doesn't require "education." I'm a high school graduate.

It doesn't require "capital." When I started out, I was so deep in debt that a lawyer friend advised bankruptcy as the only way out. He was wrong. We paid off our debts and, outside of the mortgage, don't owe a cent to any man.

It doesn't require "luck." I've had more than my share, but I'm not promising you that you'll make as much money as I have. And you may do better; I personally know one man who used these principles, worked hard, and made 11 million dollars in 8 years. But money isn't everything.

It doesn't require "talent." Just enough brains to know what to look for. And I'll tell you that.

It doesn't require "youth." One woman I worked with is over 70. She's travelled the world over, making all the money she needs, doing only what I taught her.

It doesn't require "experience." A widow in Chicago has been averaging $25,000 a year for the past 5 years, using my methods.

What does it require? Belief. Enough to take a chance. Enough to absorb what I'll send you. Enough to put the principles into action. If you do just that—nothing more, nothing less—the results will be hard to believe. Remember—I guarantee it.

You don't have to give up your job. But you may soon be making so much money that you'll be able to. Once again—I guarantee it.

The wisest man I ever knew told me something I never forgot: "Most people are too busy earning a living to make any money."

Don't take as long as I did to find out he was right.

I'll prove it to you, if you'll send in the coupon now. I'm not asking you to "believe" me. Just try it. If I'm wrong, all you've lost is a couple of minutes and a postage stamp. But what if I'm right?

Day Before Payday

This week, Food Editor Marilyn Hansen makes a thick, stomach-warming soup for cold weather. Marilyn says, "This Peasant Soup is a variation of the famous 'borscht' snowbound Russians have been eating for years. But there's nothing 'foreign' about the taste!"

Thick and Steaming Peasant Soup!

PEASANT SOUP A Type of Borscht

- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- Salt
- Few twists freshly ground black pepper
- 1 pt. sour cream

*If beef brisket is not available, use 1 lb. beef short ribs or beef shin meat.

Peasant Soup, made with pork, carrots, cabbage and beets, has become a staple at ski resorts like Mount Snow, Vermont.

WHEAT 'N' RAISIN CHOCOLATE CHIP COOKIES

- 1 1/2 cups firmly packed dark brown sugar
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 2 teaspoons pure vanilla extract
- 4 eggs
- 2 1/2 cups unbleached all-purpose flour
- 2 1/2 cups unbleached whole wheat flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons baking soda
- 2 tablespoons hot water
- 1 cup chopped nuts
- 1 cup raisins
- 1 pkg. (12 ozs.) chocolate bits

1. Preheat oven to 350°F.
2. Beat margarine in large bowl until soft. Gradually add sugars, beating until light and fluffy. Add vanilla.
3. Add eggs one at a time, beating well.
4. Blend both kinds of flour and salt on sheet of waxed paper. Gradually add flour mixture to sugar mixture, beating at low speed until well-mixed.
5. Dissolve baking soda in hot water and add to sugar-flour mixture.
6. Stir in nuts, raisins and chocolate bits.
7. Using 1 generous tablespoon of dough for each cookie, place on greased cookie sheet, flattening dough to a 2 1/2-inch circle.
8. Bake for 10 to 12 minutes. Allow to cool.

Makes 45 large cookies

What's Smart: There are two types of borscht, one that's served cold, the other hot. Our recipe, a version of the hot, makes a large amount and can be frozen. Borscht is excellent for serving after any cold-weather activity. You can also make it ahead and take it with you on a ski trip. Raisins, a good source of quick energy, are the official snack food of the U.S. Ski Team. Try some "Gorp" (Good Old Raisins and Peanuts)—just mix raisins with salted roasted peanuts.

How many times have you decided to give up smoking?

Nobody these days is telling you not to give up smoking.

But if you've given it up more times than you'd like to remember, the chances are you enjoy it too much to want to give it up at all.

If you're like a lot of smokers these days, it probably isn't smoking that you want to give up. It's some of that 'tar' and nicotine you've been hearing about.

So you tried cigarettes which were low in 'tar' and you found yourself checking every once in a while to see if they were still lit. Which drove you right back to your regular brand.

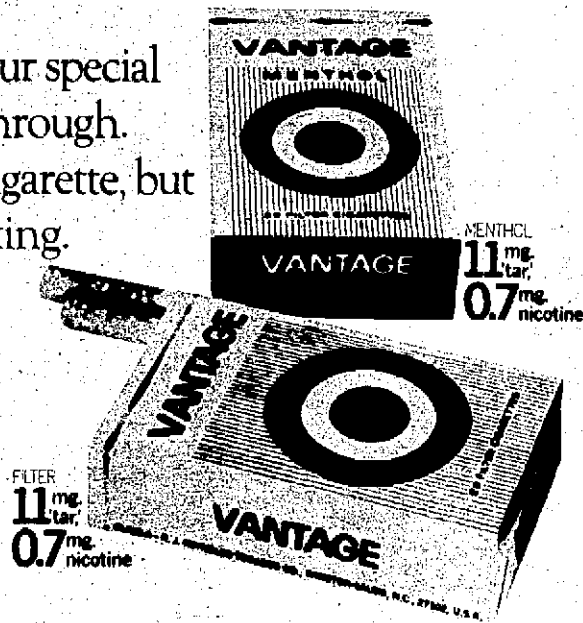

Now, there is Vantage.

Vantage cigarettes, either filter or menthol, deliver considerably less 'tar' and less nicotine than most cigarettes.

But what really makes Vantage special is our special filter which allows the tobacco flavor to come through.

Vantage isn't the lowest 'tar' and nicotine cigarette, but it may well be the lowest one you'll enjoy smoking.

And that's what makes all the difference.

Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined
That Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous to Your Health.

FILTER, MENTHOL: 11 mg. "tar", 0.7 mg. nicotine, av. per cigarette, FTC Report SEPT. '75.

Freddie Prinze

TV's Dazzling Ex-Bachelor on Fame, Wealth—And His Kathy

By Anita Summer

Last October, Freddie Prinze, 21, star of TV's "Chico and the Man," married Kathy Cochran, 21, at Caesars Palace in Las Vegas. They had met on March 20, 1975, in Jackson Hole, Wyo. It's a first marriage for both: Kathy, who isn't in show business, had been working in her parents' western art gallery.

FAMILY WEEKLY: How do you feel about relinquishing your title as "Hollywood's Most Eligible Bachelor"?

PRINZE: I've got no regrets. Mind you, at the beginning it was a barrel of fun. Then it got to be embarrassing because quite often I was paired off by the press with girls I'd never even met, let alone dated. Or else it was a casual thing with someone I'd known for years, or an innocent friendship (such as with Raquel Welch), and the papers reported it as a blazing romance. This was going on even while I was engaged to Kathy. She saw the joke and thought it was very funny—but I didn't. From the time we met to the time we got married, neither of us dated anyone else. So you can see how stupid and inaccurate those newspaper stories were.

FW: How did your fans take the news of your marriage?

PRINZE: They were surprised, and their outpouring of warmth and good wishes in turn took me by surprise. They've really been great!

FW: What does Kathy have that other girls don't? What drew you to her?

PRINZE: Her looks. Let's face it, first impressions are usually based on beauty (even though, as we all know, it's "only skin deep!"). She's gorgeous, and I was bowled over. After that, I was impressed by her class. She's not a dizzy dame. When she talks, it's not to hear the sound of her own voice—she has something to say.

FW: Do you think your marriage will survive the hazards of show business?

PRINZE: Yes, because when Kathy and I got married, we formed a "partnership." Any marriage that isn't is a "dictatorship." All decisions, whether they're important or trivial are made by both of us. The only exception to this rule is my career—that's in the hands of my manager. Although, I must say, Kathy comes up with some pretty interesting suggestions and good advice now and then.

Peter G. Borzari

FW: What kind of relationship do you have with Jack Albertson [who co-stars with Prinze in TV's "Chico and the Man"]?

PRINZE: The greatest. He's my show-business father. He's the biggest tease

As the family goes, so goes the nation—and the world. The kind of mature and responsible people who are needed to make a free society work are the kind who can only be produced by solid family life. All who are concerned for our future as a nation and a race, must do what they can to restore and preserve the family.

One step in this direction surely would be to encourage real communication among family members so that they strengthen their ties of love and respect rather than drift apart. Of course, communication is not the whole answer to family problems. But it is part of the answer. And a good place to start.

We have some very worthwhile advice on family communications. It is given in simple language in our pamphlet: "Person to Person." A free copy is yours for the asking. Mail the coupon below. No one will call.

and the funniest man I know. He's always telling people, "I taught Freddie all he knows. It took me exactly two minutes." When he saw me in Las Vegas, he said, "Freddie, I've seen your act twice. My advice is: save your money." Jack uses all the old jokes in the book, but when he says them, they sound new. To me, he's 20 years old. I hope I'm that way when I'm his age. In fact, he and Fred Astaire are the two classiest men I know. They're ageless!

FW: You must feel pretty good about your accomplishments...

PRINZE: Buying a home for my parents in the San Fernando Valley gave me the best feeling. Mom and Dad just retired there. The place has three bedrooms, a den, dining room, kitchen, laundry room, garage (for Dad-to putter in), patio, pool and an enormous garden with fruit trees.

FW: Which would you rather be—rich or famous?

PRINZE: Both! Rich because it gives you freedom of choice. When you're rich and they offer you $100,000 to play Vegas and the date coincides with your mother's birthday, you have the luxury of rejecting the engagement. You don't need the money. But I'm not obsessed with luxuries, really. My idea of pampering myself is buying all the records I want, going out to dinner (I hate to cook), and having lots of jeans (my trademarks are jeans and cream-colored shoes). As for the "famous" bit, that's simple. I like to see my name in lights. It's what I've always dreamed of. When somebody stops me for my autograph, I feel eight feet tall.

FW: How do you feel about public recognition?

PRINZE: It places a tremendous responsibility on the performer because he must be very careful about what he says. Your name and word mean something. Joe Citizen likes to listen to Joe Actor, but that can be dangerous if Joe Actor lacks tact or consideration. I don't like entertainers who jump on bandwagons for every cause in the world. With fame, you can do things for people that you can't do without it. But you can also hurt people. A cabbie could probably do just as good a job on a telephone as a celebrity, but unfortunately he never gets the chance to prove it.

FW: Tell us about your family.

PRINZE: Dad was a tool and dye maker, and put in a 12-hour day. Mom worked in a shoe factory. I don't know how she stood it. I worked there one summer, and after a few months, I knew there had to be a better life than that! My brother Eddie, 33, and sister Rita, 27, are both married and live in Puerto Rico with their families. I haven't seen Rita in three years. She doesn't want to leave Puerto Rico and I haven't been able to get down there. She reads about me in magazines and can't believe what she sees in print! "This is my brother!" she says in great disbelief. "He has no talent—except to steal from me." (That's because when I was young, I was always asking her for money.)

"My agent is God. When I have a big problem to solve or a major decision to make, I don't ask anyone for advice. I turn to the Bible for my answer."

FW: What kind of a person ate you?

PRINZE: A religious and emotional one. Right now I feel I have an angel on my shoulder. Although I have everything all the other stars do, my agent is God. When I have a big problem to solve or a major decision to make, I don't ask anyone for advice. I turn to the Bible for my answer, and I always find it there. I'm emotional and don't go along with the concept of "Be a man, don't cry." Why shouldn't men cry? They have feelings and emotions just as women do. I let it all out. When I came offstage from my Las Vegas debut, I cried. Between sobs I thought to myself in surprise, "They liked me! They really liked me!" Weeping was my way of letting it all out and expressing myself.

FW: Do you like to see yourself on TV?

PRINZE: No. In fact, I hate it. I see a pimple on my cheek, or I decide I should have said that line differently. Watching myself makes me feel inadequate and insecure.

FW: Who were your childhood heroes?

PRINZE: Clark Gable, Humphrey Bogart, John Garfield and Edward G. Robinson. I met the late Edward G. when I was seven. He came to my neighborhood to visit his brother who lived there. I was walking my dog. He got out of the car and I recognized him. I said, "Gee, you're Edward G. Robinson." He said yes. Then he did a little shick for me. That sort of thing makes a big impression on a kid. In fact, as I look back, I'm sure that's when I got seriously bitten by the show-business bug.

ours. So, we can't afford to put a man on a story with the possibility that it might bear no results. Actually, with Watergate, we assigned one of Jack Anderson's top assistants to investigate, but he came up with nothing.

FW: A great portion of every newscast is devoted to the Presidency. Might not this be the kind of dangerous policy that led to an "imperial" or "Watergate" type of Presidency?

BROKAW: Since the President is always America's best-known personality and single-most influential individual, the office necessarily commands extraordinary news coverage. There is a potential for abuse, but, as a correspondent assigned to the White House, I can assure you that we are constantly aware of the dangers of becoming little more than mirrors for the President to reflect the image of his choice.

CHANCELLOR: That so much news is generated from the White House is partly because of the historical trend toward more power in the executive branch and partly because Presidents are politicians and politicians like to get on the tube. So, to cover the news, we often have to get it from the President. A President could remedy this by giving more power to Cabinet and senior officials, but I think that's unlikely. History and a complacent Congress are shaping the imperial Presidency, and journalism can't do much about it.

NEWMAN: Yes, I think this is an extremely dangerous policy. I have argued for a long time that we build up unreal expectations about Presidents and so create disappointment in proportion. We inflate the Presidency—which misleads not only the people but the man holding office. If the nation is to be healthy, the White House cannot be the only source of hope and dynamism.

FW: What qualities are essential for a newscaster?

SMITH: Intellectualism is essential. George Hicks, one of the best correspondents of World War II, summed it up when he said, "Reporting war is comparable to sports reporting. It's easy. All you do is tell which side won that day. Peace requires a scholar." When the war was over, George Hicks retired.

BEUTEL: A good newscaster is essentially a gossip on a distinguished level. You have to be curious about everything. You have to have a big ego and plenty of guts. The best newscasters have been Renaissance men who are interested in every facet of every issue.

FW: In retrospect on your years of reporting and commenting on the news, do you have any regrets?

WALLACE: My only serious professional regret is that I wish I had understood more quickly the nature of the threat against the press by the Nixon White House. At the time, I thought I knew them and found it difficult to believe that they would try so hard to bring us down. I was wrong.

CHANCELLOR: As a White House correspondent in 1964, I was deeply concerned that Lyndon Johnson might be making fundamental mistakes concerning Vietnam. But I couldn't prove that, so I didn't say it. I wish now that I'd

"I was deeply concerned that Lyndon Johnson might be making fundamental mistakes on Vietnam. But I couldn't prove that, so I didn't say it. I wish now that I'd been able to make a provable case against our involvement."

—John Chancellor, NBC News

been able to make a provable case against our involvement.

SMITH: I have regrets after every nightly newscast. I wish that I could have gone into many more subjects at greater length and in greater depth. During my years as a foreign correspondent, I voiced one regrettable opinion—I said the Marshall Plan would never work. I was proved wrong, and I'm glad.

RATHER: I have a lot of regrets. I regret every mistake I ever made, and I've made a fair number of them. I regret the time I've spent away from my family. I regret having made enemies. All of these are things that go along with being a reporter.

FW: As we approach our Bicentennial, what looms as our greatest challenge?

SMITH: Our most immediate challenge is to end the recession and create two billion dollars in wealth. The world's greatest challenge is to curb the population boom.

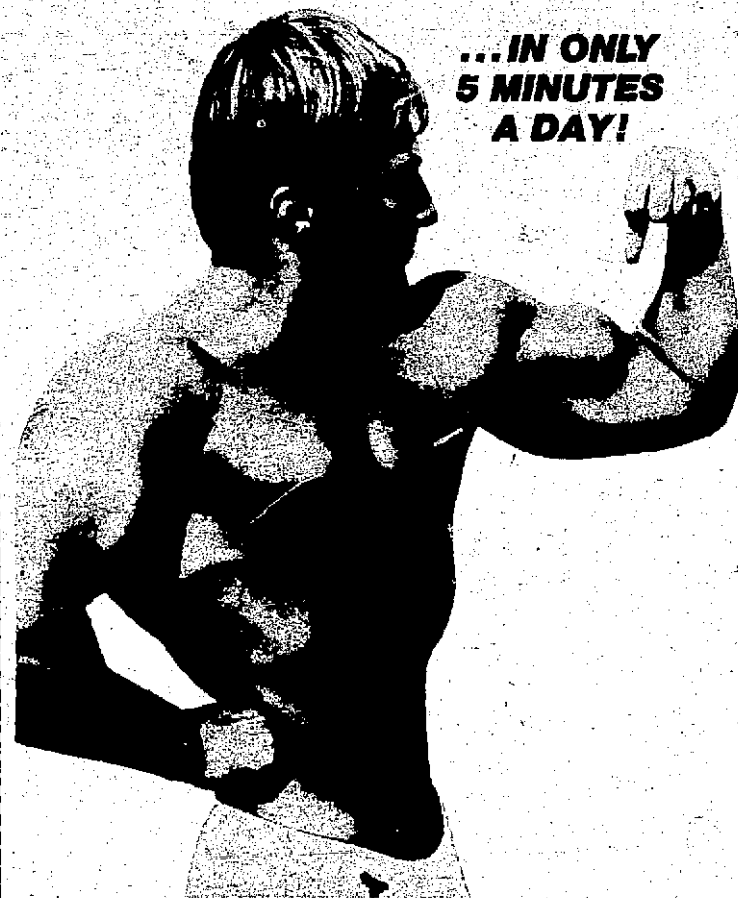

CHANCELLOR: To restore to the American people a sense of trust in their institutions and a sense of hope for the future.

WALLACE: To make more opportunities available to those Americans who are at the bottom of the economic heap.

BROKAW: As a journalist, I am most concerned about preserving the tradition of a free press which will report the truth about America no matter how harsh that truth might be.

SPIRO AGNEW
"Maybe we all misjudged him"

Rumors that Spiro Agnew is a changed man abound, so FAMILY WEEKLY went to his literary agent, for this brash word: "I was never a great fan of Agnew's politics. There was a time when, like many others, I thought he was an insidious character who should be removed from power. But to hear Agnew tell it—he never had any power. He claims he was bored while in office. Watergate softened our criticism of Agnew. He may have been a chameleon opportunist, but at least he wasn't a neo-Nazi like some others. Sure, he has regrets, but having missed both jail and the Presidency by an inch have added another dimension to the man. He was lucky that Nixon didn't trust him enough to give him more power, otherwise he really might have had problems. Today, he's enormously wealthy from recent international oil dealings in which he acts as agent. He's just finished one novel and plans to write one more before his memoirs, and he's led me to believe the latter won't be terribly complimentary toward Mr. Nixon. Agnew has developed a real presence. He's the only politician of recent years whom people run over to and whose hand they kiss in public. Maybe we all misjudged him. Maybe he had something special all along."

Scott Meredith

DOCTOR AND DOLPHIN
Man's best friend?

Docile, friendly and intelligent are the words most often used to describe man's favorite marine animal, the dolphin. David Taylor, who specializes in marine veterinary work, said: "A man gets spoiled treating dolphins. They're intelligent but kind. I think we're all attracted to dolphins for that reason—we wish our best friends could be like that." Through Naval research, we know that dolphins can communicate, and a new theory has been developed that dolphins can also read each other's minds.

TENNESSEE WILLIAMS
The endless Trapeze

The Pulitzer Prize-winning playwright on the ordeals of life and love: "A man must live through his life's duration with his own little set of fears and angers, suspicions and vanities, and his appetites both spiritual and carnal. Life is built of them, and he is built of Life. The umbilical cord is a long, long rope of blood that has swung him as an aerialist on an all but endless Trapeze. My goal has always been to capture the constantly evanescent quality of existence. But writing is a pursuit of a very elusive quarry, and you never quite catch it. Most of my life has been spent with intimate companions of a complex and difficult nature. It is only recently that I have learned how to accept the bargain by which I mean to treasure the lovely aspects of their natures and to stoically live through their abrasive humors." From "Memoirs," by Tennessee Williams (Doubleday, $8.95)

ARMOUR'S ARMOURY By Richard Armour

SOFT ON HARDWARE

I dearly love a hardware store,
It has such great variety.
I meet my friends there, more and more,
Both high and low society.

One seeks a hose, one wants some nails,
Another, paint or varnish.
One asks for stuff that never fails
At cleaning stains or tarnish.

The ware in hardware stores is hard
And also soft and medium.
I shop for things for house and yard,
Escape there, too, from tedium.

The teacher had asked her pupils who the nine greatest Americans were.
All the pupils had turned in their papers except Tommy.

"Can't you finish your list, Tommy?"
asked the teacher.

"I'm still undecided," replied
Tommy, "about the First Baseman."

Strong drink is a curse to mankind.
It makes you stagger when you walk.
It befogs the mind. It makes you argue

LITTLE EMILY

"It gets better in a minute! He freaks out, grabs her jewels and shoves

$54 each.

Or $1 each.

Would you like to own fine editions but hesitate because of their high cost?

Actually, there's no need to spend $50 or more for an elegantly-bound volume of Shakespeare, Kipling or Maupassant.

If you'd like to build a fine home library, we'll start you on your way by sending you the works of all three of these immortal writers in bindings you will cherish and your friends will envy.

We'll send you everything Shakespeare ever wrote in a beautiful 1300-page volume. All his comedies, tragedies, historical plays. All his poems and sonnets.

And a matched volume containing the works of Kipling. Actually eight books in one. A complete novel and 139 stories, ballads and verses loved the world over, including Mandalay, Gunga Din, The Phantom Rickshaw, and others.

Plus a third volume: the works of de Maupassant. His short stories, complete and unexpurgated. 128 polished gems by the man who made the short story (and especially the surprise ending) an art.

You can have all three deluxe volumes for only $1 each. Simply as an introduction to our Golden Giants of Literature Series.

As they become available, we'll also offer you other books in the Series. The novels and stories of Victor Hugo. The poems of Byron. Ibsen's daring plays. The works of Tolstoi, Poe, Swift, Cellini, Wilde, Browning, Longfellow, Emerson, Dostoevsky and others.

Each volume is clothed in our deluxe antique ecru binding that has the look and feel of a fine leather binding costing over $50—except that it stands up to time far better. Each volume is richly tooled in colors of red and gold, with gilded page tops and a red silk ribbon to mark your place.

Because we print in large quantities and distribute direct to the public, you can add future volumes in the series to your library for just $5.59 each (plus postage and handling).

You don't have to take every volume. You may reject any volume before, or even after you receive it. Select only those you really want. Soon they'll build up into a library you'll be proud to own, a library you and your family will turn to again and again.

Send no money now. Just mail the coupon to get Shakespeare, Kipling and de Maupassant for only $1 each. And discover how affordable fine editions can be. Black's Readers Service, Roslyn, New York 11576.
